DYNAMITERS LOSE APPEAL FOR TRIAL

Supreme Court Of United States Refuse To Reverse The Cases Of Frank M. Ryan And Others

Washington, March 9.—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction in the dynamiting cases of Frank M. Ryan and twenty-three other members of the Iron Workers Union. Only a pardon can now keep the convicted men from the penitentiary.

The conviction of Ryan and associates in the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers followed the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building and other structures through the country. The government sought to show that approximately one hundred different explosions had taken place as a result of the dynamite conspiracy. The sensational confessions of the McNamara attracted great attention to the cases.

The Defendants

Those who sent to have the supreme court interfere with their convictions and lost today were Frank M. Ryan, John H. Barry, Eugene A. Clancy, Michael J. Young, Frank C. Webb, Phillip A. Cooley, John T. Butler, J. E. Munsey Peter J. Smith, Charles H. Baum, Henry W. Legleiter, Edward Smythe, George Anderson, Ernest Basey, W. Burt Brown, Paul J. Morrin, William E. Reddin, Michael J. Cunnane, Michael J. Hannan, Murray L. Pennell, Frank J. Higgins, Frank E. Painter, William Shupe and Fred Mooney.

The government did not indict the labor leaders on charges of blowing up the buildings, but with conspiracy to carry explosives on interstate trains on which passengers were riding.

The prosecution of Ryan and his associates resulted from the arrest of Orlie E. McManigal in connection with the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building. One of the grounds on which the supreme court was asked to review the case was that McManigal, being a co-defendant should not have been permitted to testify against the others.

Sentences

Ryan was sentenced to seven years, Clancy, Young, Webb, Cooley, Butler and Munsey to six; Barry and Smith to four; Baum, Legleiter, Smythe, Anderson, Basey, Brown, Morrin, Reddin, Cunnane, Hannan, Pennell, three; Higgins and Painter, two; Shupe and Mooney one year and one day.

Western States Make Strong Protest

Spokesman Denies That the Situation is As Critical As the Railroad Officials Represent

Washington, March 10.—On behalf of eight western states—Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, North Dakota and South Dakota—and the National Live Stock association, Clifford Thorne, chairman of the railroad commission of Iowa presented to the interstate commerce commission a protest against the proposed increase of railroad freight rates in eastern territory.

In protesting against the increase Mr. Thorne explained that his people heartily favor the elimination of all free services and favored shipments.

Mr. Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio and his associates, Mr. Thorne said, are here demanding immediate relief from a situation which they claim is intolerable.

There is no crisis whatever in the railroad business which will prevent a denial of this five per cent advance to be followed by an intelligent orderly, fair investigation of special services.

Mr. Thorne contended that until a physical valuation of railroad properties had been made the reasonableness of returns received by the roads could not be determined.

It is true, he said, that labor costs have gone up; that some supply costs have gone up, and that some rates have gone down. On the other hand, many supply costs have gone down and many rates have gone up.

Railroading he asserted had been revolutionized in the last fifteen years and the net revenues of the railroads in the eastern territory for 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 were greater than for any preceding year in their entire history.

Last year, he said, their net revenues were more than a hundred million dollars greater than in 1900. They tell us their properties have been running down. They spent more per mile on maintenance, structures and equipment last year than for any preceding year. They are maintaining properties better than ever before.

The railroads claim that their credit has been ruined and that their securities are no longer attractive to investors. As a fact their securities sell for prices as high as those of any other companies on the market at the present time.

In support of his contentions Mr. Thorne presented to the commission elaborate data, compiled by statisticians working under his direction.

BOUDOIR CAP THAT WILL BE A BOON TO THE INVALID WEARER.

The deep frill of lace that encircles this boudoir cap makes it an ideal one for the invalid or invalid's morning wear, for it will conceal thoroughly all deficiencies in the coiffure. The surfeit of pink roses that encircles it gives a dainty touch of color to the cap.
