A Whole Side of Our Beef

Would not be too much for you if your capacity were equal to your desire. The only fault in our meats is that they induce overeating. They are so fine a flavor, so tender and juicy that you hate to quit eating as long as there is any more meat to be had. Try some instead of a tonic. Its nicer and surer.

Should the Electric Lights Be Kept On All Night?

Following are reasons from prominent residents of our city, setting forth why the city should keep the lights burning all night. If you wish to sign a petition to that effect, one can be found at this office, and the same will be presented to the City Council on Monday, June 1st. Remember, if you want the all-night service, come in and sign the petition, and be quick about it, or forever hold your peace. Read what follows:

Editor Times.—The only argument in favor of shutting off the lights at 1 o'clock is because it saves the city a little money. But it seems to me that the reasons in favor of an all-night service are so great that the question of a few dollars expense ought not to be considered at all.

A city is really a great corporation in which the citizens are stockholders. What the stockholders want is to get the most out of the money which they invest. Now, as far as getting as much out of our investment as we should when the citizens who have paid for an electric light system must keep lamps constantly burning and filled during one-third of the year, in order to be prepared for an emergency. Suppose a case of severe sickness should arise and just at the critical moment the lights go out, the result might be disastrous to the extent.

What we want is an all-night service all the year round.

A TAYLOR.

Editor Times.—As a subscriber to your valuable paper, I wish to express my views in regard to keeping the lights burning all night. The people of Coalville voted and bonded for electric lights, expecting an all night service. Everybody has become used to them and would not be without them, and when once duty compels him to go out upon the streets after 1 o'clock in the morning he finds himself up a tree and don't know what minute he might fall from it, that is about the way it is. There has also been an attempt at housebreaking since the lights have been shut off early. It may be somewhat more expensive but I believe the majority of our people favor an all-night service and should be given a chance to express their opinion, and when the opinion of the public is heard, it will sound like a shout for service.

A COALVILLE TOWN RESIDENT.

requires 320 cars, for the cement will weigh 1200 tons, or 2,700,000 pounds. This will necessitate the use of sixteen trains of twenty cars each. It is the largest contract ever made for cement in connection with an irrigation plant. To haul this great mass of cement from the railroad to the dam site, a distance of thirty miles, will require 800 wagons and 800 horses.

There will be a dance in the Opera House tomorrow, Saturday night.

We haven't received any news from Echo, Posa and Oakley recently. What's the matter?

Mrs. James Salmon and Mrs. Frank Rippon were in Henefer to attend the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Dearden, on Tuesday.

We are still enjoying winter weather in this neck of the woods. The snow storm the forepart of the week was a good one.

A number of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barber tendered the latter a surprise last Monday evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth. Games were indulged in, and several selections were rendered on the phonograph. Ice cream and cake was served at 11. Those present were: Messrs and Mesdames Wm. H. Carruth, Jos. H. Barber, J. D. Barber, L. E. Duffin, N. J. Peterson, John Stones, Mrs. F. M. Chester, Mrs. M. A. Chester and Thos. Chester.

A telephone message was received by J. L. Hayden from the city marshal at Rock Springs, Wyo., stating that a man had died there, the only thing of identification were two medicine cartons with the Hayden label on. A note by the name of Moore was in the city the forepart of last week, and asked the city marshal for a bed which was given him. The man was pretty badly battered up by thugs near Morgan, according to his story, and appeared. He wasn't very well and City Physician Pate was called and prescribed for him, that is how the cartons were found on his person. The man claimed to have hailed from Rawlins, Nev.

The ball game last Saturday was the best seen on the diamond at the city park in many years. The second team of Evanston excelled late with a picked team from this vicinity, which we will term the "Blue Birds," as we named that proposition for his team, and in all probability Morgan will soon see the glare of the electric lights on their streets and in their homes, a thing that we have enjoyed for the past two years and a half.

After an absence of thirty-six years from Coalville, David Frew, a wealthy farmer of Concord, Neb., returned to take a look at this town of his childhood. "Things have changed considerable in the past thirty-six years," said Mr. Frew. "There were no houses on this side of Chalk Creek to speak of, excepting on Main street. Many of the old-timers are alive, however. In fact nothing except a few old log houses look natural to me."

Mr. Frew was only fourteen years of age when his father died and he left here going to Illinois to work in the coal mines. Later he went to Nebraska, where he took up a farm. He now has six acres of land under cultivation, which he has let out on shares, bringing him in a nice income. Mr. Frew came to Utah to visit relatives and friends he has seen in all those years. He was up to the cemetery Tuesday trying to locate the grave of his father, but said it was impossible to do so. He will visit in Ogden and Salt Lake before returning to his home in Nebraska.

A session of the District Court was held here Monday by Judge Hilditch, and the following matters attended for:

Estate of Joseph Durkin, deceased; final account approved and distribution of estate ordered.
Estate of John Tighe, deceased; sale of personal property confirmed.
Mrs. Robert Mills vs. O. S. L. R. R. Co.; non-jury cases were set for trial on the 10th as follows:
Zion's Savings Bank & Trust Co. vs. Jess W. & Ruth M. Fox.
Janet McCollough vs. John Beck et al.
If all of the above cases are tried court will be in session about two weeks.
