O. A. NELSON, Proprietor.

Alexander, the optician, Hotel Kiesel. Hours 12 to 1:30 and 4 to 8.

Ephraim Shelton, postmaster at Mendon, is building a new residence for himself.

Misses Emma and Olive Sandberg of Cannon were in Logan Saturday. They brought a younger sister to the N. J. A.

Wilkinson's business building on North 1st West is rapidly nearing completion. There are several small rooms, and one large room.

Prof. Vernon of the B. Y. C. faculty is having erected a residence at the northeast corner of 2nd North and 1st East. It is a desirable location.

O. A. Nelson has been fixing up his barber shop, "The Palace," in an up-to-date shape. A new cement floor and bath tubs are recent additions.

Mr. E. M. Johnson, with Van Sant & Chamberlain, Salt Lake City, is in Logan for a few days doing piano tuning for Thatcher Bros.' establishment.

We made a mistake last week in saying that Prof. Anderson's wife accompanied him as he sang in the Gates concert. Instead, the accompanist was Miss Ragnell Jensen, recently from Christiana, Norway, a young lady of superior musical education now located in Logan. She is a graduate of the Christiana conservatory of music and is recommended to prospective scholars as a woman of culture and refinement, and great success as an instructor.

Rev. N. E. Clemenson went to Preston last Thursday afternoon as the guest of Rev. Waller and delivered a discourse in the new Presbyterian church during the evening. Rev. Waller is the minister in charge of the Gentle Valley district, but became seriously interested in Preston, and in the last twelve months raised the money to build both a church and manse. This building was opened on Thursday evening for the first time. The church will probably be dedicated Oct. 1st, and a church organization effected. This is but another example of "where there's a will, there's a way."

On the 1st of this month Mr. Zeph Thomas opened up in Salt Lake City a Debenture Savings Bank, to be run in connection with his bank at this place. Mr. Thomas had been contemplating this move for some time, and his business at Salt Lake became so large that the new establishment is practically a necessity. The bank is located in a splendid room two doors east of the Kenyon hotel. Mr. Thomas informs us that the new bank will in no way interfere with the business of the Logan bank.

Sowers, one of the oldest of the Utah Indians and a prominent man of his tribe, died on the reservation a few days ago, and in accordance with a custom in vogue among the Indians, his best horses were led up to the dead warrior's wickiup and killed that he might have them to ride over the hills and vales of the happy hunting grounds. Sower had been a lover of fast horses and owned some that were very valuable. Among the horses that were shot was one for which he recently paid $350.—Price Advocate.

We have heard it suggested by different business men that the thing most needed by them is a Merchants Association. There are various matters such an association could arrange more satisfactorily to themselves and to their customers, and with but little trouble. We understand that there are two evils, especially that might be remedied by concerted action, besides the adoption of rules and regulations for mutual protection. It is said that the merchants and business men generally have prices up rather high largely because of a disposition on the part of customers to want to "Jew" them down. This is a rather pernicious practice and one that could be remedied. With a merchants association it would also be possible for each member to know whom to trust and for how much. There need be no continued losses on the part of any merchant. And again it is said that business men instead of patronizing each other are inclined to send off for goods when it is found that a few cents can be saved. A Merchants Association designed to correct such evils and others of like nature would certainly prove beneficial.

The addition to the Sidney Stevens Implement house goes ahead but slowly as does various other business buildings. Inability to secure material and workmen has caused numerous and aggravating delays in the building line the past summer.

An Idaho paper records the recent marriage near Preston, of Miss Jane Weeks to Mr. Thomas Day, and adds: "A day is gained, a week is lost—but time cannot complain; for soon there will be days enough to make a week again."

Pres. Wm. C. Parkinson of the Hyrum Stake was in Logan Tuesday. Mr. Parkinson is mentioned as a very prominent candidate for the treasurer nomination, subject to the county convention, but he says he is doing nothing to secure this honor. If his friends want him to have it, he will accept and do all that he can to be elected.

Mr. Eber Smith, for ten years a competent and valued salesman for the Consolidated Wagon and Machine Co., this city, is now with the R. Lafount & Sons Hardware Store. Mr. Smith enjoys an excellent reputation as a hardware man and no doubt his friends will be pleased to see him at his new place. During the past six months he has been at the Montpelier branch of the Consolidated Co.

The new addition to the Eagle Hotel is practically finished and with other improvements makes this establishment one of the most commodious in the state outside of Salt Lake City. The success of the Eagle from the time of its opening has been phenomenal, and this new edition will hardly provide room for the business in prospect. The entire building now contains about one hundred guest rooms, three large business rooms, and six sample rooms; also a large dining room on the second floor. The hotel contains all modern improvements and is conducted on such a scale as to make it a very popular hostelry.

As we have stated before, The Republican is making little or no effort to chronicle local news happenings at the present time. Until our presses are installed so as to enable us to get out a semi-weekly, thus giving you the news fresh and up-to-date, it is hardly worth while to look after the local side of affairs, other than the political situation. Such news items as come to us in the course of our rounds among the business men, we are pleased to mention, but are making no effort to cover the field. Our presses should have been here at this time, according to agreement, and we doubt not that they will have reached us before another week. Kindly withhold criticism until we are in shape to cover the field as we have promised, and then if we fail, let loose any criticism you please.

Among the Schools.

One of the teachers in the Benson school recently told her children to imagine themselves any animal and then to write a little story. She allowed them fifteen minutes and for children of the fourth grade some showed remarkable cleverness. Here is one from a little girl:

"I am a cat. My name is Fanny. I kill the rats and the mice, I like to drink milk. I like birds to eat. I have soft fur. When people pet me the wrong way I let out sparks. When children have strings I love to play with it. When mean boys set their dogs at me I get mad and growl and make a thick tail. My eyes are very bright."
SUSIE JERKIN.

A certain prominent educator of the city has a son in this school. This son wrote as follows:

"I am a louse. My father died and my mother and all of my sisters. I was the only one that lived. Before they died we lived in a little girl's head. When they had died I did not like to live there so I made up my mind to move—then I traveled for a long ways. Then I came to a boy's head and had a lot of babes. This boy's name I found out one day after, his name was Joseph James. Soon after when I got settled the boy got sick and they had to get the doctor. He put some medicine on his head that killed all of us and I died."
JOHNNIE JONES.

The A. C. U. has a registration at present that is far ahead of the registration in November last year. The same is true of the B. Y. C. This is certainly gratifying to the heads of these institutions, and it should be none the less so to the entire citizenship of Logan and Cache county. It is a condition that shows the valley to be more alive than ever to the value of educational advantages, and that the awakened interest is of a substantial nature. When it is considered that each student at either of these institutions spends in Logan an average of $200 during the school year, this unprecedented growth in numbers should be and no doubt is a source of gratification to the business men of the city. An enrollment of 1000 means the expenditure of $200,000 a year, and this is distributed rather equally among the different business houses. If the business men were alive to their opportunities they would be making every effort to aid these schools in securing a larger scholarship. They would see that there were plenty of good places where the students could room and board, and would offer every other reasonable inducement for students to come here rather than go to Salt Lake or Provo. These schools are all that Logan has that is worthy of mention and should be accorded every help possible. More scholars and more professors means more money for Logan business men—and greater than that, it means that the valley is working up to a higher intellectual plane.

At the New Jersey Academy last Friday evening Miss Kate S. Smith, preceptress, was the victim of a surprise party, carefully arranged and successfully carried out to a happy termination by the girl students of the school, and even at this time Miss Smith has hardly recovered sufficiently to know just where she "at." The girls had issued invitations to the various teachers and a very few friends, who gathered at the Academy at eight o'clock Friday evening and, while the unsuspecting victim was being entertained in an upstairs room by friends who were in the plot, slipped into Miss Smith's parlor and there quietly awaited her appearance. A few minutes later Miss Smith, wholly unsuspecting, came bustling into the room—and then wilted. She was completely surprised and promptly went through all the expressions and gyrations usual on such occasions. She had hardly recovered from the first shock when Miss Martha Bergerner stepped forward and in a few well chosen words presented her with a beautiful opal ring as a token of the honor and esteem in which she is held by the students—and then the victim's collapse was complete. But there was more even yet, for after a season of pleasant conversation the victim and guests were invited to the spacious dining room to partake of ice cream and cake. After punning on a pansy favor, one of which was at each plate, Miss Smith expressed herself as being as happy as she ever was in her life, and later in the evening in an overflow of spirits she insisted that in twelve or fifteen years of such work as is hers at present, she had never had such pleasant students to care for, such excellent teachers to live with nor such altogether satisfactory surroundings as is her position in the New Jersey Academy. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone, especially by the girls who planned and carried out the surprise. Those present were as follows: Mrs. I. N. Smith, Mrs. N. E. Clemenson, Mrs. Stover, Misses Smith, DeGraff, Raymond, Jensen, Reed, Elliott, Cassidy, Grace Fredrickson, Gertrude Koons, Hazel Davis, Martha Bergerner, Claire Snyder, Amanda Berg, Christine Larson, Edna Caldwell, Chloe Harris, Grace Straight, Sionia Ferguson, Margaret Jensen, Myrtle West, Sylvestine West, Anna Moench, and Messrs. N. E. Clemenson, H. L. Hell and N. R. Moore.

While standing in the Postoffice Sunday we heard two girls aged about twelve or fourteen discussing the merits of their respective teachers, and the part that interested us was a eulogy of Mrs. Kerr, principal at the Benson, by the one with auburn tresses. "I think she is one of the best teachers in town, and I just love her, so much that I could go to school to her on Sunday," quoth this maiden, and proceeded to go into such ecstasies as girls of this age can. It gives us pleasure to chronicle this little incident, for we too have occasion to believe that Mrs. Kerr is as delightful a woman as one would care to meet. During July she chaperoned a crowd of these awful Gentiles on a two weeks camping expedition at Bear

Lake, and we all without exception fell in love with her admirable qualities. Personally, we have little doubt of her success as a principal and instructor, and believe that her auburn haired pupil has a discernment that is a credit to her.

The other day one of our teachers assigned "Breathing" to a certain fourteen year old scholar as a subject for an essay and the following was the result:

"Breath is made of air. We breathe with our lungs, our lights, liver and kidneys. If it wasn't for our breath we would die when we sleep. Our breath keeps the life a going through our nose while asleep. Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe, they should wait until they get out of doors. Girls kill the breath with corsets and squeeze the diagram. Girls can't holler or run like boys because their diagram is squeezed too much. If I was a girl I would rather be a boy, so I can holler and run and have a great big diagram."

The Beacon Light club was organized at the B. Y. Tuesday afternoon by a number of Logan ladies. Prof.

Vernon addressed the meeting on "An Introduction to the Age of Tennis," and Mrs. Jane Thatcher entertained the gathering with a vocal selection. This mention of voice isn't the last we shall hear of this literary club.

City Primary.

The Democratic primary for the Logan precinct was held at the court house Tuesday evening. According to the vote there were 37 present. The meeting was called to order by Chairman T. H. Cutler and H. Hayball was chosen as the chairman and J. A. Langton as secretary of the meeting. Ewin W. Smith was nominated for Justice of the Peace and Geo. D. McCulloch for constable. The meeting then proceeded to the election of a precinct chairman which resulted in the selection of James A. Langton. The meeting then adjourned. It seems the impression was out that W. H. King, Democratic nominee for Congressman was to address this meeting, but he was saved for Wednesday's meeting, the county convention which met at the court house at 11 a. m.
