UTAH POWER & LIGHT CO.

"EFFICIENT PUBLIC SERVICE"

A PUNCTURED METAPHOR.

"Did you write this note to Maria?" asked the young woman's mother.
 "Yes," replied the susceptible youth.
 "And you considered it proper to remark that her teeth were pearls."
 "It's customary to say things like that."
 "Well, young man, let me tell you something. If Maria's teeth were pearls, she wouldn't be wastin' 'em on ham and cabbage an' chocolate drops. She'd string 'em an' wear 'em around her neck an' take her chances on an imitation set of household jewelry, for everyday work, from the store."

First Past the Post.
 "Yes," said the humorist, "I have great respect for the wisdom of the ancients."
 "Because why?" asked the cub reporter.
 "They were born in time to say most of the smart things before I had a chance to even think them," explained the party of the funny part.

Knew the Sex.
 He (at the theater)—This play is calculated to appeal to women.
 She—Why do you think so?
 He—The plot is full of flaws and nothing delights a woman more than an opportunity to pick them.

THE HORRORS OF WAR.

"Was a bomb dropped on the ship?"
 "Yes; but it was counterbalanced by a torpedo which exploded under her at the same moment."

Poor Thing!

There was a girl in our town
 And she was awful slack;
 She never owned a pair of shoes
 That buttoned in the back.

Watch Your Step.

Patience—How do you like Will's dancing?
 Patrice—Well, it's a little irregular.
 "How so?"
 "Sometimes he tears my dress and sometimes he doesn't."

Their Affiliation.

"See those two men across the street? They carry out the theory that birds of a feather flock together."
 "In what way?"
 "One is a jail bird and the other a stool pigeon."

Small Fine.

Bill—I see a Birmingham judge fined himself $1 for being late at court.
 Jill—It's tucky for the judge that the lawyers waiting for him didn't have the right to impose the fine.

Very Much So.

"There is an extremely paradoxical way of freezing out a man in business."
 "How's that?"
 "By hot competition."

The Sort.

"Here is a new costume which is called the kite gown."
 "I suppose the only ones to wear it will be the fashionable high-flyers."

His Favorite.

She—You like melon, do you not, Mr. Bond?
 He—Yes; especially the kind frequently cut by large corporations.

UNFORTUNATE SURVIVAL.

"So old Hiram had a hand-to-hand fight with a grizzly bear an' lived t' tell th' tale?"
 "Yes, by gum, an' that seems t' be all he lived fer!"

Advice.

My son, read this advice with care,
 For it is no mere dream;
 The man who generates hot air
 Will never get up steam.

Its Sort.

"Do you remember what the poet says about a cycle of Cathay?"
 "Is that a new make of motorcycle?"

STRONG AND WELL AS EVER

Fred Smith, Green Bay, Wis., says: "Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all soreness and pain in the back and now I am strong and well as ever." Cold weather makes aching joints, sore muscles and irregular bladder action more unbearable. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys eliminate pain causing poisons. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

IN DESPAIR.

"I give up!" exclaimed Mr. Dods-worth. "There's no use trying to please a woman."
 "Confide in me," urged Mr. Twobble, sympathetically.
 "My wife went away for two weeks and left me at home to keep house."
 "Well?"
 "I neglected my business to wash dishes and clean up, so everything would be in apple-pie order when she returned."
 "And wasn't she pleased?"
 "Umph! She looked around the well-kept rooms—if I do say it, they were as neat as a pin—and then eyeing me suspiciously, she asked, 'Henry, where did you stay while I was gone?'"

A Straight Tip.

"I hear your engagement with young Cashleigh is off?" said the first fair daughter of Eve.
 "Well, you are entitled to another hearing," answered fair daughter No. 2, as she held up a graceful hand on which a solitaire sparkled. "You see for yourself that I am still in the ring."

Between Two Evils.

Smith—Do you mean to tell me you have to labor seven days in the week?
 Brown—That's what.
 Smith—But that means you are breaking the Sabbath.
 Brown—Well, it's entirely a case of breaking the Sabbath or going broke myself.

THEY LIKED IT.

"How did the ducks like the new runway you put outside of their coop?"
 "All right; they came out flatfooted for it."

Remarkable Woman.

He went his way serenely
 And showed no trace of care.
 His wife, it seems, was never
 "Without a thing to wear."

A Moderate Request.

Creditor—Can't you pay something on account of that bill you owe me?
 Debtor (grouchily)—How much do you want?
 Creditor—Well, enough to fee a lawyer to bring suit for the balance, anyway.

A Careful Lady.

"Never leave the parrot in the room with the goldfish."
 "Very well, mum."
 "The parrot is hopeless. But I don't want the goldfish to learn to swear."

Truth About the Poor.

A great deal of undeveloped and lost talent has belonged among God's poor.

Dickens' Opportunities.

Every writer knows how limiting the mere desire for popularity can be to creative work. By having constantly to keep in mind the importance of sustaining his success, of appealing to the popular taste, Dickens was continually kept back. If he could have worked for work's sake, he might have produced far greater masterpieces than those now associated with his name. In this way he might have helped to bring popular taste to a higher level.

Chamber Music Organization at Nibley Hall

The Brahms String Quintet will render an excellent program at the concert to be given tonight at Nibley Hall as the first event of the Artists Concert Series.

This is the foremost chamber music organization in America, and lovers of music of the highest art will appreciate the work of this wonderful organization. The series of events to be presented here this season under the auspices of the Tabernacle choir and the management of Fred C. Graham, have never before been equaled in this section.

The program to be rendered tonight includes compositions of Wolf Ferrari, Adolf Tandler, Beethoven, Cesar Cui, Ole Bull, Chaminade, and Brahms.

The personnel of the organization includes, Oskar Seiling, first violin; Hermann Seidel, second violin; Rudolph Kopp, viola; Axel Simonsen, violoncello; and Homer Grunn, piano.

WINTER CARE OF STALLIONS

Probably more stallions are mistreated during the winter than during any other season of the year. Many men seem to feel that the stallion after the breeding season, can be carefully stowed away until he is required for next season's breeding. The life and usefulness of stallions can be much extended if they are given proper winter care. The horse should have sufficient nutritious feed to keep him in good condition. Usually only a small allowance of grain will be required provided good alfalfa hay is available. One of the things which is most necessary is exercise and association with other horses. If it is possible to work the stallion, so much the better, otherwise give him the run of a paddock where he can see other horses and in which some shelter is provided. For a ton horse the ration may consist of about 20 pounds of alfalfa hay and from 6 to 10 pounds of oats or a mixture of oats and bran will be found sufficient.

Household Notes

Throw away all old fruit jar rubbers. They are apt to cause fruit to spoil when used a second time.

When anything boils over on the stove cover it with salt; it will stop smoking and be easier to clean off.

Use a kerosene lamp for a reading light, if possible. The white light from electricity is very hard on the eyes.

The juices from pickled fruit improves the flavor of boiled ham if added to the water in which it is bottled.

If the bottom of granite or tin pots is greased before being placed over the fire the black will wash off easily.

When it is necessary to put coal on the fire and you want it to come up very quickly, wet it with water before putting it on.

The thick jellied water from rice is too good to throw away. It makes an excellent addition to soups, cream or vegetable.

Press cooked cereals or mashed potatoes into empty marmalade jars; when cold they can be turned out and sliced for frying.

Root vegetables which have withered can be revived by slicing off the end and placing them in cold water for a few hours.

For a bad sprain, bandage the affected part, then pour hot water mixed with two parts of vinegar, as hot as the patient can stand.

Baskets are being used to hold flowers. A basket prettily arranged makes a pleasant change for the center of the dining table.

When slipping geraniums, remember that the woody stalks cut back and set in rich soil, will make the best blooming plants.

Mice will not reopen a hole which has been filled with any mixture containing lye. Flour and lye make a good paste for the purpose.

When frying oysters try adding a little baking powder to the crumbs in which they are rolled.

The green outside leaves of the lettuce, if chopped up will add interest to the potato salad.

TIMELY HINT ON OVER EATING

Big dinners cause disturbed digestions. The stomach and bowels should not be clogged with undigested poisonous waste matter. Foley Cathartic Tablets relieve distress after eating, stop belching, banish bloating and gas on stomach, regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and tone up the liver. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Heels First Worn by Persians.

Heels were first worn on shoes in Persia, because the sands were always so hot as to burn the feet, and the heels raising the shoes from the ground were some protection. A long time after their introduction, heels became a distinctive part of the shoe or slipper.
