WILLARD MACK BACK.

After two weeks of rest Willard Mack will on Thursday night appear at the Colonial theatre as Heath Desmond in "Cousin Kate." He will be supported by Jeanne Russell Alford. Theatregoists will not doubt be glad to hear of the reappearance of Mr. Mack on the Salt Lake stage, especially in "Cousin Kate," the part to which he is so well adapted. Mr. Mack assisted in the staging of the play in the Hudson theatre in New York. As Heath Desmond he takes the place of Ray P. Brandon, who has been playing the part.

"COUSIN KATE" AT COLONIAL.

"Cousin Kate" has enjoyed a success on the road and in the largest cities of two continents, such as New York, London and Paris. Miss Alford chose as her vehicle this year a play that is worthy of her, and that she does the play justice is the unanimous opinion of the Salt Lake friends. There will be a matinee this afternoon and a performance this evening.

"HIS LAST DOLLAR."

A play of the romantic South is always welcome, and it is hoped that "His Last Dollar," which comes to the Colonial next Sunday for one week, will prove doubly so. This piece is now in its sixth season and has never been presented west of the Missouri river. Few plays on the stage today contain a more interesting story. The main elements of interest—love, intrigue, horse racing and Wall street speculation—are woven together in such a manner as to hold the spectator in eager anticipation from start to finish. Slat and Nicolai have provided a strong cast headed by David Higgins.

AT THE BUNGALOW.

No actress has scored so pronounced a hit at a local theatre in many months as Miss Blanche Douglas at the Bungalow where, with Noel Travers, and the Bungalow stock company, she is appearing in Augustus Thomsen's big army play, "Arizona." Already the sale for this afternoon's matinee indicates a capacity house. Next week one of the greatest of modern dramas, "The Regeneration" will be the bill.

"THE MERRY WIDOW."

It looked like old "Bostonian" days around the Salt Lake theatre yesterday when the seat sale opened for "The Merry Widow." A long line was in evidence all day. "The Merry Widow" comes back to Salt Lake with almost the same cast as was seen last year, the few changes being for the better. George Dunham and Oscar Figman are still in the cast, and Mabel Wilber, who first took the widow after Rosemary Glosz closed, will be seen in the title role. The engagement is for four performances, beginning tomorrow night.

"STRONG MAN" CONTORTIONIST.

Fred O. Reed, one of the Reed brothers, playing at the Orpheum this week, claims the distinction of being the only contortionist in the world who is also a "strong man." Unusually limber from the days when, at the age of 6, his schoolmates would give him a cent to see him do a "split," he paid no more attention to muscle development than the average boy does until he was about 18 years old. He is a natural comedian and enjoys making the audience laugh as much as they enjoy his pranks. His makeup makes him look extremely tall and athletic, but he is in fact only 5 feet 7 inches.

"ST. ELMO" AT GRAND.

"St. Elmo" was presented for the last time at the Grand last night. There were fifteen performances of this production during last week and this, playing to good business. Beginning with a matinee today those who were unable to see Mr. Lorch in his last presentation of "St. Elmo" will have the privilege during the remainder of the week. "St. Elmo" is a dramatization of the popular novel of the same name, written by Augusta J. Evans. When last presented at the Grand by Mr. Lorch many were turned away. The production will be superbly staged and mounted in the same painstaking manner which characterizes all productions staged by Geo. L. Graves.

SHUBERT THEATRE.

"The Indiscretions of Betty," a graphically told story of the indiscretions of a young woman who has social aspirations beyond her means, is shown at the Shubert theatre during this week. It is a common story, and is told in such a dramatic way that it becomes more than ordinarily impressive. The dramatic climax, where the count forces his intentions upon her, and is soundly chastised by the husband, makes a fitting close.

CASINO.

The new bill at the Casino, which began Monday night, is the best yet. There are three vaudeville acts—that of Haight, Dean and company, in "A Midnight Meeting," being a screen from start to finish. The pictures are exceptionally good, notably that of the Greek and actress "Electra." The entire bill is different from past weeks, and will, no doubt, prove popular.

NEWHOUSE THEATRE
STEEL IS DELAYED

Building Will Be Rushed to Completion When Structural Material Arrives.

Pending the arrival of steel for the superstructure work on the Newhouse theatre, building is at a standstill. Work on the foundation is well advanced. Rumors that the building was to be abandoned were most emphatically denied yesterday. Those in charge of the construction stated that when Mr. Newhouse left for New York and later for Europe, he was undecided as to whether the building should be of reinforced concrete or steel. While in New York and before leaving for Europe Mr. Newhouse conferred with the architects and decided upon a steel building.

Steel will be rushed to Salt Lake and active work will shortly be resumed, as it is intended that the theatre shall be completed in October and will be opened by Harry Lauder. The theatre will cost $300,000 and will seat 2,000 persons.

According to advices from New York, Samuel Newhouse, who has just returned from Europe, has closed a deal for $500,000 worth of Newhouse hotel stock.

ANDERSON & CUMMINGS.

EXPERT EVIDENCE

Kansas City, April 12.—Twelve venemans qualified as jurors in the trial of Dr. B. C. Hyde today, bringing the total number up to twenty-five.

An hour before the regular time for adjournment the original panel, consisting of 150 men, was exhausted. Pending the arrival of a new venire of the same number of men court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Judge Lathaw made an unsuccessful attempt to induce the attorneys to agree to hold a night session.

Since one venemans voluntarily explained he would not believe the testimony of hired scientists the question of each talesman's trust in such a witness has become an important one in the examinations. The defense admits an intention of making its main fight on the testimony of the chemists who made the Swope analysis. The state, of course, will depend largely upon the scientists to make a case.

Bank Reports Show Utahns
Are Saving Money Rapidly

LOANS have decreased more than $400,000 and savings deposits have increased almost $700,000 among the three private and 65 state banks in Utah since December 27, 1909, and until March 14, 1910, as shown in the quarterly bank statement of Secretary of State Charles S. Tingey, which was completed yesterday.

The conditions of the banks of the state are much better than at the close of business last year, especially in regard to the savings deposits, which is generally used as a method of determining the financial condition of the people as a whole. At the close of business last year the savings deposits amounted to $13,087,269.20, and on March 14 they were $12,737,426.63.

Commercial deposits fell off somewhat, and on the whole there is an increase of only a little more than $2,000 in the resources and liabilities of the banks from the end of the year and the close of business at the end of the first quarter of 1910. The consolidated bank statement, showing the condition on March 14, is compared to that of December 27, as follows:

Idaho Woodpecker Ties Up
Trains on the Short Line

IN a spirit of fun, a story from Potomac runs this way:

"Because he was compelled to 'walk the board' a block of woodpecker, Passenger Conductor Charles Hupharts of this city, while running the No. 10 on the Short Line, was interrupted by a flock of woodpeckers. The bird was the cause of all the trouble. That bird was the subject of a half dozen sizing official telegrams between the highest officials of the road, because the story looked 'fishy' to the general manager.

"In the early days of railroading in the west, the bears used to misinterpret the humming of the telegraph wires for bees, and tear down the poles. It remained for a woodpecker, however, to get right into the heart of things and stall a big division of a transcontinental railway system. "It seems that Mr. Woodpecker reared his way into a lightning arrester box on a telegraph pole near Glenn's Ferry, just as No. 10 was approaching. The bird, being startled, lit along like a streak of greased lightning, with Jim Carr at the throttle and Charles Hupharts the man behind the punch. This upset this block of signal system and disconnected some of the wires. When No. 10 was blocked showing red, there was nothing to do but to wait through it at a snail's pace, with both Engineer Carr and Conductor Hupharts making the air of the 'real live bird of the woodpecker variety' as quoted from the official report, was responsible, there was indeed a suspicion in the mind of the operating officials that the desert air had gone to the heads of the train crew."

BODY DISCOVERED IN TRUNK BY THE SHERIFF

Mystery of the Disappearance of Mrs. Gertrude Maxwell of Missouri Solved.

Hannibal, Mo., April 12.—The body of Mrs. Gertrude Maxwell, a wealthy widow who lived alone on her farm, one mile east of Palmyra, near here, today was found in a trunk at her home by Sheriff Thomas C. Lasey. She had been missing since last Wednesday.

Ezra Checkwater, a neighbor, not seeing her about her home, made a search and was unable to locate her. He then notified the sheriff.

After the body was found the officials began an investigation. The coroner's jury that held an inquest into the death of Mrs. Maxwell this afternoon brought in the following verdict:

"We find that Mrs. Gertrude Maxwell came to her death by getting into a trunk and closing it, where her body was found at 8:30 a. m., April 12."

At the time the verdict was rendered no autopsy on the body had been held. The trunk was open when the coroner's jury viewed it. In the bottom were several rags which were apparently saturated with carbolic acid. The acid stains on the rags were the chief evidence upon which the jury reached its conclusion.

The verdict was reached despite the fact that the sheriff produced a club which was lying near the trunk. No marks were found on the body.

VATICAN TAKES POT
SHOT AT ROOSEVELT

Pope Doesn't Wish to Be Bracketed With Royal Personages Hunted by ex-President.

Rome, April 12.—The Vatican has authorized a statement with reference to a call made by Abbot Lawrence Janssens, one of the most learned Benedictines, and secretary of the congregation of the affairs of religions, on ex-President Roosevelt, on the eve of the latter's departure from Rome.

Abbot Janssens did not find Mr. Roosevelt at home, but left his card, on which he wrote in French that he desired to congratulate Mr. Roosevelt for the constant support given to his order, and to the Catholic church in general in America, during his "glorious career" as President, which he hoped would soon be resumed.

"The Holy Father has highly disapproved of Father Janssens' initiative towards Mr. Roosevelt," as cabled through the Associated Press, as this act of his evidently lends itself to an interpretation offensive to the Holy Father. Father Janssens acted through his own impulse, without any authorization from anyone whatever."

The statement further emphasizes the Vatican policy, which is to use its own words, was that "it did not wish Mr. Roosevelt to be bracketed with other monarchs or royal personages who have been hunted in Europe after his African hunt."

NO CHANCE TO ESCAPE

Imperial Junction, Calif., April 12.—W. R. Petty and his wife, who held a sheriff's posse at bay throughout last night, after Petty had shot and seriously wounded A. C. Wisner, assistant signal supervisor of the Southern Pacific at Flowing Well, Ariz., yesterday, surrendered to Sheriff Meadows today.

Petty remained barricaded in the railroad section house until 9 o'clock, when he shouted he would capitulate. He and Mrs. Petty were taken to El Centro, California, and placed in the Imperial county jail.

Throughout the night and up to the time of his surrender Petty was supported constantly by his wife, who, with revolver in hand, threatened the sheriff's force whenever its members approached too near the section house.
