CHECK BORROWERS

CREDIT INFORMATION TO BE COLLECTED FOR NATIONAL BANK EXAMINERS.

System to be Installed Expected to be a Check on the Borrowings Which Will Make It Extremely Hazardous for the Dishonest Individual.

Washington.—A tentative system of collecting credit information for the benefit of the national bank examiners with the compilation and checking up of the commitments of large local and extended borrowers has been formulated by a committee of examiners who have been meeting at the treasury department.

Every examiner hereafter will keep for his own use a complete file of all large and extended borrowers in his district, which list will be sent to the treasury department for summarizing.

The machinery available by the comptroller of the currency will be put to work to gather such credit information as can be obtained from national banks and from state banks and trust companies located in states where there is already co-operation between the federal and state banking officials.

The examiners will not divulge the name of the bank where a line of the credit is found on an extended borrower, their special reports giving the total only of the loans listed. These lists are entirely confidential.

It is expected that the knowledge that a hundred or more men will be keeping a constant check on the borrowings will make it extremely hazardous for the dishonest individual, firm or corporation to get money from the national banks.
