EIGHTEENTH YEAR

OF C. LUNCHEON AT WIGWAM THURSDAY

The next monthly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will take place at the Wigwam next Thursday evening January 6th at 7 o'clock sharp. The entertainment committee has arranged for an illustrated lecture of the Zion National Park and Bryce's canyon, by Dr. J. N. Broadus, optician of Salt Lake City. This was the only date available which accounts for the short notice.

Dr. Broadus has a very fine lecture with illustrated scenes and every Utah should by all means see the views and hear the lecture on the principal scenic wonders of Utah. Next week Dr. Broadus is going east to give the same lecture in a number of the large cities. Utah must be sold to the people of Utah first and this lecture with the beautiful views is one good way of selling Utah to its people and getting them enthused over its wonders. As a rule we are too modest in saying enough about our wonders and as a result very few people, comparatively speaking, know very little about us. The tourist traffic means more to California, Colorado and Florida than any other one thing. It would mean much more to Utah if the people in Utah would but look around and become enthused and shout a little more for their state.

Those who desire seats for the luncheon and lecture should notify the secretary of the Chamber at once so the necessary reservations can be made. The dinner and lecture will be over in time for those who desire to attend the show at the Lyric theatre. The lecture and scenes come very highly recommended. Every member should make a special effort to attend.

Service Star Legion, Ut. Division Roy Roy Dewitt Chapter will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 6th, at 3 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. All the ladies of Logan are cordially invited to be present.

SHE'S MIGHTY PROUD OF BROTHER WARREN

Mrs. Carolyn Votaw

When President-elect Harding reached Washington for his last appearance in the Senate, one of the first to greet him was his sister, Carolyn. She is Mrs. Votaw, head of the Social Service Department in the U. S. Health Department. This picture was taken as she called at the McLean residence, where the Hardings stayed during the three days spent there.

THE TARIFF IS A NATIONAL ISSUE

Washington, Jan. 4.—"The famous remark by General Hancock that the tariff is a local issue seems likely to be revised in view of the nation-wide demand just at present for the enactment of a protective tariff law," declares the Republican Publicity Association, in a statement issued today by the President of that organization, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "For a great many years the North was the only section of the United States advocating a protective tariff. The South was utterly opposed to the principle of protection. In recent months, however, there has been an insistent demand not only among manufacturers but among farmers—not only among the people of the North but among the people of the South—far the enactment of a law which shall impose protective import duties upon commodities of practically all classes.

"Just now the farmers of the West are holding conferences and conventions and adopting resolutions demanding an import duty on grain, dairy products, live stock, etc. Ten million bushels of wheat imported from Canada in a single month at a time when the wheat growers of the United States are unable to sell their grain for a price that will cover the cost of production, immense importations of butter from Denmark, large importations of meat from Argentina, and offerings of Australian and Argentine wool depressing the market in the United States, have impressed the farmer with the need of an 'America First' policy which shall insure to the American producer at least an even chance in his home market.

"Now we see also the shutting down of textile mills along the Atlantic Coast and in those Southern States which have in recent years become manufacturers of cotton goods. Coincident with this curtailment of production on and consequent reduction of employment we read statistics of imports showing that in the nine months ended with September we bought foreign manufactured cotton goods to the value of $113,000,000 as compared with $29,000,000 last year. The increase is not only in value but in quantity, for the nine months of the year 1920 our imports of unbleached cotton was 59,000,000 yards as compared with less than 7,000,000 yards in 1919. Of bleached cloth there were imported 21,000,000 yards as compared with 4,000,500 yards last year. Of dyed-in-the-piece and printed cloths there were importations of 42,000,000 yards as compared with 7,000,000 yards in the same period of the previous year. In the aggregate of all the various kinds of cotton cloths, there were imported in the first nine months of 1920, over 122,000,000 yards as compared with 32,000,000 yards in the corresponding period in the year before, an increase of approximately 100,000,000 yards or nearly 500 per cent.

"These are facts, not theories. It must be perfectly clear to any student of economics that if we buy cotton goods in Europe there must be a corresponding diminution of production in the United States, and if there is diminished production in the United States there must be fewer wage earners, less money in circulation, diminished buying of various commodities used by people from

County Commissioners Who Took The Oath Of Office Yesterday

W. H. HYER

HENRY THEURER

THE OLD STEP OUT. THE NEW STEP IN

The reins of the county administration were turned over to the new Republican administration yesterday without much ceremony. At noon the retiring administration had their affairs ready to receive the newly elected officials and on short order the new officials were inducted into their respective offices. The retiring officials congratulated their successors, and wished them all kinds of success, and the incoming servants of the people grasped the reins with a determination to do their very best to give a successful and efficient administration.

The ceremonies over, the officials began busying themselves with the details of their duties and all the afternoon both principals and assistants were as busy as cranberry merchants.

The new officials who took the oath of office yesterday in Cache county are:

- Henry Theurer and W. H. Hyer, as commissioners.
- Willard Chugg, Clerk.
- Mrs. Lorin Merrill, Recorder.
- Hans Mikkelsen, Treasurer.
- Robert James, Assessor.
- Miles Peterson, Sheriff.
- L. R. Humphreys, Surveyor.
- M. C. Harris, Attorney.

THANKS BOY SCOUTS, PIONEER PASSES AWAY

San Francisco—Heads of Boy Scout councils throughout the Twelfth Federal Reserve District are in receipt of letters from Theodore Hardee, Director of the Government Savings Organization for the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, thanking the Boy Scouts of the West for their work in furthering the cause of Thrift through sales of Thrift and War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates during and after the war. Directors Hardee's letter follows recognition directly from President Wilson to one Boy Scout in each state of the Twelfth District for his record sales of Government Thrift Securities during the war.

Replies from heads of Scout councils assured Director Hardee that the Scouts will continue to spread the gospel of thrift and aid the Government during 1921 in the sale of Thrift and Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates.

day to day, and lessened activity in all kinds of business and industry.

"No one contends that we should discontinue all buying abroad. What the farmers of the West, the peanut growers of the South, the live stock men of the Southwest, and the manufacturers of the Eastern States are contending for is an import duty which shall amount to at least the difference in cost of production at home and abroad so that the American producer may compete on an equality with his foreign competitor. "Agitation for restoration of the

Mrs. W. E. Hawkins has returned from Ogden where she was called by the sickness and death of her mother, Mrs. Mary S. Thomas. Mrs. Thomas was born in Merthyr Tydful, Glamorganshire, South Wales, December 11, 1836. She became a member of the church in Wales in 1852 and on January 27, 1853, sailed on the steamship Isey from Liverpool. She was married on the boat to Thomas S. Thomas. Four other couples were married on the same boat during the long journey. Arriving in Utah on October 10, 1853, the young couple settled in Salt Lake. In 1854 they moved to Farmington, and in the spring of 1855 to Ogden. The husband died at the latter place on October 17, 1873. Mrs. Thomas resided on the same property at 2768 Wall Avenue for sixty-five years. The original patent for the land issued by President Grant is still in possession of the family. Funeral services were held in the Second ward chapel of Ogden and were conducted by Bishop W. E. Newman. Interment was by Bishop W. E. Newman. Besides Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, the following members of the family survive: Mrs. Gladys Jones, Mrs. Sarah Pingree, Mrs. Prudence Naylin and Seth E. Thomas of Ogden, and Mrs. Saria Davis of Idaho Falls. Also there are living forty grand children, seventy-one great grand children, and six great great grand children.

protective tariff, coming as it does from all sections of the country, makes the tariff a national rather than a local issue."

A HAPPY AND A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

Here's wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and to avoid mentioning names and for fear some one will be missed, we make it as broad as the universe, and trust that every mother's son or daughter will experience such a condition. But to wish it and have it realized is a question that requires some effort on the part of every one.

Now let's try and make the New Year a happy and prosperous one through service. That is what the country needs. The high places thrown up on account of the war must be leveled down and the country must take its medicine and get down to actualities again, and it can only be done with the least harm to the greatest number through service.

Never in the history of the country was honest service so much in demand and so much of a real asset. The people have spoken, have elected their servants, and perhaps never before has such a heavy load been placed on the backs of our servants. They are broad shouldered and can carry a load but they must not for a moment think that at any time the load will be easy. It will not only require time, but it will require thought, study, and the best of effort not only on the part of officials themselves but on their advisers. And any adviser that would attempt to warp the judgment of a public official to gain favor through political advantage is not a friend of the people, or a friend of his country. In the selection of help to do the public service the very best and most competent should be selected.

And right here let us sound a note of warning. All public officials if they do not realize it now, will realize it sooner or later that they themselves are primarily held on a promissory note guaranteeing service to the people. They are the ones who will make the appointments to such offices as are called for under the law, the responsibilities of which they cannot get away from. No official can shift the responsibility to any committee, or committee or collection of individuals. It is right and proper to seek the advice of committees, and of the best minds, but the officials themselves must inquire into the capacity of all applicants and then render the decision. No committee or set of men is going to act as guarantor for the capacity of any individual. That must be looked into by the official or officials making the appointments. It is a solemn duty and should be done only after the most deliberate thought and consideration. It should be done with an eye single to service and that alone.

Let us do our utmost to make this a year dedicated to service. Much has been trusted into the hands of our new officials and much is expected. If the new officials approach the duties of the hour in the spirit of service with the knowledge that they are the responsible parties to the contract, and pursue their duties from day to day unworried and unshackled through personal or political pulls, the year will be one of service and redound to the benefit and satisfaction of the people. That it may be so is the desire and hope of The Republican, and our efforts in the future as in the past will be directed along this desired line.

On this platform we predict a Happy and prosperous New Year.

A BIG NAVY FOR PEACE AND JUSTICE

Washington, Jan. 4.—Advocating naval supremacy for the United States, the Republican Publicity Association, today, issued the following statement, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr.:

"It is estimated that by 1924 the United States will have by far the most powerful navy in the world. For over 300 years Great Britain has held the supremacy over the seas, but now she is rapidly yielding control to America. If nothing unforeseen occurs to interrupt our building program, we will have three years hence 27 capital ships with a tonnage of 983,000 tons. At the same time the British navy will include 18 ships of similar class of a total weight of 487,000 tons. In addition our vessels will have a faster maximum speed and mount larger and more powerful guns. Other countries will have fleets inferior to the American, even Japan, which is building substantial increases to her navy, being considerably behind the United States.

"Now, just so long as that state of naval supremacy is maintained the United States will be the most powerful factor for peace in the world. There is probably not a government but will concede that America is the most potent moral influence among the nations. But in the league of nations, concocted by Mr. Wilson as a peace panacea, this country could never have exerted that influence for good. Had the United States become a member of the league she would have had one vote on the council against eight foreign ballots, and only one vote in the assembly against forty or more of the other members. What would it have mattered how highly moral the stand of the United States on a question might have been? She could have been outvoted overwhelmingly, and the forces of Old World imperialism would have remained in the saddle in Europe, and might have extended their malign

TY WOULD TIE TRIS BY LEADING TIGERS

The greatest all-around ball player in the history of the game is not going to let it be said that he ever dodged a diamond opportunity. Ty Cobb has signed to manage the Detroit Tigers, the act automatically bringing him into direct competition with his greatest rival through all his career, Tris Speaker, who piloted the Cleveland team to the world title in 1920. Cobb and Speaker, both great stars in the outfield and at bat—will be the only two playing managers in the American League.
