

JAMES D. MURDOCH'S DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

I will to the best of my ability safeguard the interest of the people in so far as I am able with the assistance of the council and the heads of departments. There will be equal rights extended to all and special privileges to none.

I will endeavor to bring about competition in all classes of public contracts, and beg to assure all bidders that they will receive fair and courteous treatment at my hands.

I favor public improvements of all kinds that will add to the comfort and improvement of this community. Every family in this city is justly entitled to a liberal supply of pure water. Cement sidewalks should and must be extended wherever the people desire them and are willing to furnish the money to pay the cost of constructing the same.

Sewers should and must be extended in all directions, and connections to same enforced, in order that the public health may not suffer, and the ever-recurring periods when contagious diseases prevail in our fair city may be eliminated as far as possible.

I favor street paving wherever the abutters on the streets to be paved shall petition the city council to have the improvements made, in so far as the city is able to pay for its share of the improvements made.

I favor and will constantly endeavor to limit contracts, in size and extent, in order that the man or men with limited capital may have the opportunity to get their share of all public work and on all large jobs to so divide the work that parties equipped with tools and machinery to perform part of the work may come in competition with those who are prepared to do all the labor and furnish all the material to complete the same.

I cordially recommend the proposition now under consideration by the school board of this city, to build and equip a magnificent High school building that will be in harmony with the many grand school buildings we now possess, and be a source of delight and admiration to all friends of education at home as well as the admiration of all our visitors from abroad, and will gladly vote for bonds to build the same.

I condemn the methods heretofore in vogue of the party in power taking the initiative in inaugurating improvements without the knowledge and consent of property owners along the line of the proposed improvement and carried out with the purpose in view of furnishing favored contractors with large jobs at exorbitant prices, to the great injury of the taxpayers of Salt Lake.

I will extend the same courtesies to the man in overalls as I will to those of our citizens who may be better equipped with the necessities and the luxuries of everyday life, remembering always that I, too, have been a workman, and proud to acknowledge it.

I firmly believe that public office is a public trust, and the acts of public men are fit subjects for public criticism. Public officers are the servants of the people, and as such are responsible only to the people.

The Government Inspectors

Every process in the making of the Standard Rye Whiskey of America, from the grain to the bottle, including the bottle itself, is inspected by Government officials—not once, but constantly. Ever since the Bottled in Bond law went into effect the Government has been in active supervision over

JOSEPH H. GRANT SAVES BOY'S LIFE

President of Bountiful Stake Risks Death, but Averts Imminent Tragedy.

Joseph H. Grant of Bountiful, who is president of Davis stake, saved a young boy from being crushed to death by a Salt Lake & Ogden railway train at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mr. Grant had been in Ogden as a witness before the Interstate commerce commission and returned as far as Kaysville on the Oregon Short Line train leaving Ogden at 1:15 p. m., and had stopped at Kaysville to visit his son, Dr. Grant. At 3 o'clock the Salt Lake & Ogden train from Ogden had pulled into its depot at Kaysville, and was waiting for the northbound passenger to pass.

A lad about 10 years old was standing on the main track watching the train that had pulled in on the siding, all unconscious of the fact that the northbound train was coming toward him at a lively clip, and that he evidently was unnoticed by the engineer.

Passengers on the southbound train and a number of people in the vicinity had seen the boy and expected him to move out of the way, but he failed to do so until too late to reach him. Just at that moment Mr. Grant came up to board the train and saw the boy in the path of the engine. When he saw the child's predicament he caught the youngster and pulled him off the track at imminent risk of his own life, just as the locomotive crashed by, crushing the clothing of the two and causing them almost to fall to the ground with the force of the current of air.

The spectators were greatly relieved at being saved the necessity of witnessing what appeared for the moment to be an inevitable and horrible accident, for in another instant the boy would have been ground beneath the wheels of the locomotive. As it was, the realization of his great danger and narrow escape came so suddenly upon the little fellow that he was so badly frightened as to be unable to tell his name.

Mr. Grant gently patted the frightened child on the head, spoke a few reassuring words to calm him, then mounted the steps of the car, and both trains pulled out of the station, with everybody feeling a whole lot better than time ago. Mr. Grant had been unable to make the timely rescue which his prompt and courageous action enabled him to do.

Have you tried the thirty day test of Quaker Scotch Oats in your family?

November is a good month to try it—just 30 days. Eat Quaker Scotch Oats at least once a day for thirty days, cut out greasy foods in proportion and watch the results in the way you feel.

You'll be astonished! Quaker Scotch Oats is the greatest of all building foods. It's a food for 365 days in the year.

Costs almost nothing.

OREGON SHORT LINE IS MAKING EXPERIMENTS

Telephones Are Being Tried for the Transmission of Train Orders in Utah and Idaho.

The Oregon Short Line is conducting experiments in Utah and Idaho with telephones to transmit train orders. The telephone is equipped with a device which makes it impossible for any one station to communicate with the other without calling up headquarter dispatchers first. Since, when talking to one station, can cut off all the other stations off the line.

Since the eight-hour board in effect for telegraph operators, it has been difficult to get enough competent telegraphers, and telephone experiments are being made with the view of lessening the work on the telegraph wires.

The Santa Fe system has installed telephones on two divisions and is using them for dispatching. Every train is equipped with an emergency apparatus by which telephonic connection may be established from any point along the line in five minutes time.

The Denver & Rio Grande for several years has maintained telephones at short distances in the mountains, but they are used only for emergencies. Telegraphers generally believe the use of phones will add to mistakes in orders. They say it is a great deal harder to hear the tones of a human voice than it is the Morse signals, and point out that a word misunderstood by the receiving operator is likely to be misunderstood by the sender when it is repeated, whereas in telegraph such an error is at once apparent.

WEATHER PROPHET'S BIG STORM SKIPS SALT LAKE

Storm conditions predicted to reach this vicinity today from the Pacific coast now prevail over the northwest and northern territory. Rain and blustering weather is reported from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and parts of Wyoming. Northern portions of Utah are included in the storm belt, but Salt Lake and the southern half of the state will escape. Partly cloudy skies and cooler temperatures are predicted for this locality today.

The long range forecast of the weather bureau, telling of a storm of immense proportions brewing on the Pacific and coming the probable time of its appearance in various sections of the United States, was accurate in most details. The sudden development of an area of high barometric pressure served to push the storm center farther north, placing Utah south of its path.

IMPERIALES CIGARETTES

It is surprising that a cigarette so inexpensive as Imperiales should have the largest sale at the very clubs, hotels and on the trains where men of means most congregate. At least it's surprising until you try an Imperiales and find out for yourself how peculiarly rich, smooth and satisfying a smoke it is.

The paper is the thinnest mair—crimped, not pasted—and each cigarette has an individual cooling mouthpiece.
