

PANGUITCH SCHOOL BELONGS TO STATE

Government Turns Property Over to Utah to Look After.

Utah now owns the Panguitch school for Indians. In a letter from the department of the interior at Washington, received by Governor William Spry yesterday, the land is formally turned over to the state and a deed to the property will be given to the state within a short time.

The Panguitch school is near the town of Panguitch, Garfield county, and has been the only Indian school in that section of the state for years. In 1869, 150.33 acres were deeded to the government by William Cameron, and on the property the government erected a school building and several smaller structures. These are given to Utah with the property.

It was through the influence of Senator Reed Smoot that the land was turned over to the state. The transfer was made through an act of congress on March 5, 1909. Some time ago Governor Spry was notified that the property would be turned over to the state as soon as he filed his acceptance of the terms of the transfer. This was done, and the government has now yielded the land to Utah through the letter received yesterday, and by the deed which will be made out later.

Walter Runke has been in charge of the school for several years, but wrote to the governor some time ago that he would be ready to turn over the school and the property at any time to a successor who has been appointed and will soon take charge. The school has been open to Indians and whites alike, and a few white children have been sent there. During the past the Indian attendance has varied from fifteen to thirty, the scholars coming and going at intervals during the school year. Besides being a teacher in the school, Runke has been the government Indian agent.

It is probable the school will be turned over to A. C. Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, and will be conducted under this department of the state. The only requirement made by the government in yielding the land to the state is that Indian children be allowed the same privileges in the school as are the whites—in regard to charges for attendance and in the schooling.

BRINGING INSPECTORS TO TEST DAIRY CATTLE

An increased force of inspectors will be needed in Utah to make the tuberculosis test of all the dairy and breeding cattle in the state. Dr. F. E. Murray of the bureau of animal industry, which is to cooperate with the state board of health, in making the test, has estimated that a week to ascertain how many inspectors can be spared there. It is likely that sheep inspectors in Utah will take up the work among the cattle as fast as they finish present tasks.

It is thought that the work in this state will take about a year. It will be the most effective blow yet struck against consumption. Inspectors will also score each dairy as they make the test, under the government system of scoring dairies. Dairies do not come up to the required standard, as to sanitation and other features, the owner will be prevented from selling milk. The dairies in the neighborhood of Salt Lake will be taken up first.

In cases where diseases are discovered, the animals will be slaughtered or placed under quarantine, to be held for a future test.

RAIL HEARINGS AGAINST HARRIMAN

Interstate Commerce Commissioners and Railroad Attorneys Present.

Four members of the interstate commerce commission will be in Salt Lake today to listen to the arguments in the freight rate case brought by the traffic bureau of the Commercial club of this city against the Harriman lines and other railroad systems concerned in the shipment of freight to Utah points. Commissioners Edgar E. Clark of Iowa and Judson C. Clements of Georgia arrived in the city Thursday morning from the west, while Commissioner C. A. Prouty of Vermont, who was here with Commissioner Clark for the hearing of the testimony recently, came to Salt Lake last night, after stopping off at Ogden for the hearing in the passenger case Thursday.

Commissioner Franklin K. Lane of California, who was one of the members at the Reno hearing, had to return to San Francisco after the Nevada hearing, and it was said Thursday that he would arrive here from the west this morning. Most of the railroad attorneys who will be at the argument today had arrived in the city last night. Judge P. C. Dillard of Chicago, interstate commerce counsel for the Harriman lines, arrived here during the day from the west and registered at the Knutsford, being accompanied by Mrs. Dillard, J. T. Wilcox of Chicago was another member of the railroad party. Judge Dillard will argue the case for the Harriman roads, and it is possible that one or two attorneys for other roads will take part.

Judge C. C. Dey of this city, who handled the case for the traffic bureau, will argue the case for the bureau, and S. T. Babcock of Chicago was another member of the bureau party. Judge Dillard will argue the case for the Harriman roads, and it is possible that one or two attorneys for other roads will take part.

COMMITTEE APPROVES PLAN FOR BIG CANAL

Improvement to Cost About $126,989 Is Contemplated in Report of City Engineer.

Improvements which will cost approximately $126,989 are proposed in the enlargement and strengthening of the East Jordan canal, as shown by an estimate of the cost prepared by City Engineer George O. Chaney and submitted to the committee on waterworks at the meeting of this committee last night. The committee approved the plan and the work done by the special attorneys for the city on the water cases, putting the matter up to the city council at its next meeting on Nov. 8. The city's intent in condemning land for the improvement will be taken before the court and will furnish the chief arguments in the condemnation proceedings.

With the enlargement and extension of the East Jordan canal from the Jordan dam to the old Jordan and Salt Lake canals, known as the city canal, fifty-seven bridges will be constructed on the fifty-two miles of county roads and five on private highways. The county roads will be regular standard bridges, and those on the highways will be smaller in size. The plans contemplate the enlargement of the East Jordan canal from the Jordan Narrows in the river to Willow Creek, a distance of 42,000 feet. The canal will be 200 feet wide at the bottom and six feet deep. At the Willow Creek point much of the water of the canal is distributed by those with own connections of interest in the canal. Salt Lake owns only a fifth part, and this part will continue on past the first important distributing point.

From Willow Creek to Little Cottonwood canyon, a distance of 22,000 feet, the canal will be made fourteen feet wide and four and a half feet deep. The project is the extension of the canal to the Little Cottonwood canyon and run probably as far as Mill Creek.

Plans for the water suits now in court, which have been in litigation for several years, there will probably be nothing more on the matter for a year or more. The city is now bringing condemnation suits against owners of land along the canal, and the city estimates that $100 an acre will have to be paid for the land.

WEATHER BUREAU WILL MEASURE THE SNOWFALL

A. H. Thiessen, section director of the local weather bureau, is now endeavoring to publish a complete climatological history of Utah with special reference to the needs of the irrigation engineer, the dry farm interests and the general agriculturist. The history will be published in two volumes, one dealing with the country with the Wasatch range and the other with the western slope.

A feature to be added to the working of the local weather bureau this winter will be the establishing of stations in the mountains for the recording of snowfall, thus being able to measure the probable conditions for irrigation.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAIR HEALTH

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to someone else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your hair. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hat band is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that affords so effective relief, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to lighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay nothing for the trial. It does not dry the scalp, and complete satisfaction in every particular is guaranteed. The price is $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Salt Lake City only at our stores: The Rexall Store, Smith Drug Co., Inc., "The Busy Corner," Smith Drug Co. No. 2, 106 South Main street, and Druehl & Franklin, 271 South Main street.

It is a sign of a weak system, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, sometimes black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, vertigo, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking and unrefreshing sleep. The cause of the trouble may be some drain on the system or it may be mental or physical overwork, sometimes insufficient nutrition due to digestive disturbance.
