

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL MARKET STILL PROFESSIONAL BULLS AND BEARS ABOUT EVENLY DIVIDED AS TO THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

New York, Aug. 19.—Briefly summarized, today's stock market was dull, narrow and meagerly traded. Trading was very much curtailed and it required but a cursory glance at the list of buyers and sellers to make clear the professional character of the day's operations. In its technical nature the market continued to hold its strength. The speculative element is about evenly divided as to the market's immediate future, but disinterested observers generally believe the tendency is still toward the improvement of the market in the near future. The approach of elections in Vermont and Maine are calculated to give the market a political twist before the market closes. In those states are most often regarded as "straws" in a presidential year.

The increasing strength of the Harrison issues is ascribed to further developments of the annual reports of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific recently established wherein it was manifested that both systems have made material reductions in operating expenses despite the taxes imposed which in the case of the Southern Pacific seemed well high on one side. A similar showing is made in the Baltimore & Ohio road in its July statement which is a notable improvement over some previous months, expenses being reduced by about $1,200,000. For the month of July the road operated at a cost of 64.4 per cent as against 67.25 last year.

New York Central was again a weak feature, with a revival of reduced dividend talk. The local traction shares were distinctly heavy, a condition directly traceable to many quarters, especially where a deficit of over $1,000,000 reported by the receivers of the ten months ending June 30 last. The metal stocks were pressed for sale frequently during the day, American Smelting being heavily sold by an operator recently identified with its advance. Belief that the movement in smelting and Amalgamated Copper has been somewhat overdone prevails in many quarters. As a result, trade conditions have taken a less favorable turn with three distinct reductions in the price of copper metal. United States Steel shares were relatively heavy. Advances from the leading industrial concerns indicate a further material operations, but with better prospects for movements. There was little change in the stock market during the late session until the final hour when a concerted bear attack caused a very general shading of prices and heavy close. New York Ceres values of the principal metal futures a net loss of 3 1/2 points. There was sympathetic weakness in all the active issues and net losses for the day were the most invariable rule. There was some selling of the Harrison issues abroad, but this followed by purchases on the decline. The only feature of the day was the market was offering on call loans at 3 1/2 per cent. The general tone was easier on large offerings.

Railroad bonds were heavy in sympathy with the stock list. Total sales, par value, $2,408,000. Government bonds held steady.
