

RESCUE STATION FOR SALT LAKE

First Car Sent Out by Bureau of Mines Starts This Morning.

INSTRUCTION FOR MINERS

Six Cars Will Be Sent Out on Educational Tours to Teach How to Save Life.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The first of six portable mine rescue stations with which the new bureau of mines plans to instruct the miners in the use of mine rescue apparatus and first aid to the injured, will start on its mission tomorrow morning, according to a statement issued by the bureau today. It will be known as car No. 1, will start from Pittsburgh, and will cover the anthracite fields in Pennsylvania. About November 1, car No. 2 is expected to reach the bureau of mines rescue station at Urbana, Ill., where it will receive its full equipment. This car will then go through southern Indiana.

Four other cars, with headquarters at Rock Springs, Wyo., Billings, Mont., Salt Lake City and Knoxville, Tenn., will be turned over to the bureau of mines within a short time. They will start on educational tours within their districts.

Kept in Readiness.
In addition to the educational work mapped out for these cars, they will be kept in readiness to proceed at a moment's notice to aid in rescue work at mine disasters. This is the first important step that has been taken by the new bureau in its effort to reduce the appalling loss of life in American coal mines.

In European countries, where rescue apparatus has been in use for some time, the per capita loss of life in mines is smaller than in the United States. Similar apparatus is being introduced in this country.

In addition to a mining engineer, who will lecture on greater safety in mining, and a Red Cross surgeon, who will give demonstrations in first aid to the injured, each car will have a complete corps of rescue men, who will teach the miners how to use the oxygen helmets, as well as train them in practical rescue work.

Loss of Life.
Steps long enough to enable miners to go through training in rescue work will be made at each mining town. This training will be free of cost to the miners. Certificates of competency will be issued to the miners who take a full course of instruction in mine rescue and first aid work, and a record will be kept of these men as being available for emergency calls in the event of a disaster.

The loss of life in the mines of the United States, according to a bulletin issued by the bureau, amounted to from three to five for every 1,000 employed, while records from foreign countries show from one to two killed in each 1,000 employed. In those European countries where the deaths are least per 1,000, continues the statement, rescue apparatus has been in use for some time.

DOMESTIC INFELICITY.
Henry Olson Says His Wife and Stepson Drove Him From Home.

Henry Olson, a driver at McCoy's stables, was assaulted by his stepson, Carl Olson, while attempting to enter his home at 1212 West Third South street, shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he alleges.

In the melee in which Mrs. Olson took the part of her son, the head of the family was forced to beat a retreat. He says his wife and stepson showered him with sharp stones, other Olson had a horse and buggy standing outside. He drove back to McCoy's stables as rapidly as possible and displayed a deep cut in his skull.

Mr. Olson was afraid to go to a surgeon yesterday afternoon, fearing the police would learn of the row and cause arrests. He was also afraid to go home last night as sleep at the stables. He says he will wear to a complaint of assault and battery against his stepson in police court this morning.

DELAWARE LEADS IN GUNNERY EFFICIENCY

Newest Battleship Wins First Place in Gunnery in Atlantic Fleet.

Washington, Oct. 30.—One of Uncle Sam's newest "Dreadnoughts," the Delaware, led the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet in gunnery efficiency during the annual battle practice off the Virginia coast in September.

The trophy winner last year, the Vermont, is third in the standing. The Delaware's sister ship, the North Dakota, finished sixth, which is considered by naval officials as a splendid record for a ship which had met with a serious accident just prior to the practice.

The sixteen ships in the fleet rank in the following order: Delaware, Minnesota, Vermont, Idaho, Nebraska, North Dakota, New Hampshire, South Carolina, Rhode Island, Louisiana, Virginia, Mississippi, Connecticut, Kansas, Georgia and Michigan. The armored cruisers are yet to fire under the new rules, and have a chance to win the trophy.

Lieutenant Commander L. M. Overstreet seems entitled to the palm among the personnel of the fleet. He was ordnance officer on the Delaware during the recent practice, and served in a similar capacity on the Vermont when she won the trophy last year.

Some splendid shooting was done by all the ships, and considering the increased range—from 5,500 to more than 10,000 yards—greater accuracy was attained than on any previous practice.

DRUG PLOT NIPPED AT PENITENTIARY
replied "Yes as he hammered away at the hard shells. But there was no explosion. The result, however, was startling. The first nut opened contained enough morphine to kill fifty men. Brown had gouged out one of the nuts but was careful not to scratch the thin film over the eye. After pouring out the milk he stuffed the interior with morphine, and then he tamped a wad of paper on top, replaced the plug and carefully pasted the skin over the hole.

The other two nuts were stuffed to their capacity with "yen she" the residue from opium pipes. A pint cup would hold the amount of "yen she" taken from the coconuts. Once the staff and the morphine and cocaine got into the possession of the convicts, serious trouble would surely have followed, the prison officials say.

Warden Pratt referred to the jail delivery which occurred October 9, 1903, when two prisoners escaped, but were recaptured, one convict killed, others wounded and two guards crippled for life.

"We know for a certainty that those men had, in some way, secured dope," said Mr. Pratt. "We have cured 'shop heads' of the habit, and can cure them by making it impossible for them to secure drugs. We had to stop magazines from coming into the prison because, in some instances, magazines which appeared to be news papers, in fact, were the apparently uncut leaves large quantities of morphine and cocaine."

New Law on Drugs.
Warden Pratt declared he proposed to work with the next legislature to a view to the enactment of laws making it a felony to smuggle poison or drugs into a prison. At present the law provides for a penalty of imprisonment for the offense of the offense, wholly inadequate, says Warden Pratt, for the crime.

In addition to the 1903 outbreak, he can trace many cases of trouble among the prisoners to drugs. Six months ago, a convict named "Dope" was smuggled to the prisoners. So crazed were the desperate men with drug fever into the very muzzles of the rifles. Those participating in the outbreak were: Abe Majors, Frank Connors, Frank Dayton, Henry Waddell, Ed Mullen, James Lynch and Nick Haworth. Dayton was killed, Majors was thrown from the wall and Ed Waddell and Mullen wounded. Guard Ed Jacobs' skull was beaten in and he was crippled for life. Guard Life Guard was shot in the thigh and crippled for life. The state appropriated $2,500 each for them, paid their doctor and hospital fees. All this trouble, according to officials at the prison, was caused by "dope" being smuggled to the desperate criminals.

Refuses to Testify.
While Brown freely admitted that he spent $350 to purchase the "yen she" and other stuff he would not admit that prisoners were responsible for the scheme, and he refused to say where he purchased the drugs.

Brown was sent up from the fifth district court yesterday afternoon, for one year for burglary in the third degree. His "copper" reduced the time to eight months. He served a five-year sentence in Santa Quentin for burglary, and was regarded by the officials of that prison as a "bad man."

Brown is occupying a cell in the county jail, and this morning Deputy Warden Lee will swear to a complaint against him. The evidence will be placed before the county attorney, and every effort is to be made to see that Brown is given the extreme sentence provided by law for his offense.

Late last night Sheriff Joseph C. Sharp had a long talk with Brown at the county jail, and tried to induce the man to divulge where he obtained the "yen she" and the other drugs. But Sheriff Sharp's efforts in this direction were futile.

Brown went far enough to admit that the plot to smuggle the stuff into the state prison was hatched several days ago, but he stoutly maintained that the drugs were not for the three men whose names appeared on the sack. He also refused to tell just who the drugs were for. He said he did not propose to get anyone in trouble if he could avoid it.

OUR COUNTY CLERK Dedicated to Margaret Zane Witcher

Words by Rose L. Ward.

Tune: Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet.
(Sung at the Woman's Republican Club Meeting Yesterday.)

It was at the last election
That they made a grand selection
For to be a county clerk,
They selected Margaret Witcher,
For her qualities were richer
Than any of whom they'd heard.
She has proved that she is faithful,
True and earnest, ever wakeful
To the interests of the people of the land.

When you've found her good and true,
But keep her while you can,
For they know that she is doing all she can,
And I'm sure we'll all vote for her—
Work and strengthen and support her
On this next election day.

Thousands of Men Out in New York With Promise of National Support.

New York, Oct. 30.—That the striking express drivers and helpers intend to continue the fight here with vigor and that if necessary they will extend it throughout the country was declared today by Vice President Hoffman of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Mr. Hoffman said that all drivers and helpers of the express companies in addition to the employees of the smaller express companies in Manhattan would be ordered out of this city, and would increase the number of men on strike from 1,000 to 10,000.

Hoffman added that he had received a letter from the national president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters informing him that word had been sent to all the organizers of the brotherhood throughout the country telling them to order their men out of New York and stable men of the express companies, so that they could all be called out if necessary.

None of the express companies made efforts to deliver goods today, and the strikers were quiet.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 30.—The Japanese dreadnought Kawachi, 20,800 tons, was launched at Yokohama October 15, in the presence of the emperor and 50,000 persons, who made the ceremony a gala occasion.

Thirty ships in full hunting saluted the emperor and his suite when they arrived by train. Admiral Sakamoto commanded the fleet, and the naval station, knocked away the dog shore and the huge ship took the water easily, while a flock of liberated pigeons flattered about and ribbons were thrown into the air.

The Kawachi, like her sister battleship the Settsu, soon to be launched at Kure, an improved dreadnought. She will be completed in a year and will be armed with twelve twelve-inch, ten six-inch, eight four and seven-inch, and ten three-inch guns and five torpedoes. Her speed will be 20 1/2 knots, the propelling machinery being Curtis turbines.

Then with a dramatic gesture he flung out his hands, crying: "Look at these hands—not a drop of blood."
An outburst of cheers greeted the premier as he called upon all good Frenchmen to rally to the flag of peace and support the government's efforts to maintain law and order.
A resolution introduced by the socialists impeaching M. Briand for his "diplomatic crushing down of wage-earners" was rejected by an overwhelming majority, after which the chamber voted confidence in the government's effort to safeguard the interests of the working classes and preserve the vital interests of the nation. A scrutiny of the vote shows that 109 radicals, who ordinarily support the government, joined with the socialists.
Subsequent to the session bands of royalists and anti-parliamentarians held demonstrations in front of the chamber and in the boulevards. The police dispersed the crowds and made a score of arrests.
