CUBA IS FREE.

Constitution in Effect Under the People and Under Spain's Representation.

Senor Palma attached his signature to a document as president of the Cuban republic after an exchange of congratulations in the audience chamber of the palace at noon Tuesday.

Like an echo of the cheers that arose, came the distant boom of one of the great guns of Havana fortress, across the bay. It was followed by another and another in rhythmic succession, until forty-five shots had been fired, one for each state in the Union.

As the first gun spoke, the flags on Morro-castle and those on the Santa Clara and Punta fortresses were lowered. The jurisdiction of the United States had ended.

In the meantime, a Cuban flag had been hoisted on the balcony of the palace Sagrado and with his own hands General Wood raised it as an act of the United States. General Brown assisting him. As the flag flew free, the streets below fairly waved with the cheer that arose. It was caught up by the people on the roofs and rolled over the city.

Again the cavalry below saluted, and again the guns of the Cuban republic, this time with a national salute of twenty-one guns. The bands also saluted on the plaza, at Colman and at Malson, washed out with pride of country, and the revenue cutters and battleships in the harbor thrummed their strength of war. The foreign warships hoisted the flag of Cuba at their main-masts. The vessels of Great Britain and Italy had recognized the republic.

General Wood and his adjutant general, Col. Scott, with two aides, after a last exchange of good wishes, were driven to the pier where they entered a launch and were flanked away to the Brooklyn. Both ships got under way as soon as possible and steamed out of the harbor. The man at the tiller of the Brooklyn was kept busy dipping the flag in answer to the salutes of the thousands upon the water, front who watched her departure. A large flotilla of various water craft escorted the Brooklyn to sea.

While this was occurring at Havana, a similar scene was being enacted at the bay, where General Wood's aide Cuban successor and sailed away with two troops of the Eighth cavalry. Only eight batteries of American artillery remained on Cuban soil. A chapter of American history was ended and the first chapter of the republic of Cuba was begun.

PLEDGE IS FULFILLED.

Yvonne of Cuban exile to Make Citizens Free in Homeland.

Secretary Day, according to the plan arranged some time ago, took the final step Tuesday of acquitting the nation of the globe that the United States government has redeemed its solemn pledge to make a free people in the island of Cuba. This was done by the signing by cable to every capital where there is resident either an ambassador or a minister of the United States of an identical note informing other governments that the military occupation of Cuba by the United States has ceased, and that an independent republic has been inaugurated there, under the presidency of Thomas Estrada Palma. The ambassadors and ministers are instructed to convey this information to the government to which they are accredited.

PEOPLE OF FOUR OR FRENCH TROOPS STRICKEN.

Tuesday morning at 1:30 o'clock a thick, heavy cloud, lit up by flashes of lightning and the rising sun, rose from Mount Pelic. The 20,000 people of that town, who were gathered in the square, and in front of the cathedral, through the streets of the town, shrieking and praying. Since from the volcano as big as giant water fell in the streets.

Many of the inhabitants hurriedly embarked on the vessels in the harbor, and it was with difficulty that they were eventually reassured.

Eighty-Two Bodies Recovered From Tennessee Mine.

Up to midnight Wednesday eighty-two bodies had been taken from Fraxville mine at Coal Creek, Tenn., the scene of the catastrophe in which 77 miners perished.

Hearing the warning bell on the cash register, he started for the front, when the robber shot him. The shooting was heard by several people near by.

EXPLOSION IN A COAL MINE.

TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE MEN KILLED IN A TENNESSEE COLLIER.

Of the Entire Number of Men and 200 Were Not to Work in the Mine, But the Cause Not Clear, and a Study Reported by Coal Mine.

Between 115 and 225 men and 200 were not to work in the mine, but the cause not clear, and a study reported by Coal Mine.

Of the large number of men and 200 who went to work in the mine, only one is alive, and he is so badly injured that he cannot live. This man is William Morgan, an aged Englishman, who was a coalman in the mine. He was blown out of the entrance by the force of the explosion.

The Fraxville mine is the most on the Coal Creek, Tenn., district, having been opened in 1870. It is 20 1/2 miles from the opening of the mine to the point where the men were at work. They had not been at work long before the terrible explosion occurred. There was a fearful roar, and then flames shot from the entrance of the air shaft.

Recess parties were at work in a short time, but no lives could be saved. Every man had perished.

WORK OF WIND IN TEXAS.

Ninety-Eight People Killed and One Injured and Three Injured at Galveston.

The latest reports from Galveston, Texas, state that ninety-eight persons were killed and 100 injured by the tempest which passed over that city Sunday afternoon. The property loss in the city and surrounding country still probably reach $200,000. The first sweep of the storm from east to west annihilated 150 stores and residences.

The tornado, which was preceded by a terrific downpour of hail, lasted only a few minutes. The hailstones drove the people into their houses, where they were caught when the death-dealing wind came upon them with terrific force, leveling everything in its path.

The tornado swept an area 300 miles wide for a distance of a mile and a half. Homes collapsed as if built of cardboard, covering the dead and injured with debris, which necessarily made the work of rescue slow.

DEAD AT ST. PIERRE.

First Official Estimate Places Number at 20,000.

The first official estimate of the results of the explosion of Mount Pelee has been announced. This gives 20,000 as the number of people killed in the ruins of St. Pierre. Six women and persons were rescued by steamships or fled to places of safety. Three thousand probably were drowned. This is the most complete estimate made so far. Mount Pelee continues to throw up large quantities of stones, which are covering the country districts of the island.

Attempted to Assassinate Emperor Francis Joseph.

The correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle at Budapest reports the frustration of a plot against the life of Emperor Francis Joseph. The Emperor was recently going on eight train from Vienna to Budapest. It was the final inspection of the imperial train at the junction of the state railroad at Vienna, made by six minutes before his majesty's arrival there, a bomb covered with paper was found in the emperor's compartment. It was calculated that this bomb would explode the moment his majesty entered the car. An investigation of the matter led to the discovery of several railroad employees.

Yard in Houston by Train.

The scene in executive session Monday night on the proposition to condemn the construction of a Y. B. Test for the Louisiana, Idaho, and Ohio. It is said that Senator Thomas carried the fight into the floor of the senate at the session committee had made a favorable report upon the proposition. Certain parties had filed protests against the appointment, which were supported by Senator Dubois. The presumption is that National Comptroller Starnell will ask for the appointment of another man immediately.

Robert Dudding, Doctor of Whittier, and Pupils Have Narrow Escape.

A fire in Whittier, coming from the southeast, passed over St. Joseph's, Monday afternoon, wrecking the roof of the Garfield school building, raising many small outbuildings and doing much damage. At the Garfield school, which is located in the fashionable residence section of the city, 500 pupils and children escaped as if by a miracle and ran out unharmed into the rain, which attained almost the proportions of a deluge.

Shooting on Entire Family.

Created by his infatuation for Miss Anita McCulloch, a thoroughly capable girl, William Austin, aged 28, killed the girl and four other persons and then committed suicide in the farmhouse of William Williams near Hastings, Florida. The crime was discovered by John Keller, who found the six corpses scarcely cold, and the only living witness to the tragedy, a helpless infant. Austin had been quarreling with the McCulloch girl, and it is said, killed the family because his advances were rejected.

NEGROES USE GATLING GUN IN FIGHT WITH POLICEMEN.

Democratic Party Members Seize and Occupy Result in Death of Eight Persons.

An effort by officers of the law at Atlanta, Ga., to arrest negro rioters, who had barricaded themselves in a store, resulted in a riot in which eight men were killed, including three policemen, a white citizen and four negroes, and six persons, black and white, were wounded. An entire block of buildings was burned before the conflict ended.

The scene of the tragedy was on McDonough street, a few hundred yards outside the city limits. The police first attempted to raid the place where the negroes had taken refuge, and later the city police were called upon for aid. Still later the governor was appealed to and the military was ordered out.

In the barricaded store were three negroes. The store was a small annex, in which were a number of Winchbear rifles and a small gatling gun. It was a rendezvous for a gang of thieves and murderers. Within were sharpshooters, who picked off men on the outside with precision and deadly effect. Every time a man showed himself he was shot to death.

The looting was finally brought into regulation and amidst flames was heard the crack of rifles. The flames accomplished what the bullets failed to do. Two members of the gang rushed out to death, and the other, the leader, was burned, after his body had been riddled with bullets.

Before the riot was ended, three officers had fallen with sides in their hands, four negroes were killed and many others wounded.

During the whole affair at least 200 shots were fired. Citizens had joined the police, armed with shotguns and rifles.

PLOT AGAINST KING OF SPAIN.

Scheme of Anarchists to Murder Alfonso is Dropped in the End.

An Anarchist plot against King Alfonso has been discovered and six arrests, including that of Gabriel Lopez, an employee of an insurance company, have been made. Dynamite cartridges were found on the premises where Lopez was arrested.

Lopez says he received a package of cartridges from another Anarchist with instructions to throw them at the moment of the passage of the royal carriage in Saturday's procession.

The discovery of the plot against the king is confirmed by the newspapers in Madrid. It is now said that nine dynamite cartridges were seized.

Further arrests have been made, and the prisoners include six medical attendants, a printer, a carpenter and a seamster.

PERISH IN CYCLONE.

Ninety People Reported Killed in Storm Which Visits Texas.

A disastrous cyclone swept over Texas Sunday, causing great loss of life and almost incalculable damage to property. The cyclone is believed to have originated on the Gulf coast at a point almost directly south of Galveston, and traveled in a westerly direction as far as Kentucky. It left destruction behind it in four states, but Texas seems to have suffered more than the others. A special from Galveston says: Ninety are dead; 128 wounded. In addition there is a gaping wound in the town—the path of one of the most destructive cyclones ever known in Texas.

FATAL FIRE IN A REFINERY.

SEVEN LIVES LOST, GIRLS AND FIREMEN BEING THE VICTIMS.

The Armour Lead Refinery, at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, is Burned, and Seven Hundred Employees Here Narrow Escape.

During the progress of a fire which destroyed the lead refinery of Armour & Company, in the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, seven lives were lost, seven of them in a manner which will probably cause death in a short time. The loss of the refinery is estimated by its officers at between $700,000 and $800,000, with all the chances in favor of the latter figure.

There were a number of accidents, but by far the largest number of those who were hurt met their injuries by the falling of the long run-way, upon which they were standing to obtain a better view of the fire.

The lead refinery had just been completed, and was considered by its owners the most complete establishment of its kind in the United States. It stood at the intersection of Forty-third street and Center avenue, and was five stories high and 250 to 300 feet long. It was filled with new and costly machinery and during the day 2,000 people worked within its walls.

The night shift numbered 700, and all of them were in the building when the fire broke out. It is thought all escaped in safety, although the time allowed some of them was exceedingly brief.

The fire originated with an explosion of three lead tanks on the fifth floor of the building. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but the three tanks, which were filled with boiling lead, went up with a roar almost in the same instant. There were a score of workmen in the immediate vicinity of the tanks, and a number of them were burned by the scalding lead, but none were seriously injured. It was not a minute after the explosion before the entire fifth floor was a mass of flames.

Despite the utmost efforts of the fire department the flames spread through the entire building, and within an hour after the commencement of the fire all walls, with the exception of that on the south, were lying on the ground.
