The ceremonies were attended by many friends of the young man and his family. Dr. E. G. Peterson of the Utah Agricultural College of this city delivered the obituary address, having been chosen on account of the close personal relationship existing between Dr. Peterson and decedent while the latter was a student at the Agricultural College. H. M. Barrett, tenor, contributed two solos, "Crownefields" and "There Is a Land," and the Lysberg arrangement "Abide With Me." ### TO THE PEOPLE OF LOGAN

October 12, 1918.

At a recent meeting of the California and Nebraska men now in training here, it was decided to thank the good people of Logan for their unbounded hospitality and limitless generosity in their treatment and entertainment of the soldiers.

It is hard for the average person to realize just what it means to a soldier a thousand miles from home and friends, to have someone take an interest in him. It makes him forget about his homesickness and gives him that state of mind which in the military, is technically known as "morale"—the feeling that he is worth about six Germans, when it comes to a real fight.

This committee on behalf of the California and Nebraska men now in training here wish to take this opportunity of expressing with deep appreciation, the many kindnesses, generosity and hospitality of the people of Logan.

Very respectfully,
BY THE COMMITTEE
From California,
ALVIN GERLACK,
HARRY R. BEVIS,
F. A. LUTZ,
From Nebraska:
O. E. DOWNEY,
T. G. CAREY,

CANDY FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

It isn't so long ago that candy was considered to be a health-ruling dissipation for children, to which parental consent was reluctantly given. Children's teeth were alleged to be at the mercy of candy and all faulty dentition was attributed to a taste for sweets. Experience, however, has proven that it was the absence of the tooth brush rather than the presence of the gum drop, that was responsible for the deterioration of the children's teeth.

Aside from our past belief, we are today confronted with the government calling for three-quarters of a million pounds of candy to feed its soldiers. The "chocolate soldier" is no longer an ironical creature of the imagination, but a two-fisted fighting fact.

Candy, which went into the war, considered by most people to be a purely non-essential luxury, has established itself today as a food product of wonderful value.

While the conservation of sugar is necessary, and therefore the food administration has asked for general curtailment to which the candy manufacturers have patriotically responded by sacrificing one-half of their requirements, the general public is now realizing that the boycott on candy, which a short time ago became a popular indoor sport for many well-meaning though misinformed people, is not at all in accord with the best interests of the country. Conserve on candy, but do not

Greatest Thing in the World.

Love has been called the greatest thing in the world, but the greatest thing in the world is not a thing at all; the greatest thing is a person. Personality is the greatest thing in the world. The greatest thing in personality is not strength of body nor strength of mind. It is strength of heart. "Clever people are as common as blackberries, the rare things to find a good one." It is not Daniel Webster's brain, but Lincoln's heart, that wins a nation's love.—Exchange
