SEVENTEENTH YEAR

SUIT AGAINST SUGAR CO.'S AND E. R. WOOLLEY

The U. S. federal trade commission have instituted proceedings against the Utah Idaho Sugar Co., the Amalgamated Sugar Co., E. R. Woolley and others on account of the supposed interference by these parties with other companies who endeavoring to establish sugar factories. The investigation began at Washington, D. C., on the 12th inst. and will likely be continued in this state at a later date.

It is said United States District Attorney W. W. Ray of Salt Lake City has for the last two years been looking up certain matters that has occurred here in Cache valley and that all the West Cache Sugar company's troubles will be thoroughly looked into.

We quote some of the complaints as found in the lengthy document of the Federal Trade Commission:

"(i) The circulation of false, misleading and unfair reports and statement that beet sugar factories of prospective competitors who were intending to erect and operate beet sugar factories would not be built and that the beet sugar factory machinery of prospective competitors would not make beet sugar."

"(j) By financing and furnishing money to secret and undisclosed agents or employees or servants for the purpose of inciting financial trouble and embarrassment to competitors and prospective competitors and by annoying and harassing competitors and prospective competitors by instituting vexatious and unjustified litigation."

"(k) By financing and furnishing money to secret and undisclosed agents or employees or servants for the purpose of purchasing or acquiring the controlling interest of, prospective competitors who were erecting beet sugar factories and intending to engage in the manufacture and sale of refined beet sugar."

Government officials followed carefully the recent suit against Hendrickson and Stohl by E. R. Woolley president of the West Cache Sugar company. Men not known as government agents watched the evidence and made note of the proceedings.

In the reply to the charges against Hendrickson and Stohl these men came forth with a reply from which we quote the following:

"Those defendants further allege upon their information and belief, that the consideration paid for the stock now standing on the books of the corporation in the name of E. R. Woolley, the acting president of the plaintiff corporation and in the name of the other acting officers of said corporation was paid by the so-called Eccles interests to-wit: By the estate of David Eccles a corporation and that said E. R. Woolley and the other acting officers of said corporation are not the actual owners of said stock for any portion thereof, nor have they any actual interest therein, and that said persons and each of them are merely the tools and agents of the said Eccles interests, or of said estate of David Eccles, a corporation; that the owners of said so-called Eccles interests to-wit, said corporation, the estate of David Eccles, well knew at the time of the incorporation of plaintiff company and some time prior thereto, that the contracts aforesaid, or purchased by plaintiff corporation from these defendants, were the sole, individual, private property of these defendants and well knew that the same were worth a large sum of money in excess of the liabilities assumed by defendants under said contracts and the said owners of the said Eccles interests prior to the organization of plaintiff company and after these defendants and become the owners of said contract with the Knight Sugar company, Limited, negotiated with these defendants for the purchase of said contract and offered to buy the same and assume the liability of defendants thereunder, and to pay defendants a profit of one hundred thousand dollars. That owners of the so-called Eccles interests well knew at the time of incorporation of plaintiff company that the said contract with the Lynch Cannon Engineering company was worth a large sum of money, to-wit, at least one hundred thousand dollars in excess of the amount of liabilities defendants had assumed under it.

"Defendants further allege, upon their information and belief that at the time said Eccles interests purchased the said so-called Knight interests they entered into a fraudulent conspiracy with the said E. R. Woolley and his associates, who now represent themselves to be the owners of the stock, so acquired by said Eccles interests to the effect that said stock should be taken over in the name of said parties as the tools and agents of said so-called Eccles interests, and that this suit should be prosecuted by the plaintiff herein under the domination and control of said E. R. Woolley and his associates, while the said stock was permitted to stand in their names for the purpose of concealing the true ownership thereof, and for the purpose of concealing the fact that the true owners of said stock knew all of the facts and details with reference to the transactions between defendants and the Knight sugar company Ltd., the defendants and the Lynch Cannon Engineering company; the defendants and the incorporators, the defendants and its board of directors and the defendants and the plaintiff corporations."

WALT MASON NEED WATCH LAURELS

A gentleman who modestly withholds his name from publication, kindly submits the effusion which follows. Apparently there is no use in saying he has encountered some one or more subscription hustlers in the Logan Republican's big circulation campaign that closes at nine o'clock next Saturday night.

"Rustling, hustling, bustling, here and there, gathering votes from everywhere. Gathering votes to make dreams come true. The Republican's candidates are a valiant crew. Nothing daunts these ladies fair, wind nor rain, nor blasts of air. They're after votes; they're out to win, and they write receipts with a satisfied grin. With a pretty "Thank you," they're on their way, looking for others who're glad to pay, a year's subscription to the Logan sheet, and read a paper that's hard to beat, and get a smile from Miss Candidate.

All in all, it's a vretty race, that's being waged by beauty, charm and grace. All have friends and admirers too, who are doing all possible to make dreams come true. Of the ladies who are racing to get a car, and gathering votes both near and far. So get in the game and help 'em win. You'll never miss the little "tin" that will pay your subscription for a year to come, and you'll have the pleasure of helping some candidate who is trying to make her dreams come true, and she'll have a much better chance, if she can count on you. So be a good sport, dig down, and come through.

FARMERS NOT TO BE REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 17.—Through their representative 600,000 American farmers and their wives Saturday declined an alliance with union labor.

By an overwhelming vote the National Grange, in annual convention here, adopted in reply to an invitation extended by Samuel Gompers for a conference in Washington, the following resolution:

"The National Grange declines your invitation for a conference in Washington December 13."

The Grange letter had been re-

U. A. C. DEFEATS FAST COLORADO ELEVEN

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 17.—High-grade team play featured the decisive win of the Utah Aggies over the University of Colorado eleven on Gamble field Saturday. The visitors earned three touchdowns to one for the Silver and Gold. Score 19 to 7.

The Utahs scored once in the first half on straight football. All the Aggie backs shared in a snappy, steady advance down the field. Falck kicked goal after touchdown.

Colorado scored in the third quarter after recovering a long onside kick which sailed over Dee's head. A few line smashes sent Costello over. The goal after touchdown was kicked.

Coach Romney's charges kept up their consistent work throughout the second half and scored twice. A brilliant 60-yard dash by Falck brought the second touchdown and a pass, Falck to Andrus scored the third.

The statistics on the game give the winners a big margin. They made first down seventeen times for 290 yards, whereas Boulder made first down twelve times for 170 yards.

The Utah Aggie team play and Louie Falck's long, dodging run featured the day's play.

Colorado tried hard to smash the visitors line, but their advances were all checked early enough to prevent trouble.

The line-up:

Colorado U.—Noggle, l. e., W. Adams, l. t., V. Adams, l. g., Franklin, c., Hogan, r. g., Muth, r. t., Brown, r. e., Schrepferman, q. b., Willard, r. h., Costello, l. h., Savage, f. b.

ferred to the committee on good of the order and after three days discussion that body late Saturday reported.

Members declare that attendance at any such conference was fraught with peril to the garage. Few voices were heard in support of the invitation and they were from western members.

It was thought by opponents that there was nothing in common between the agricultural interests and organized labor. To attend the Washington meeting, it was declared would be a tacit admission that there were mutual interests.

The report as adopted was not the one submitted by the committee. The latter was a pleading of the case of agriculture as well as a refusal of the Gompers proffer. It was signed by five of the six members of the committee. Mrs. Brouck of Washington did not sign.

Finally two substitutes were offered. The one adopted is given above.

The reason of the substitution was found in the suggestions of several speakers that the length of the report was too controversial; that it threw open the doors to any statement union labor may wish to make and so offer the beginning to an endless argument.

It was held that a mere refusal of the invitation effectually closed the case, for the present at least.

Opinion on the merits of the two answers was pretty evenly divided, however, and when it came to a vote the shorter was by a narrow margin.
