

NEW THEATRE ON UP-TO-DATE LINES

New opera house recently opened at Springville.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Springville, Dec. 18.—The opera house at this place, opened a few days ago with a company including several Salt Lake stars, is probably the finest of its kind in any small city in the state.

The house has a capacity of 800 people, 500 seats being on the first floor and 300 on a balcony. There are four boxes, each of which will accommodate six persons. The stage is 60x33 feet in size and has a heavy asbestos curtain. The scenery is hung in the most convenient manner possible for manipulation. Three colors of light are provided—red, white and blue—under the control of one switchboard. The dressing rooms of the new theatre have been built on the sides of the building, so as not to take any of the stage space. The basement is fitted up as a dancing hall with a modern coil spring floor 60x30 feet, and has a gallery for spectators with a seating capacity of 200. The cost of the building by the time it is completed and furnished is expected to reach $30,000.

PLANS FOR HOMES ARE WORKING OUT

Federal Heights Owners Looking Forward to an Early Building Season.

The recent cold snap has put a stop to most of the building operations of the city that were not far enough along to permit the undertaking of inside work, and the work being done in Federal Heights has been no exception. The homes of A. V. Callaghan and H. J. Wallace, however, have both been closed in and with the plastering finished and interior woodwork being placed, it has been possible to continue operations in spite of the low temperature.

Completion of plans for a new home for K. L. Edwards by Architect Cahoon has been announced, and it is stated that the new structure will be started as soon as the weather permits. Architect G. W. Eldredge has in mind plans for a handsome bungalow to occupy his lots, and it is probable that other owners will start operations in the heights with the coming of spring. G. B. Lockhart announced last week that Architect Lepper had plans ready for his new house.

The Eldredge property includes three lots facing on Sigbee avenue, with frontage of seventy-five feet. The property adjoins the location of H. W. Throckmorton on the southwest and is regarded by many people as the most attractive location in the heights. Mr. Eldredge is also considering plans for a number of other new structures in the heights.

The starting of work on the new home of R. L. Edwards will open a section of the heights which has not been exploited to any great extent as yet. The property is located at the intersection of Federal way and Wolcott avenue and has a frontage of 127 feet on the avenue, with about forty-seven feet on Federal way. The only other residence in the southeast corner of the heights is that of H. S. Stowe, which was among the first to be erected.

The announcement that all unsold building lots in Federal Heights would be increased in price after the first of the coming year has attracted considerable attention from people who had been considering the purchase of home sites, and Manager Wrench has been besieged with inquiries as to just what will be done after January 1. It is pointed out, however, that with more than one-third of the addition sold out, with the roads and parkways turned over to the city, and in view of the apparent disposition of holders of residence property in other parts of the city to increase prices, an adjustment to the new conditions should be made at once.

THREE OFFICES RAISED TO PRESIDENTIAL RANK

Send Name and Address Today --- You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, falling memory and lame back, brought on by excessive unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and strength, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary, sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it. It comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest acting remedy for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. H. Robinson, 371 Lack Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain, ordinary envelope, free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $5.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

UNABLE TO SECURE NECESSARY MONEY

Army of Consumptives in This Country Too Poor to Obtain Treatment.

Sixteen states and territories of the United States provide no place where the poor consumptive can be treated, except in jails and insane asylums. This statement, together with another, to the effect that not one in thirty of the victims of consumption who want to get in hospitals can find a place there, a fact which will mean a loss to the country of $1,750,000, is made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in a bulletin issued today.

The national association states that there are in the United States at least 300,000 consumptives who are so poor that they cannot pay for proper medical treatment in tuberculosis sanatoriums and hospitals. Some of them can pay small amounts a week for their maintenance, but the great majority of them cannot pay anything. For this large class of patients, the entire country has provided only 100 beds for the free treatment of tuberculosis. In Alabama, Arkansas, Idaho, Kansas, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Philippine Islands, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming there is no place where the consumptive without means can be treated but in jails or insane asylums, and in most cases he will get no treatment there.

Sixteen other states provide less than fifty beds each for poor consumptives. In only two states, Massachusetts and New York, have beds for needy tuberculosis patients been provided, so that at least one in ten may find a place for treatment. In many of the other states, not one in fifty of the destitute consumptives can find a bed in a hospital or sanatorium. It costs on an average about $20 to cure an incipient consumptive or to care for an advanced case until death. If he is left in destitute circumstances, without proper attention, he will surely infect with his disease at least two other persons, and possibly more. Considering that the average life is worth to society in dollars and cents about $1,500, the net loss which would accrue to a community by not treating its poor consumptives in proper institutions would be for each case, including those who are unnecessarily infected, at the very lowest figure $4,250. On this basis, if the poor consumptives in the United States who are now sick were segregated from their families and either kept in institutions until they died, or else cured of their disease, the nation would save the enormous sum of $1,275,000,000.

Consumption is primarily a poor man's disease. Dr. Wood Hutchinson of New York City says: "Roughly speaking, the incipient tuberculous patient can buy as many chances of fresh air and cure as he has money." The percentage of deaths from consumption among the poor is 100 per cent higher than among the well-to-do and the rich. Sixty-five per cent of the consumptives in the United States are too poor to provide proper means for treatment. They must either be placed in a sanatorium or a hospital where they can be cured of their disease and where they will be removed from the possibility of infecting other members of their families, or the loss resulting from neglect to care for these poor consumptives will be twice or three times as great as would be the case if they were properly housed in institutions.

COUNTY'S POOR EXPENSE

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis declares that if every county or township should erect an institution for the treatment of indigent cases of consumption, this disease would be wiped out in a few years.

Food, Fuel, Clothing and Medicines Distributed to the Needy.

During 21 months of the year 1909 the county commissioners have expended for the relief of the poor in Salt Lake county, $5,117.21. Of this amount, $3,328.25 was expended by James Sabine, Jr., who has charge of the pauper department. The amount given out by Mr. Sabine was for food, clothing, coal and cash, and was distributed among 73 families. In the health department, under the supervision of Dr. F. G. O'Dell, there was spent for the 12 months $8,577.18. The amount includes the county physician's services and free medicine.

SILENT SALESMEN SHOW A VARIETY

Signs Erected by Real Estate Men Indicate Spirit of Trade.

A comparison of three real estate signs from opposite poles of our country and from the intermountain west as represented by Salt Lake, will prove of interest to those who are trying to bring their real estate wares before the public.

One may be seen in the suburbs of Los Angeles. "I love my money," it reads, "but, oh, you land!" Thus the extreme western land booster sings over his work. The tingling slang of the moment can't be too tingling for him. He throws his suburban lots on the market with a warm affection which the patriotic buyer is supposed to, and often does, reciprocate.

The suburban tract proposition was a well established and successful feature of the real estate business in Los Angeles some years before it was introduced in Salt Lake. For that reason, perhaps, the Salt Lake booster is as yet a little more conservative in his boasting. While he is confident that his lots will find sale, still he does not possess the extreme degree of optimism which the Los Angeles dealer has by reason of a longer period of success.

On one of the benches to the east of the low-lying portion of Salt Lake may be seen a sign which reads: "Heights, Salt Lake's Premier Residence Section." There is the spirit of boast in this sign, and it is dignified in expression. It is the happy medium between the slangy advertisement of the extreme west and the dignified and apologetic sign of the extreme east, as shown by an advertisement before a plot on one of the ancient and somewhat decayed heights of Staten Island, overlooking the Narrows and the lower New York bay and the Atlantic beyond.

Says this silent salesman: "With apologies to the public for defacing so beautiful a spot with a commercial sign, the undersigned respectfully offers this site, 22x200, for residential purposes exclusively, with restrictions." It would be too much to say that this chastened announcement is at all an accurate reflection of typical differences between east and west in boasting land, though it is expressive in an extreme way of certain differences between the two parts of country.

EASE AND LUXURY, SOUL MATE AT SIDE

Maxim Goriky to Be Expelled From Russian Democratic Party.

Paris, Dec. 18.—And so Maxim Goriky, the famous Russian novelist and revolutionist, has at last fallen into evil ways—at least from the standpoint of the revolutionists—and is to be expelled from the Russian Democratic party! The report that this "champion of the oppressed" was unable to stand prosperity and is living a life of ease and luxury with his "soul mate," Mile. Andreleva, the Russian actress, on the island of Capri, proved a severe blow to his followers. Conference were held and finally a messenger was dispatched to Goriky's Mediterranean home, to inform him that he is no longer a member of the party. Thus the cause for which he suffered imprisonment and exile has disowned him. Truly, money is the root of all evil, for rumor has it that Goriky accumulated $500,000 by his lecture and writings, and then betook himself to his island home, where he passed up the oil and corn.

His present predicament recalls his trip to America in 1896, when he was ostracized from society, but for slightly different reasons. On his arrival in the United States he was met at the pier by the leading exponents of socialism in that country. His beautiful little female companion, who was down on the ship's register as "Mrs. Goriky," was welcomed by society with open arms. A beautiful apartment was placed at their disposal in New York City, and a host of admirers flocked to them with invitations. The discovery, however, that the real Mrs. Goriky was in Russia with her two children, and that the revolutionist's charming companion was none other than Mile. Andreleva, a Russian actress, caused no mild sensation. They were requested to vacate their apartments, doors of the hotels were closed upon them, and finally they sailed for Naples, where they received a hearty welcome.

Making Merry

At Mealtime, Means Good Appetite, Good Digestion, Good Cheer, Good Heart and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Do You Use Them? If Not, Why? DYSPEPSIA is the selection at the feast, the death's head at the festive board. It turns cheer into carelessness, gaiety into gloom and festivity into tedium. It is the guest in the house, haunting every room and hitting at every fireplace, making otherwise merry people shudder and tear. If there is one disease more than another that should be promptly attacked and cured, it is DYSPEPSIA. It is the very scourge of mankind, and it is the cause of many a man almost lost to the world and many a woman something to be dreaded and avoided.

It is estimated that half of one's troubles in this world come of a stomach gone wrong—or Dyspepsia, in short. Food taken into the stomach and not properly cared for, converted into indigestible matter, the system has no rest for and hasn't any notion what to do with. It is irritated and vexed, pains and aches, and a little while this state of things becomes general and directly there is "something odd to eat." The whole system is in a state of rebellion and yearns to do something rash and disagreeable and a fine case of Dyspepsia is established and opens up for business.

If you were bitten by a mad dog, you would not lose a day in going to a cure, do you know you should be just as prompt with Dyspepsia? Rabies is a quick death, dyspepsia is a slow one; this is about all the difference. There is a cure for rabies and so there is for Dyspepsia and one cure was about as difficult to discover as the other. Pastur found out one and the F. A. STUART COMPANY the other, and he longer a secret, as it is made public in the wonderful Tablet, which so many are using and praising today. One writer says of it:

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are little storehouses of digestion which mix with the stomach juices, digest food, retinge the mucous membrane and its nerve centers, gives to the blood a great wealth of digestive fluids, promote digestion and stays by the stomach until all its duties are complete."

Some cures are worse than the disease; they demand this, that and the other, and the patient despairs at the requirements; but not so with the Stuart Dyspepsia Tablet; they are easy and pleasant to take, and no nausea or ill feeling follows. There is none of this "getting all over the mouth" like a liquid and making the remedy a dread. Another writer says: "It matters not what the condition of the stomach, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets only improve the juices and bring quiet to the whole digestive canal, of which the stomach is the center."

Forty thousand physicians use these tablets in their practice and every druggist sells them. Prices: Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address: F. A. Stuart Co., 159 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CUTICURA CURED HIM—NEVER TROUBLED SINCE

"My little grandson when a year old had eczema all over his whole body and head. It lasted nearly three years. He had big sores on his head and the matter would run from them. He suffered from the itching and burning and would scratch until he would bleed. He was a perfect sight. We tried every kind of salve and soap but they did no good. After spending hundreds of dollars, and having several doctors, which did him no good, we saw the Cuticura Remedies advertised and we got some to see if they would help him. We used the Cuticura Soap to wash him with and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. They cured him nicely. He is now five and has never been bothered with it since.
