

PHILADELPHIA NATIONALS WIN FROM CUBS

THEIR BATTING WON GAME FOR CUBS

TIGERS OF COLORADO WIN FROM CRIMSON

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Nineteen thousand delirious enthusiasts, driven almost insane by a ninth-inning tie and a tenth-inning victory, saw the Chicago Nationals "come back" today and capture the fourth game of the world's series from the Philadelphia Americans, 4 to 3.

The combat was one to live in history. There was not a moment when a properly interested partisan could draw a calm, full breath. It was anybody's game until the finish, when a double, an out and a single put the winning run across the plate.

Up to Chicago's half of the ninth, the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the victors. It looked as if the team would perform the record-breaking feat of capturing four straight games in a world's series and the pennant home with them. A number of Philadelphia visitors went so far as to make sleeping car reservations for the night from a special agent in the grandstand. As events turned out, certain reserved seats in the Philadelphia were not occupied when the train left.

Frank Schulte stepped to the plate in the last of the ninth. On his eye and arm depended largely the issue whether the Americans would win the world's championship tonight or whether the Nationals might hope to come from behind and win four straight games after a five-day hiatus.

There was a prayerful silence—then something happened. The debonair right fielder, Schulte, and it did not stop rolling until it bumped against the right field fence, and the batsman had become a pennant base runner on the second sack. Chief Bender merely smiled, and the smile broadened to a grin when Hoffman sacrificed the runner to the pitcher.

But the crowd was fairly crazy with excitement. The cheer of cheers was ear-splitting when Captain Chance came to bat. The first ball pitched nipped him on the finger, but he managed to get a hit and walked into it and it served him right, or words to that effect. The "peerless leader" hopped about smugly, the injured member for a moment, and then resumed his position glaring in the direction of the star grandstand. He stepped into another one, but the result was different. With every muscle in his angry system tense, he caught the ball on the winning side and slammed it to the farthest corner of the lot for three bases. The gloom which had hung like a pall over the stadium floated away and in the sky of the fanatics appeared rainbows of hope and promise unbroken by a cloud.

The band of Philadelphia rosters remained passive and confident. The habit of being on the winning side had not deserted them. They acclaimed the Indian hurler when Zimmerman and Steinfield went out, leaving Chance with a lead which had been the winning run, stranded on third. The game might have ended in this stanza, but for the sensational catch by Bender. He felled a foul into a left field box and although the occupants thereof were far from helpful, the fielding of the Philadelphia players leaned over among the seats and snared the ball. But that is only one of the many hits with which the game abounded.

Athletics Confident. The Philadelphia team came to bat in their half of the tenth with unabated confidence. Archer smothered a foul, however, and Baker, the first man up was disposed of. Captain Davis rose to the occasion with a clean double. Bender and the local crowd felt something in his best.

"Home Run" Murphy was up, but his heat was a sharp reminder which Tinker fumbled for one breathless moment, and then threw Davis out at third. By but Archer's striking out, the game was over.

There were two out when the winning run came in. Tinker "popped" out, but Archer intercepted a double which was followed by Brown's out at first. Every local hope hung on Schulte, but fortunately for those who weak hearts it did not have to hang long. The Chicago left fielder hit into the first ball pitched for a single over second. Archer then pitched to the plate and the agony was over.

Chance answered the call of the west side constituency by sending "King" Cole into the pitching box. Archer was named to catch because King's batting average of .887 for the series, it was thought, could not be lowered by Archer or anybody else.

Chicago scored in the first when Schulte walked, stole the only base of the day and scored on Hoffman's single. In the fourth Schulte singled and made third when Hoffman hit too hot for Davis, scoring on a single by Chance. Further scoring was checked by a double play.

Philadelphia tied the score in the third when Bender walked and came home Strunk's triple to deep center. In the fourth it looked as if the Americans were going to repeat former "haifets." Doubles by Archer and Murphy and a single by Collins netted two runs. Cole, however, staided and was credited with three strikes. In the fifth the visitors had two men on bases, but Lord and Collins each high ones to Schulte and the opportunity vanished. In the sixth they were threatening. Baker walked and was sacrificed to second. Murphy's single was too hot for Steinfield and Baker perched on third. Barry hit sharply to Steinfield, who threw to Archer, and Barry was out by a close margin at the plate.

In the eighth Baker was again caught on the base by Steinfield. He beat out a grounder and Davis walked. Murphy advanced the runners with a sacrifice and Baker filled the bases when he was walked by Steinfield. There was none out when Thomas hit to Cole, who nipped Baker at the plate, Thomas being doubled at first.

Baker was caught at the plate. Steinfield to Archer. Barry was a safe on a fielder's choice. Thomas' high boulder over Cole's head was merely checked by Davis's stab and went as a hit, filling the bases. Bender flied out to Schulte. No runs.

Chicago—Barry took Schekard's line drive. Schulte's low boulder went as a hit. Hoffman popped to Baker. Schulte out, stealing second, Thomas to Collins. No runs.

Seventh Inning. Philadelphia—Strunk fanned. Archer dropped the ball, but threw Strunk out at first. Zimmerman threw Lord out. Hoffman moved on to second. A few steps for Collins' fly. No runs.

Chicago—Chance out, Bender to Davis. Zimmerman singled to left. Barry dropped Steinfield's spinning fly. Steinfield struck out. Zimmerman out, stealing. Thomas to Collins. No runs.

Eighth Inning. Philadelphia—Baker beat out a grounder to Chance as Cole was slow covering first base. Davis went to first on a ball. Murphy sacrificed. Chance to Zimmerman, placing Baker on third and Davis on second. Barry hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Baker was forced at the plate and Thomas doubled at first. Cole to Archer to Chance. No runs.

Chicago—Baker hit by a pitched ball. Archer went in to bat for Cole. Baker threw King on Kling's grounder and Kling made second base on the error. Kane went to second to run for Kling. Schekard flied out to Lord. No runs.

Ninth Inning. Brown now pitching for Chicago. Philadelphia—Bender out, Steinfield to Chance. Strunk sent a pop fly, but Archer's striking out. Steinfield hit out of his hands. Lord forced Strunk at second, Tinker to Zimmerman. Collins out, Brown to Chance. No runs.

Chicago—The entire crowd stood up when Schulte came up. Schulte doubled, Lord and Hoffman on first base in attempting to bunt. He bunted the next, but was touched over second. Archer then pitched to taking third. The first ball pitched hit Chance on the finger, but un-ruled. Schulte stepped into it. Schulte scored when Chance pitched deep center. The noise in the stands was ear-splitting. Zimmerman popped to Archer. Bender reached the stand and captured Steinfield's foul fly. One run.

Tenth Inning. Philadelphia—Archer took Baker's foul. Davis doubled to right field. Davis was caught at third, Tinker to Steinfield. Murphy being safe on a fielder's choice. Barry struck out. No runs.

Chicago—Tinker popped to Barry. Schulte doubled into the left center overfly. Brown out, Barry to center. Archer going to third. Schekard hit the first ball pitched for a single to center. Steinfield to Archer. A few steps for Collins' fly. No runs.

The official forecast tonight promises a fair and warmer tomorrow which should be a fine baseball weather. Coombs and Brown are likely to be the opposing pitchers.

FRANK SCHULTE

FRANK CHANCE

JIMMY ARCHER

Just look at the smile on the face of the Peerless Leader. After taking one of Chief Bender's shoots on his finger and being held at the plate because the umpire thought he stepped into the ball he came back with a slashing three-bagger that scored Schulte and tied the score in the sixth inning. Perched on third base with the score tied Chance smiled and the camera caught his smile as he gave the Indian back more than he had received at the plate and you can't blame him.

The first game caused a tremendous surprise, most everybody considering the three-fingered marvel, his wider curves than he ever pitched before. Yet the Athletic batters stepped right into the trap. Do you call it good what was coming, and laced the ball all over the lot with a confidence that looked like fooling. Do you call it good the same with the speedy straights, drops, any old thing.

"The Murphy, for instance," said the informant, "Murphy is a right field hitter, yet he was slugging that ball down into the hole. It was a rife shot. Even Davis, who is quite a hitter, was doing better than usual."

But that wasn't all. On one occasion when the pitcher had three and nothing on the next batter, Kling signed for three wasted balls in succession in the belief that Collins would go down, but he didn't go until the fourth pitched, which was over the plate. Do you call it good baseball to steal with three and nothing on the batter? There was a base on ball almost certain, yet Collins took the chance.

WITH STOLEN SIGNALS ATHLETICS WHIPPED CUBS
(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Chicago, Oct. 22.—The secret is out. The slaughter of the Cubs in the first three games of the world's series has not been due to any superiority on the part of the Athletics. The famous "inside" playing of Chance and his all-conquering genius has not been broken up because the Mack men are the speedier and more heady team. Altogether the breaking up of the wonderful offensive and defensive combination that has two championships to its credit has not been brought about by the greater strength of the Philadelphia pitchers.

Here's the real reason: The Athletics are wise to the Cubs signals. They became "in" to the system that controls the noted defense of the Chicago loss before the series began, and spent several days prior to the opening game in mastering the code, so that they could tip one another off from the coaching lines.

That is the story told by a player who heard it from a man said to be close to the Athletics' manager, and who has been two emissaries of the white elephants following the Cubs around the circuit for three weeks prior to the close of the national league season, keeping tabs on the Cubs' style of play and getting wise to their signals.

LUCK AND CONFIDENCE WIN FROM MAROONS
Chicago, Oct. 22.—Chicago's luck and confidence won North-western's superior playing ability at Marshall field today. The score was 10 to 0.

BY COACH ROTHGEE, COLORADO.
I admit I was glad when the final whistle blew. Utah was always dangerous, and after the first score I was afraid overconfidence would beat us. I think we showed our superiority over Utah when we came from behind to score the last touchdown. Naturally, after the work I did, I am looking forward to winning over a veteran team like Utah. I now look for the conference championship.

BY COACH BENNION, UTAH.
Utah gained more ground than did the Tigers, and should have won. I am forced to admit more hardwork at times which, with the luck on recovering fumbles that went to Colorado, lost us much ground. We were handicapped in playing two men who were admitted as being the best in the west. We would teams, and I am sure Utah can do it.

Colorado College, 21; University of Utah, 17.
It was a silent and gloomy crowd that filled down the hill from Cummings field yesterday afternoon. After such excitement as only a game-hard fought and bitterly contested gridiron struggle can bring, the Crimson rout going home with their hopes of victory shattered, made no gala occasion of the march from the field.

It must be said that the Colorado Tigers earned their victory. Mixed with a brilliant football as an eleven can play, time and again Utah stumbled through the game and lost to a more steady grid into final victory. Fumbles cost Utah the game.

The play between the two teams in the third quarter and the fourth quarter was a study in itself. Colorado forced the Tigers to punt from their 25-yard line. The kick was blocked, and the Tigers were forced to punt the ball, fell on it on the Tigers' 15-yard line. Utah tried the line twice, but the Tigers again forced a punt. An attempt at goal from place, but Richardson received the ball and shot heavily toward the goal. Captain Home, who had but a few yards to go for the touchdown. Richardson missed goal, but the score was 16 to 11.

The rivalry between the New York A. C. Metropolitan champions, and the Irish-American A. C. national champions, will be keen, as both teams will be on home grounds and will be able to have every available man in the field.

For the senior events, embracing both nights, there will be eight running events, two hurdles, five jumps, three weights, two pole vaults and a walk, while the junior series will include three runs, two hurdles, four jumps, a weight and a walk.

The remaining championships carried by the A. A. U. for the present season are as follows:
Ten-mile, November 5; Junior cross-country, November 19; and senior cross-country, November 26, all at Celtic park and for national titles.

Richardson Goes Over.
Richardson plunged through the line for four yards. The line followed him three. With three more yards needed, Richardson again was called upon, and when the whistle blew he had broken down by three inches, and within two feet of the line. On the next play, Richardson again plunged into the line and this time the Crimson banners went into the air. Utah had tied the game.

Then came more turmoil when Richardson booted the ball between the posts. Score: Utah, 17; Tigers, 16. The kick was good. Richardson plays, and time was called for the quarter. Utah had but to defend her goal and the game was won.

For the last quarter the Tigers kicked off, and on her ten-yard line Utah fumbled, a Tiger falling on the ball. The line followed, and the rudo try the Utah line, but failed, and the ball went over. Held between the lines for a moment, the 25-yard line. The Tigers went through the line for first down on straight football. The Tiger line shifted to the right and Captain Van Demer, who has run a 100 yards in a football suit in 10 minutes, was left end for the touchdown. Goal was again missed, but the score was 21 to 16 for Colorado.

For the rest of the quarter Colorado forced the play in Utah territory and the Tigers were forced to punt. With two minutes to play, Utah started a punt down the field, when a Utah man recovered the ball in the quarter, and the game worked, but another was fumbled and the ball went to the Tigers. Just before the time the Tigers kicked out of danger.

Lon Romney, for Utah, played a brilliant game, his dashes through the broken fields stamping him one of the fastest backs in the west. In the second quarter, on a forward pass, he ran 40 yards for a touchdown. The score 4 and his long run in the third quarter placed the ball in Utah's hands. The game was over.

From tackle to tackle, the Utah line was a bar to all consistent gains, but when the line was not so strong, although the Tigers attack at the great end of the reaction most of the time.

Grant's weak ankle got the best of him in the third quarter, and it was Romney took his place at quarterback to do good work.

The Utah owners will split up $15,548.75 among 22 players, each Yankee getting $706.46.

The National commission will get $8,146.25.
