

SAYS NAMES WERE LEFT OFF LISTS

Citizens Tell Councilmen That Protestants Against Sewer Were Squelched.

DALY REVERSES DININNY

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY CONTRADICTS PRINCIPAL'S OPINION.

That names of protestants to sewer extension 220 to the extent of at least 20,000 feet were left off the list by the city engineer's office, was the charge made last night before the engineering committee of the city council, by property owners in the southwestern part of the city who do not care to pay $2.25 a linear foot for the proposed sewer. The proposed extension will cost property owners something in the neighborhood of $175,000.

There were hundreds of names attached to the original protest, which was finally sent to the city engineer for checking. That was when L. C. Kelsey was city engineer, and the present official, George O. Chaney, wanted to understand last night that he had nothing to do with the proposition. Former City Engineer Kelsey reported back to the council that of the 75,000 feet in the proposed extension, the protestants represented only about 25,000 feet, whereas 45,000 were needed to defeat the extension.

Upon hearing of this report, there was objection on the west side, and the council, after passing the matter, rescinded its action and kept the whole business before the engineering committee. Last night this committee had it out with several property owners who have investigated the matter, with the result that the protests were sent back to the city engineer's office and the city attorney for rechecking and for a report. The property owners claim their protests represent about 55,000 feet of the 75,000, or 73.3 per cent, and it is the excess of the two-thirds figure fixed by statute, and that through poor addition and other oversights in the engineer's office, 20,000 feet had been thrown out which should have been counted.

During the discussion an argument arose as to the city engineer's duties. City Attorney H. J. Dininny had told the committee and the engineer that if names signed to the protest were not the same as appeared upon the maps in the county recorder's office, then they should be thrown out. But P. J. Daly, assistant city engineer, was on hand last night and had another view of the matter. He said that the mere fact that the names on the protest did not correspond to the names on the recorder's map did not mean that they should be thrown out, but that the city engineer should merely report the matter to the city council and have the council take action.

Says Opinions Conflict.

"That's exactly the opposite of what the city attorney advises us," said Councilman Mark Reddall.

"But I don't give a — look here, we may differ on this matter, but I am telling you the law," retorted the assistant city attorney, hotly. "You cannot throw them out simply because the first names are not the same as on the recorder's books. If the city council wishes to take that action, all well and good. But the city engineer cannot do it."

There was more argument pro and con than has been heard in the council chamber for many a night, and it all ended up where it started. The report of the city engineer will probably be an amusing and very elucidating document when it is brought before the council. Meanwhile, there will be no work done on the sewer.

The public grounds committee adopted the resolution of Councilman T. R. Black, introduced several months ago, for the city recorder to advertise for sale at public auction all of the city land on North State street above First North, and all the city property on West Canyon road.

The outline agreement between the forestry department and the city was up before the municipal laws committee, and was referred to the city attorney to take up with the forestry officials at Ogden. This is in regard to converting many acres of city land in City Creek and Parley's canyon watersheds into forest reserves for the purpose of conserving the city's water supply.

The laws committee also looked over the letter from United States Marshal James H. Anderson calling the attention of the city to the fact that the city could not collect the $1,357.56 for paving in front of the federal building, as this claim cannot be held against the government. The letter was filed and the city will likely put in a claim later to the United States asking for this paving money.

The old franchise of the Salt Lake & Suburban Railway company, which expired in 1903, was taken up and the franchise revoked. The street supervisor was instructed to inform the company of this action and have them remove the poles which were erected on Second East street to Ninth South for the purpose of building an electric line six years ago, but which never materialized.

Property owners in districts served by sewer extensions 172, 182 and 185 will not have to pay interest for the last year and a half. This action was taken on the letter from Gideon Snyder telling the council that many of the property owners refused to pay the interest, because the sewers were not completed, and asking what he should do. The municipal laws committee took the position that the city could not collect this interest, and so reported. The city will have to pay the interest on the scrip given to the contractor for the work, and will lose all of this interest, amounting to several thousand dollars, the result of the laxity in completing the laterals into the intercepting sewer.

FLORENCE RESIGNS FROM MANAGEMENT

Local Theatrical Man Still Retains Interest in the Playhouse.

Max Florence, who was recently elected general manager of the new Shubert theatre, has found it necessary to resign this office, owing to the fact that his many other interests require all of his time. He still retains his stock, however, and remains president of the company, but a successor will be named in the near future, who will assume the actual management of the theatre, thus enabling Mr. Florence to devote his time exclusively to his interests in the motion picture field. He has arranged his affairs, however, so that he can remain in active charge of the extensive repair work which the remodeling of the theatre has made necessary.

Mr. Florence, who is popularly known throughout the western territory as the "Motion Picture King," has done much to place the moving picture business on a legitimate basis, and his incessant work in this direction has contributed largely to the present popularity of this most interesting form of entertainment, locally. Other progressive theatre owners have been induced to follow his lead, and more than one prosperous manager can directly trace his success to Mr. Florence's suggestions and assistance.

In addition to being president and manager of the company which owns the Luna, Isis and Elite theatres in this city, Mr. Florence is president and manager of the Trent & Wilson Film Exchange, one of the largest and most progressive film rental concerns in the United States. This company supplies all of the machines, film and song slide service, repair parts and supplies to 35 motion picture theatres throughout the intermountain country.

In order to procure options on all of the latest improvements in projecting machines, films, song slide effects and miscellaneous accessories, and other important concessions, from the leading manufacturers in this line of business, Mr. Florence will be compelled to leave soon for an extended trip throughout the east. The latest purchases at the present time over $1,400 worth of new film weekly, and this amount will be greatly increased in the near future if the present plans are carried out.

Mr. Florence will endeavor while away to procure a license from the Motion Picture Patents company of New York City, the company which owns and controls all of the patent rights on motion picture cameras. If the company grants the license, a manufacturing plant, complete in every detail, will be erected and equipped, and regular motion picture productions will be released from Salt Lake which will compare favorably with the products of the present manufacturers.

ICE TRUST CASE.

Special Prosecutor Osborne Makes Emphatic Observation.

New York, Nov. 11.—"I want to show that the American Ice company so tightened its grip on the ice market that even if this man towed an iceberg into New York harbor he wouldn't get a chance to sell a pound," declared Special Prosecutor James W. Osborne in court today. He was answering an objection by counsel for the American Ice company to his line of questioning a witness at the company's trial for alleged violation of the state anti-monopoly law.

Charles H. Seward of Bangor, Maine, an independent dealer, testified that since 1898 he had been unable to get a "look in" at the New York market.

MORTENSEN BANQUET

Apollo Lodge, Danish Brotherhood, Holds Appropriate Ceremonies in I. O. O. F. Hall.

"Mortensen," literally, "The Feast of Martin," one of the principal holidays in the Scandinavian calendar, was fittingly celebrated by the members of Apollo lodge of the local Danish Brotherhood and their friends last night in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Preceding the banquet, which, with its elaborate menu and happy toasts, was the feature of the evening, a short program of musical and recitation numbers was given. Miss Annie Gotberg charmed the guests with a piano solo, and Miss Minerva Jensen recited in effective manner James Whitcomb Riley's "An Old Sweetheart of Mine."

Dr. A. N. Hansen acted as chairman of the evening and toastmaster. Those responding to toasts were: Willard Hansen, who gave the welcome; Parley P. Jensen, to "America"; A. B. Villadsen, to "Denmark," and Thorwald Orlieb, to "Kristen," or "The Women."

The reception committee was composed of Julius Hansen, chairman; Chris Petersen, Sophus H. Lund, Willard Hansen, Axel Jorgensen and A. B. Villadsen. The observance of Mortensen has its origin in two events. The day was first given over to the celebration of the birthday of Martin Luther, this holiday at first being confined mainly to the northern part of Scandinavia. The southern sections took the same day for celebrating the anniversary of Charles Martell's victory over the Moors at Tours, France, in 732, the occasion when the Mohammedans were driven across the Pyrenees into Spain. Gradually the two observances merged into one, and now the day is celebrated as Mortensen, not with a strict religious view of the day, as might befit Luther, but rather as celebrating the victory of freedom over tyranny.
