

MARRIED AT OGDEN; SURPRISE FRIENDS

University and St. Mary's Academy Students Secretly Wedded at Junction City.

Lester R. Dobbs, who for the last four years has been attending school at the University of Utah, and Lizette Ruvaline, a student at St. Mary's academy for the last five years, quietly stole a march on their friends and relatives Wednesday and were married.

Unlike the romantic couples of Salt Lake who have chosen Farmington as the destination for quiet weddings in the past, these two sped past the little Davis county seat and secured a license in Ogden, where Dobbs gave his residence as Helena, Mont.

Returning to Salt Lake Wednesday evening, the young couple registered at the Moxam. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Dobbs left his bride of but a few hours on a visit to his mother, Mrs. M. J. McKenzie, in Bingham, presumably to obtain the usual parental blessing. He will return to Salt Lake today and with Mrs. Dobbs will leave shortly for Nevada, where he has accepted a position with one of the Nevada mining companies.

Both of the contracting parties are well known in this city. Mr. Dobbs was graduated from the mining and engineering course at the university last fall. He was also prominent in the affairs of the Y. M. C. A. The home of Mrs. Dobbs is in Waterloo, Ia., but for the past five years she has been a student at St. Mary's academy.

FARMERS DISCUSS THE WEEVIL'S ERADICATION

Professor Titus of the Agricultural College Forwards Suggestion for Death of the Pest.

An enthusiastic farmers' institute was held at Murray yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Murray Commercial club. It was estimated that more than 150 farmers from various points in the county were present. A special program had been arranged for the occasion.

Prof. E. Q. Titus of the Agricultural college at Logan was the principal speaker of the day. During his lengthy address, Prof. Titus discussed the alfalfa weevil, which has caused so much destruction to lucern crops in Weber, Salt Lake and Utah counties.

The speaker gave a brief history of the weevil. He was of the opinion that if sheep were turned into the lucerna patches early in the season that the eggs would be eaten by the animals, and that this would help, and by harrowing the ground when the buds are young, was also another suggestion.

Practical farmers present also offered many valuable suggestions, which were adopted. This work will again be taken up at the A. C. U. this winter. Prof. L. A. Merrill of the State Farmers' institute, gave an interesting lecture on agricultural work. Institutes in the future will be held at Murray every month.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION OF ROOSEVELT AT KANSAS CITY.

(Continued from Page One.) road," he continued, "construction was stopped for two weeks because two lions established themselves on the trucks and ate up all the men who came to work. I think they ate about 100. Finally they were killed."

He said the survivor of another encounter with the lion told him a story which he would repeat. "At one railroad station," he began, "the lion ran to the agent and when the next train came along it ate up a brakeman. The division superintendent, an Englishman, took a German and an Italian with him and went out there to kill the lion. They sat up during the night waiting for the lion, and finally the Italian went to sleep at the end of the car and the German got into the berth. The Englishman sat at the window with his rifle on guard; he evidently went to sleep there.

"The lion, with its queer, sinister intelligence, saw that the man was asleep. It came up on the platform, pulled the sliding door open with its paw and went in. The German was awakened by the weight of the lion's hind legs on him. The forelegs of the lion were on the Englishman, and the lion had the man's head in its mouth.

At the Englishman. "The German shouted and awoke the Italian, who leaped up and jumped on the lion's back. He jumped off again, and finally the lion went home. The lion had its man and only wanted to get away with him. It made its way through the crowd, dragging the Englishman with it, and all through the night the German and the Italian could hear the dreadful purring of the lion as it ate the Englishman.

"The school children liked the colonel's stories so well that they did not want him to stop, but he was late, and had to leave. Before he departed, however, he gave them some advice. To the girls he said, 'Don't like to have a girl dance all night, so that she will be tired next day when her mother wants something from her.' His advice to the boys was given in terms of football. It was: 'Don't think, don't foul, and hit the line hard.'

Address on Honesty. Colonel Roosevelt's speech in the auditorium was his principal address of the day. He said that honesty should not be made a party matter and that the first men to attack scoundrels should be men in the second row.

lations issued by the department for the guidance of registers and receivers in the administration of this law. It was stated that no attempt would be made at that time to determine how far from the land an entryman would be allowed to reside, as it was believed that a proper determination of that question would depend upon the circumstances of each case. The department is unable to find in the language of the statute an arbitrary rule fixing a definite distance from the land within which such an entryman must reside or to fix a period of time within which he must be able to reach his claim, as it believed, as stated in the regulations, that each case should be decided upon its own merits when authority is presented to the department upon final proof, protest or contest, through the regular official channels.

"However, I think it is proper to state that the entry provided for by this law is a homestead entry. It is not a claim in the statute and an entryman is required to possess the qualifications of a homesteader, notwithstanding the fact that the entryman is exempted from actually residing on the land entered. Nevertheless, the law requires that he shall reside within such distance from it as to enable him to successfully farm the same, as required by this section."

"It is believed that Congress used this language advisedly and that it was intended that the entryman himself should personally farm the land or personally supervise such farming. Otherwise the use of the language employed by Congress has no meaning whatever.

"Therefore, if an entryman personally farms the land entered or personally supervises the cultivation and improvement of the same, the department will not inquire as to his place of residence, because the fact that he literally complies with the requirements of the statute will obviate the necessity of inquiry as to his place of abode.

"If, on the other hand, an entryman does not personally farm the land or personally supervise the cultivation thereof, his place of residence respecting the distance from the land will be considered for the purpose of determining whether or not he is, by reason of his place of residence, unable to comply with the requirements of the law. Respecting the case under discussion, it may be stated that if, by reason of residing in the city of Salt Lake, he is not prevented from complying with the requirements of the statute as understood, there would seem to be no reason why objections should be offered to his place of residence. If, on the other hand, he is unable to comply with that provision of the law which requires him successfully to farm the land and, as stated above, this means that he shall either personally do the work or personally supervise it, it will be necessary either for him to relinquish his claim, or to change his place of residence.

alison of the midnight closing law, Jeffers made his escape after the police. He has been at liberty for nearly a month since the murder, and not until yesterday was a fugitive warrant issued for him, and then it was issued in Washington, from information wired from the office of the sheriff.

Chief Barlow will do nothing. When asked yesterday as to his further action in the case, he declared he would take no action, the matter had evidently been removed from his hands by the action of the sheriff's office. Asked whether it was a positive fact that the sheriff's office had taken action and that Deputy Smith had gone to Seattle to return Jeffers, he declared he did not know.

To Governor Spry yesterday, the chief complained that he did not think the matter made by the sheriff's office was fair to the public. He said that he had other means of knowing of Jeffers' detention in Seattle other than the Cowley. In making his confession he gave a reputation for being a bad man following the receipt of the message and photograph of himself. He declared that he had no means of knowing that the Governor would stand for the expense of the trip and abandoned any idea of making it or sending it away after learning that the deputy sheriff had gone.

Confesses to Killing. Following the receipt of information from Salt Lake that he was the man wanted, Jeffers was confronted with the charge and confessed to killing Cowley. In making his confession he alleged self-defense as the motive for the shooting, declaring: "Tim Church had already cut up two men and with the blade, and when he came at me with his knife, I got him first with my pistol. That's all there is to it, and I shan't fight extradition," said Jeffers.

HAS POPULATION OF NEARLY FIVE MILLIONS

(Continued from Page One.) fact that in eight years London's increase was 845,308, while that of New York for ten years was 1,329,581.

Paris, according to the census of 1906, was the third largest city in the world, with a population of 2,743,393, while Tokio shows in the census of 1908 as fourth with 2,086,279. Berlin in 1905 had a population of 2,040,118.

Leaving aside the figures of large cities, New York City now has a population greater than many of the countries of the world. For instance, Australia in 1908 had within its borders 4,275,306 persons exclusive of aborigines, while Ireland last year had a population of 4,374,158. Bulgaria in 1908 showed a population of 4,054,009, and Denmark and Greece respectively had 2,659,000 and 2,632,000 subjects of their kings. Norway in the same year was populated by 2,557,784 persons, and Switzerland by 3,559,000.

WESTERN PACIFIC TAKES UP FIGHT FOR 'FRISCO

In the effort to secure governmental recognition and indorsement of San Francisco as the site of the Panama Pacific International exposition celebrating the completion of the Panama canal in 1915, the Western Pacific railroad has issued circulars intended to enlist the aid of civic bodies throughout the west. Two copies of these circulars, together with a letter from E. L. Lomax, passenger traffic manager of the Western Pacific, were received yesterday morning by Colonel I. A. Benton, general agent of the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande. It is suggested, in Major Lomax's letter, that the matter be called to the attention of the Commercial club.

Two Dollars Worth of Service For Every Dollar In Currency. Do you know the feeling of satisfaction given by the right to say these words? The young man, who is prepared to say, "I'll write you a check," is more independent than his associate who is compelled to say: "Wait, please. I forgot you when I was paid and my money just trickled away from me." Likewise the young man with the bank account is more respected and, having shown better business capacity, he is much more likely to be given advancement.

Young men who have not yet opened a bank account, but who wish to do so, are invited to talk the proposition over with one of our officers.
