NEW RULE FOR SMALL BUTCHER

Pure Food Bureau Decides to Adopt Part of Federal Measure.

Members of the state pure food bureau held their monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, at the office of Willard Hansen, state food and dairy commissioner, in the Dooly block. The board decided to adopt portions of United States regulation No. 10, relating to sanitation in slaughterhouses, these sections applying to small country slaughter houses.

The rules provide among other things that the hide houses, floors and other portions of the slaughter houses shall be kept clean.

The bureau members have decided that proper notice of the requirements of the law shall be given to the proprietors of small slaughter houses. One of the places visited by State Chemist Herman Harms while he was on other business, was Yernal, where no inspection had been made recently. It has been decided by the commissioner with the local health officers, who will be notified to look after conditions between the visits of the state inspector, lack of funds making it impossible to make frequent trips to many districts.

The matter of having the manufacturer's name placed on all food products also came in for some discussion. The commissioner will look further into the provisions of the United States law to see if it can be extended to cigars, coffees and other articles in bulk.

The short weight question also was before the board. An opinion has been received from some flour manufacturers that there is not such great shrinkage in flour as has been stated. The commissioner was authorized to buy a few sacks of flour of various kinds, including several eastern brands and place them in storage, weighing them every month for about six months, to see if there is any material shrinkage.

Rules providing for the proper screening of meats and produce in the markets are to be strictly enforced.

GOULD KEEPS HIS ROADS

Railroad Official Deduces Conclusion From Recent Harriman Lines Elections.

"George Gould and his own coterie of capitalists are in supreme control of the Denver & Rio Grande, the Missouri Pacific, the Wabash, the Western Pacific and the other roads known as the Gould lines," said a railroad official yesterday.

"That was shown by the election of the Harriman lines held in Salt Lake recently. Whether Gould would still have been in control if E. H. Harriman had lived is an entirely different matter," continued the railroad man.

"In many quarters the surmise was circulated that some Gould line stockholders would be put on the Harriman directorate, and if the Harriman lines had controlled the Gould lines or were in a fair way to do so, they surely would have to give the Gould stockholders some representation. Among the directors elected there is no large holder of Gould stock."

"When the Western Pacific gets under full headway I believe the people of the west will be treated to real competition, which is something they have never had heretofore. I would not be surprised to see an entire revision of freight and passenger rates within one year from the present time," concluded the official.

WANTS TO CANCEL HER CONTRACT FOR HOUSE

Claiming that she was induced by false representations to purchase a house and lot from Glen R. Bothwell for $15,000, Ellen Stewardson and husband, Thomas, yesterday filed suit in the district court for the return of the first payment of $500, and for cancellation of contract.

Mrs. Stewardson says Sept. 2, 1909, she agreed to purchase the property for $15,000, $500 to be paid to bind the contract, $2,500 to be paid before Sept. 15. A mortgage for $12,000 secured the balance.

After paying the $500 she says she learned that the house was settling, the walls were cracked and repairs needed.

REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE BONDS INVESTMENTS FIRE INSURANCE RENTALS

Real Estate Won't Burn, But How About the Buildings On It?
WE REPRESENT

The Williamsburg Insurance Company
WHO PAID LAST YEAR IN LOSSES$735,294.00
Which represents over half of premiums on insurance written during year.

The Spring Garden Insurance Company
WHO PAID LAST YEAR IN LOSSES$993,348.00
Only $6,652.00 less than a million dollars, or 55 per cent of premiums charged insured.

The assets of these two companies are $6,383,172, and the definition of that amount, "according to Webster," is ABSOLUTE PROTECTION.

Sugar House ward had a $100,000 fire. Some of the "burned out" had insurance—most of them had not. AND WHY? An insurance solicitor hadn't seen them.

Have you ever inquired what insurance costs? Do you realize that you can get $2,000 insurance on a brick house—for 3 years—for $14! Just figure this out, 38c per month will give you $2,000 protection for 36 months—on your house or furniture.

For a little more we can insure your store, fixtures, merchandise, barn, horses, etc. You need lose nothing by way of fire. It is your own fault if you do.

A short time ago we talked insurance to a client of ours. "My building has been there for 16 years—I never had insurance—I can afford to lose now, for the premiums I would have paid would amount to a small fire." However, this man—his name was A. Wise—just took out "a thousand." April 26th of this year, our good man had a fire. The insurance company paid him $613, and this covered a new floor in the building, newly decorated wall, new paint—in fact, a new store room, and all for about $12.

Call us up on either phone, "No 72." Tell us how much you need and ask for cost. We will surprise you.

The time for losing by fire has gone. The time for purchasing absolute protection is here. And the cost is nothing, comparatively.
