

JOE TARBET SUICIDES

And Cremates himself in Slaughter House.

Saturday afternoon the Knowles' slaughter house west of Logan burned, and in stirring up the debris the remains of a charred human body was found.

The fire at the slaughter house was discovered by Mr. Knowles himself, who was visiting his mother in the west part of the city Saturday afternoon.

The party "nosed" around the fire for some time, but finally all left with the exception of Mr. Knowles and some of his boys.

The body was badly burned and was recognized when brought to the city by means of a knife found near the body.

Monday afternoon an inquest was held. L. R. Martineau, Geo. I. Farnes and Thomas H. Smith were the persons chosen.

Heard in Passing.

A certain popular dentist of Logan, more easily distinguishable by his jolly, rotund countenance and absence of cranial adornment, had in mind the renting of a certain nicely furnished, well-situated and altogether home-like home.

Arizona, a day or so ago, and this seems to Foster the idea entertained by the c. p. d. Yet 'tis reported that a dove's-cote in Logan canyon will shelter this couple upon their return.

Salt Lake papers tell of Kittie Beck-Mack's propensity, mania in fact, for hose and dilates at length on the quantity she has in stock.

The people here are looking forward to the erection of a new opera house, which has been needed for some time. The proper authorities have the matter in charge and we expect to have a respectable amusement hall, one that will be a credit to the city.

Monday evening the younger element of the town had a social gathering at Miss Polly Gunnell's. Those present were Misses Maggie Walters, Edna Jones, Elva Murray, Bertha Poppleton and Barbara Maughan.

As a sort of farewell to bachelorhood, Mr. E. P. Bacon, he who has flown to the south land in search of a mate, gave a stag party to a few intimates last Saturday evening.

When Bacon left Monday at noon, a few of his friends decided to give him a surprise, and they did. It was the intention to label his baggage properly while it was still at the Eagle and Bacon taking his last meal, but the wily gentleman suspected such a scheme and had his baggage sent to the station early in the day.

WELLSVILLE, HYDE PARK

And Franklin to the Front with news.

Wellsville.

The health of the people in this part of Cache County is good with few exceptions. Mrs. Walter Glenn is very sick and Daniel W. Jones, who has been very sick for the last month, is improving nicely now and we hope to see him out within a few days.

There arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Maughan a fine daughter. Guy says that with such a charm in his home he can play ball this year and help win the championship of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Maughan are also parents of a fine daughter which arrived at their home last week.

A social party has been organized here for the purpose of bringing the bachelors, old-maids, widows and widowers together for matrimonial purposes, but so far have met with no success.

Two of our energetic young men, William and John Brencilly, are erecting a fine shop for the purpose of doing general blacksmithing work, buying out Wm. Murray from the firm of Murray and Brencilly.

Monday evening the younger element of the town had a social gathering at Miss Polly Gunnell's. Those present were Misses Maggie Walters, Edna Jones, Elva Murray, Bertha Poppleton and Barbara Maughan.

IGLEHART AND LOVEY

Tell About Cartoons and Cartoonists.

The Iglehart-Lovey lecture and "chalk talk" at the A. C. of U. Saturday evening was a treat. Iglehart is manager of the Salt Lake Herald, and while his forte is not public speaking, he gave a brief history of cartoons and the cartooning idea in a most interesting way.

Mr. Iglehart said that cartooning really began with the pictured stories of early days which we now find on ancient masonry, tablets, etc. His growth has been a natural result of need for wider and broader expression in a few words.

"The English was developed cartoonists us did the civil war, and today "Punch" and "Life" are making history more certainly than any other agency. Nast's cartoons were more potent than any editorial, and that great artist seldom used more than a line to explain his meaning.

In Mr. Iglehart's opinion the greatest cartoon ever made was that of Sir John Tannehill of England at the time Bismarck, of Germany, retired. This represented a "ship of state" with Bismarck just departing in a small boat.

The cartoon was a wonderful success. Instead of thousands of insulting letters, Dewey soon received as many favorable letters and most containing the cartoon. It saved the day and kept Dewey with us.

Lovey's demonstrations with the pencil were thoroughly appreciated. The cartoonist has a dry humor as well as a facile pencil and fertile mind and in a very short space of time had the audience in an uproar.

The cartoonist also took for subjects such public characters as Kearns, David B. Hill, Wm. Glasmann, Senator Smoot and Mayor Robinson. Mr. Lovey presented his favorite and only satisfactory cartoon of Kearns that gentleman's back.

His pictures of Glasmann as the artist sees him and as "Bill" thinks himself were thoroughly amusing. When Glasmann was a clerk in the Legislature, Lovey cartooned him, and presented the top of William's bald pate as having a decided "dip" in it.

Mr. Lovey was also particularly successful in his cartoons of the "hobo," and one of a Jew, evolved from three balls which were finally merged into a ball and a nose, brought down the house.

During the evening, Prof. Anderson gave a selection on the piano, and N. R. Moore, and Melvin Ballard sang. Mr. Ballard was compelled to respond. After the program in the chapel there was a dance in the college gymnasium, to which many of the audience repaired.

Pretty Strict.

"Speaking of discipline" says J. J. Holland, business manager of Richards & Pringle's Minstrels, while in the city advertising his show for their appearance at the Thatcher Opera house Saturday evening.

For that reason we don't have many of them without money. Of course there is a spendthrift in every lot of people the size of ours. We loan them money for their immediate use, but charge them from 10 per cent to 20 per cent per week for the use of the money.

TABERNACLE SERVICES

Sunday Afternoon of Much Interest.

The Sunday afternoon meeting at the tabernacle opened with singing "Praise to the man who commuted with Jehovah," and prayer by Patriarch Parkinson.

ISRAEL STEWART

who recently returned from a mission, was the first speaker. He stated that on January 15, 1902, he started on his mission, and was assigned to the Southern States. He had labored in Alabama, Tennessee and Ohio.

The apostles of the Savior foretold that the Gospel would be taken from the earth and referred to the falling away and also of the restoration. The Apostle John when upon the Isle of Patmos, through a revelation told plainly about the gospel being restored in the Latter-days by an Angel bringing it to earth.

a returned missionary, stated: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel, because it is the power of God unto salvation. My testimony has been strengthened while upon my mission. All mankind are more or less sinful. If we expect salvation we must repent of our sins, by laying them aside. Christ said 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.' The Savior set the pattern for all men to follow: he was baptized by John, and said unless a man is born of the water and of the spirit he can not enter the kingdom of heaven. All baptisms in those days were done by immersion. In this regard the ordinances have been changed as the prophet Isaiah predicted. The Holy Ghost was also conferred in the days of the Savior by laying on of hands. There are many preachers in the world but few have divine authority. As a rule all the returned missionaries feel well because they have been doing good to others.

J. Z. STEWART

said in part, that he was born in the church, had been a student of theology, studying the principles that govern other churches beside his own, and was convinced that the power of God was with the work. We are that people that Isaiah spoke of in his 20th chapter, where the desecrated should blossom as the rose.
