fied. It cost too much to take our products to foreign countries and left but a small margin for the producer.

Now the cry is raised again that we are being robbed by the tariff. It is up to the voters to say whether they want a repetition of the experience between 1833 and 1887, when the factories were closed and the workmen were idle.

The present administration has been doing things. The interstate commerce commission will do justice between the shipper and the railroad. The tariff has been modified. Any country discriminating will be discriminated against. Our goods will go on equal terms to other countries or the law will be used.

SALT LAKE COUNTY SAFELY REPUBLICAN

THERE are abundant indications that Salt Lake county will go Republican again next Tuesday. The belief is general that the Republican victory in the county at the coming election will exceed that of two years ago. This belief is based upon knowledge of conditions last night, and as they have been for many days. The vote in the county two years ago

The reason for the evident intention of the voters of Salt Lake county to support the Republican ticket is, principally, a desire to retain in office the sort of county administration that the people are now enjoying, and to keep the control of Salt Lake county away from the men who have looted the taxpayers of Salt Lake of three millions of dollars in five

The splendid country roads, the well-lighted thoroughfares throughout the county, the financial policy of the county administration in reducing the county debt, the manner in Speaker at Murray Charges Grant Says That Prominent which the county has steadily progressed without any increase in the tax levy, aids the desire of the voters that this state of affairs shall continue.

The Salt Lake City voters who will cast their ballots next Tuesday have seen a net increase of the tax levy in five years of 18.5 mills. and they are going to see to it that it is not repeated in Salt Lake county. Many people who are content to have Tribune rule in the city are not disposed to give it the county also. In short, the voters who want good government in the county are going to vote the Republican ticket. The idea of having a Tribune county assessor who could raise the assessed valuation in the city and the county ten or twelve millions of dollars next year does not appeal to them. The Tribune candidate for county assessor has made the statement that property outside the city in the county is valued too low, and that he means to raise it, as well as city property.
