

BOLDLY FORCES ENTRANCE TO FLAT AND ROBS WOMAN OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

MAKES GOOD HIS ESCAPE INTRUDER CHOKES VICTIM. USES ANAESTHETIC AND STRIKES HER WITH HIS FIST.

Boldly forcing an entrance to the flat by the means of a clever ruse, a robber yesterday grasped Mrs. M. J. McQueeney by the throat, in her rooms in the Oxford apartment house, 719 West North Temple street, forced her to breathe chloroform and then, when she was insensible, stole $100 from her.

The man questioned the police that Mrs. McQueeney told the police that she looked like a Mexican, was well dressed and spoke good English. She was at about 11:40 a. m. while Mrs. McQueeney was busy in the kitchen preparing luncheon for her husband, that the door bell rang. She went to the door, the intruder asked if the "lady across the hall" would be in soon as Mrs. McQueeney was explaining that she was out of the city, the burglar pushed his way into the flat, grasped her by the throat and mouth, and then closed the door.

With the door closed, and the woman's mouth held to prevent her screaming for help, the robber pulled a bottle of chloroform from his pocket and forced her to breathe it. In the struggle, however, Mrs. McQueeney pulled a hairpin from her hair and says she struck the face of her assailant with this weapon. With that, he struck her a blow with his fist, and this, with the chloroform, rendered her unconscious.

Finds Money. The burglar ripped open most of the cushions, threw contents from all drawers, and even ripped up the rug in some places. Finally he returned to the floor and found a small case containing a pair of scissors and a small card case secreted in the stocking.

Mr. McQueeney said last night that he had given his $75 to pay a debt, but the man to whom it was owing has been out of the city and she had kept the money. He cut both of them with a pair of scissors and found a small card case secreted in the stocking.

POET-ENTERTAINER OF NINETEEN HUNDRED NOW EDMUND VANCE COOKE WILL APPEAR UNDER THE AUSPICES OF Y. M. C. A. AT AN EARLY DATE.

Edmund Vance Cooke, the poet-reader and impersonator, of Cleveland, O., is scheduled to appear in this city with an entertainment of the highest order. He writes that he has a "new program" for the people of Salt Lake City. Many will want to hear an hour and a half of poetry, pathos and humor from the poet of "nineteen hundred and now."

Mr. Cooke's poetry appeals to the man-on-the-street as well as to the literary expert, for the reason that it hits "not much higher than the head and not much lower than the heart." The Young Men's Christian association, under whose auspices he appears, while not running a regular course of entertainments this season, will get a new of the poet's work.

By Monday or Tuesday, at the latest, the free employment agency or bureau, inaugurated by the Rev. Elmer J. Goshen and to be conducted under the auspices of the First Congregational church, will be established and in working order.

WILL DO NEEDLEWORK CLOTHES FOR ORPHANS AND DESTITUTE CHILDREN OF PRISONERS THE WORK PLANNED.

Fourteen young society girls of the city will meet at the home of Mrs. Windsor V. Rice on Monday, October 3, to organize a society for charitable work. In preparation for the opening meeting they have accumulated a fund of $60 by a method that would do credit to the most level-headed business promoter.

Instead of organizing, electing officers, drawing up a constitution and set of by-laws and then looking about for some one to finance their enterprise, these clever young women earned a sum sufficient to purchase materials for the garments they intend to make before they meet at the society.

Nine of the fourteen girls got their heads together over a telephone book and selected the names of the people they knew. Then followed several hours of telephoning and taking orders for home-made candy that was guaranteed to be the best ever. Fudge, chocolate creams, divinity, stuffed dates, Turkish delight, nougat, walnut creams, peanut brittle, anything the heart could desire or a sweet tooth suggest was promised, and all orders were promptly filled.

The women apportioned the amounts to be made equally, and for a few days were busy in their kitchens preparing the dainties. Thursday, September 22, at the home of Miss Mildred McMillan, packed and distributed 144 pounds, and after deducting expenses, found that they would have $60 for the treasury of the society when it was organized.

REAL WORK NOT BEGUN

With this sum as a nucleus, the work will be taken up in earnest at the first regular meeting on Monday next. The society was the suggestion of Mrs. C. E. Allen, who has found that there is great need of children's garments and baby clothes in the orphan's homes and for private distribution. These garments will be made by the members at their regular weekly meetings under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Gorham. In addition to the sewing done together, each member will take home work to be finished that has been cut out and planned at the meetings.

A further object of the society will be to bring about a happy Christmas for the children of prisoners whose families have been left destitute. This work and that of making the little garments will occupy the spare time of the members for the next few months, and it will entail no small amount of self-sacrifice on the part of these young women, who have social duties that engross much of their time.

FOR BRINGING EMPLOYE AND EMPLOYER TOGETHER

Industrial Bureau of Congregational Church Will Find Men For Jobs And Jobs For Men.

By Monday or Tuesday, at the latest, the free employment agency or bureau, inaugurated by the Rev. Elmer J. Goshen and to be conducted under the auspices of the First Congregational church, will be established and in working order.

The employment agency, as it will be established, and conducted, is the outcome of a year and a half's thought and investigation on the part of the Rev. Goshen, and his congregation. At the pastor's suggestion, has provided a fund that will guarantee the successful operation of the bureau, all of the funds to be received and administered being handled by E. A. Finby, treasurer. In its inception and conduct the bureau will be maintained without any secured outside contributions, but those who want workmen, or the laborer who seeks work.

Speaking of the innovation of an absolutely free employment bureau the Rev. Goshen said yesterday: "One of the most serious, and perhaps one of the most vital problems of the city is to bring the man and the job together. There are lots of men looking for jobs, there are lots of jobs awaiting the men.

"The main purpose of the bureau will be to help men to get on their feet. Any man, irrespective of his creed or faith, may come there and we will endeavor to get him a job. Any employer who has a vacancy in his plant, or who needs a man, we will do our best to find the man for him."

TRY TO CLOSE STORES

Fair Association and Commercial Club Officials Circulate Petition Among Business Houses.

Efforts are being made by representatives of the fair association and the State Fair association to have the merchants and business men of the city close their places of business at the next Tuesday afternoon closing, which has been designated as Salt Lake day at the state fair.

The Commercial club and B. F. Redman of the State Fair association, yesterday made a canvass of the Main street business houses, but secured only four signatures. It is claimed that these merchants are agreeing to close if the movement is made.

It is the contention of the members of the fair committee that the date for Salt Lake day is in advance of the general conference, but the city, and by giving the employees a half day to visit the fair there will be no interruption in the large business which is expected by the business houses during the week.

HERE TO ASSIST IN RECRUITING.

Following his arrival in the city Thursday morning, Corporal J. S. Ribber of the naval station at Mare Island, Cal., reported for duty to Captain John N. Wright, who has charge of the marine headquarters here. Corporal Ribber will assist Sergeant Paul Cologne with the work of the station here. J. M. Thorman and M. T. Estas, marines, are still in the office, but it is probable that they will be sent back to Mare Island.

This Irish Lad Wants Love ---and a Widow With a Farm

HIDING somewhere in the town of Helena, Mont., is an Irish lad with his eye looking longingly toward Salt Lake. From a letter received yesterday by Chief of Police Sam M. Barlow, the young man has looked over the lot of women in Helena and has decided that his future wife is living in this direction. Though not wondrously clever in handling the English language, the Irish Lothario makes it clear that he is hunting a girl who will open for engagements—especially a fit-long cruise on the seas of matrimony.

Here is his letter. The young man is Joe Alexander, and here is his appeal to some woman in Salt Lake: Helena, Mont., Sept. 26, 1910. Salt Lake City Chief of Police, Dear Sir:—

Do you know of a Widow or Lady between 25 and 40 around your city who would like to marry a big strong young man 28 years of age, Irish, 6 feet tall, Gray eyes, blue hair, and one who has never kissed any girl or any woman but his Mother since he can remember, don't Gamble, never tasted beer, only twice in his life has tasted whisky and am as strong as a mule, weigh 195 lbs would prefer Widow who has a farm or Lady who has some kind of business, but I don't care, men around, don't want a woman to think I want money. I want love—love that is what I am looking for. Am kind, respectful, and no one can resist me with the most of them. I don't want good looks. Some one to be kind, happy, and loving. You will be doing a favor that will not be forgotten if you will help me.

And any Lady who writes, if we do not suit each other, her letter or picture will be returned to her, but her, myself and God will ever no. Yours Respt. JOE ALEXANDER, Helena, Mont.

JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Coming of Rosh Hashanah Signal for Beginning of New Endeavor Among Israelites.

Beginning Monday evening, the Jewish people of the city will celebrate the Rosh Hashanah, or New Year day, of the Jewish calendar. October 4 will mark the beginning of the year 5671 of Hebrew chronology.

The occasion will be marked in Salt Lake by special services at the Temple Sinai Israel, and at the house of worship of Congregation Montefiore. At the former place, services will be held on Monday evening and on Tuesday morning. At the other temple, services will begin Monday evening and continue through Wednesday. Special addresses and program music have been arranged for the services.

The Jewish New Year marks the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar. In the biblical order, it is the seventh, and the sacred number, was regarded as a solemn occasion, and especially so.

It became the day of the blowing of trumpets, reminding the Israelites that a new period of time begins, and that no occasion could be more appropriate for the endeavor after a new life, for judgment and reconciliation with God. The symbolic act of blowing the ram's horn, which is performed in the synagogues in obedience to the precept of the law, is intended to remind the Israelite of the day's meaning.

The Jewish New Year is a solemn occasion though not a mournful one. On Tuesday morning, October 25, the examinations for Rhodes scholars will be held in the library building of the University of Utah. In order to be eligible a candidate must be born a citizen of the United States and unmarried. He must have passed his nineteenth birthday and not yet have reached his twenty-fifth birthday by the October of the year for which he is elected, and must have completed at least his sophomore year at a recognized degree-giving university or college in the United States.

On Tuesday morning, October 25, the examinations will consist of translation from Latin into English. In the afternoon of the same day the tests will be on Latin prose and arithmetic. Translation from Greek into English will occupy the Wednesday morning session, while Latin grammar, Greek grammar and algebra or geometry will be the subjects for examination in the afternoon.

ATTEMPTS TO BREAK THE ACROSS-COUNTRY RECORD

Trundling a little "wagon" behind him, A. Wood, the man who won a medal at the Seattle exposition for long distance walking, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday on his overland journey to New York from Los Angeles. On April 4, 1909, Mr. Wood, accompanied by his wife, started trudging in Salt Lake, arriving there June 10, and walking a distance of 1,548 miles. Then the couple kept on their walking tour, going up into British Columbia, and then walking back to San Francisco, registering a total distance of 6,258 miles. A couple of months ago Mrs. Wood died in San Francisco, leaving her husband.

Mr. Wood is now endeavoring to break the cross-country walking record. He left Los Angeles, September 19, and is now two days ahead of his scheduled time.

MUST KEEP THE TRUNK THREE WEEKS LONGER

Because the owner of a trunk has failed to come for it and pay 50 cents a month rent, Peter Kroech, an expressman, yesterday took his troubles to the police. Kroech received the trunk about three years ago, but the man never has returned for it. The only thing close to identification is a card with the name of Miss Mervyl Hart, Placerville, Eldorado county. The police told him to keep it three weeks more and then, if no one came, to do what he wished with the trunk and contents, which are worth little.

DRUGGED, ROBBED, VICTIM OF DARING THUGS FOUND IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN LONELY SPOT.

Drugged, robbed and left almost dead by two strangers, George Delmot, 22 years old, an employe of the Royal rooming house at 212 South State street, was found last night at about 10:30 o'clock at the soap factory of Jonas Wilkinson, Tenth North and Sixth West streets.

Delmot was in a serious condition when some of the workmen at the Wilkinson factory heard his moans. They came from the house only to see the two men who had brought Delmot so hurrying away through the darkness. Delmot, his sight practically ruined and his nerves a wreck, told coherently of his associations with two men yesterday. He said he had started to drink with them, and before long did not know anything but that he was not drunk, but that something must have been given him and his mind went blank. The next he knew was when the police automobile arrived at Wilkinson's place and he was brought back to the city. He said he had about $7 in the afternoon, but his pockets were torn and he had nothing left in his clothes when found.

LARGEST GERMAN TROUT

Trout Brought to Fair Measuring 30 Inches and Weighing 10 Pounds. The large German trout which will be one of the features of the exhibit at the state fair was brought to the city yesterday from the Pangutich hatchery, and during the afternoon was taken to the fair grounds and placed in a specially constructed tank.

The specimen is one of the most beautiful and largest in captivity, weighing a trifle over ten pounds, and measuring over 30 inches in length. At the fair grounds a special tank had to be provided for the trout, the tanks in use in former years being found too small to accommodate the mammoth fish.

The tank next to this one will contain a display of minnows of the trout family. From the grounds a special tank had to be provided for the trout, the tanks in use in former years being found too small to accommodate the mammoth fish.

Location of Plats. The school site suggested by Kimball & Richards is situated in lot 4, block 2, five-acre plat, in the Big Field survey, and the price set is $10,000. Two sites were offered by Ashton-Jenkins, the first being on the west side of Seventh East street, costing $5,500, and the second on the west side of Eighth East street, between Eleventh and Twelfth South streets.
