School Matters in Pine Valley

The Pine Valley correspondent of the Dixie Advocate says that the people there voted down the proposition to levy a tax of two mills on the dollar, which was proposed at a recent meeting of the tax payers for the purpose of supplying funds to meet the requirements of the Free Text Book law. The writer further says that the free school law is not a success in small communities, as a levy in that locality of the full amount provided for by law for school purposes, does not enable them to keep school more than twenty weeks; and if the legislature does not do something to help this state of affairs it will be apparent that the Free School law will be a farce as far as small communities are concerned. There seems to be a general disposition in the country settlements to cut down taxes as much as possible, and rather than increase taxes they will curtail education. From all parts of the state comes the cry against an increase in the tax burdens.

Parowan Promptings

May 13th 1908.

A most distressing accident occurred here about dusk last Saturday night. When Wilford Miller aged 12, was dragged to death by a horse.

While the boy was taking the harness off, the animal became frightened and started to run, with a rope tied to his neck, the other end of the rope caught the boy's foot. The boy was dragged about two miles and when the animal was caught the little fellow was dead. It is strange that the rope should have caught the boy as it did, as there was no loop in it. It is said that the animal is a very spirited one, and the boy's stepfather was extra cautious in consequence, and was careful to nuzzle his traces and let down the tongue of the vehicle, before trusting the boy to take off the harness, a job which he had done many times before. No possible blame attaches to any one, it seems to be one of those unfortunate affairs that no reasonable precautions could have averted; and under similar circumstances it might not happen again in years. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

A Very Sad Accident.

Last Monday Dr. Middleton removed from the body of Mrs. Young of Escalante a large ovarian tumor weighing twenty five pounds. For a day or two after the operation was performed the young lady seemed to be recovering very nicely, but Wednesday morning her condition was not so satisfactory, although nothing alarming, by later on she became much worse. Upon examination the Dr. discovered that a silken ligature had given way, and a profuse internal hemorrhage had resulted. Everything possible under the circumstances was done to save her, but without avail, and in the afternoon she died. The lady was only twenty one years old, and leaves a husband and one child to mourn her loss. The body was taken to Escalante for interment.

From the Lower Herd.

Mr. Thomas Williams who has spent the winter at Robert Bullock's ranch at the "Lower Herd" came down from there Tuesday. He reports the snow all gone off the level, on the top of the mountain, except where it lies in drifts or in the shade, and in many places the country is dry. About six or seven feet of snow fell at the ranch during the winter, and although the cold was greater there than in Cedar, he says it did not seem to feel so. Mr. Williams brought his family down with him, and left them in our town for a few weeks and went back himself yesterday, at least he said he was going to do so when our reporter saw him Wednesday.

A Sixth Experiment Station is talked of to be located in Washington county near the town of Enterprise. This station will not be settled upon the same basis as the five that were provided for by the legislature, but in this instance the county in addition to furnishing a suitable plot of land well fenced, will be required to do all the work for the first year. The state to supply all the implements, furnish printed directions, and publish an account of the results. No definite action has been taken, and the matter is in the hands of the County Commissioners of Washington County.

The mail service that the people in this part of the country are getting from the Land Cedar City and George Stage Company is very good. A man can expect his passengers are getting about as good as it is reasonable to expect.

absence of a railroad. And indeed they get much more courteous treatment than they often get from the understrappers of the railroad companies, who invested with a little brief authority are in the habit of forgetting that they don't own "The Earth and the fullness thereof".

Mr. W. J. McConnell, who is residing on his ranch on the Lower Meadow came up to town last Tuesday, and reports the crops that he has planted there this spring as looking well, and he gras growing sufficiently to enable the animals on the range in that locality to begin to thrive. Mr. McConnell has dug a pit or large well into which he has introduced a homemade water wheel for lifting out the water for irrigation purposes. It is a crude affair as he has had to make it without suitable tools and without the best of material, but he says that with a cypress pole to propel it he can raise a nice little stream and he is satisfied that with a better made wheel he would be able to lift a good fair irrigation stream. He is confident that dry farming in that locality is thoroughly practicable; the only question being the plowing and pulverizing of the soil to a sufficient depth to enable it to retain all the moisture that falls on it during the winter. Land that was plowed a reasonable depth is now full of moisture, while land that was not plowed is dry. The soil there gives evidence of being of excellent quality for production of good crops with or without irrigation.

A meeting of the taxpayers of this school district was held last Thursday night to consider the best means of providing room for our rapidly increasing school population. The county superintendent who was present made an earnest talk in favor of not only more room indoors but also more room out doors, showing that the small lot of ground belonging to the present school building is altogether too small for a play ground for the hundreds of youngsters that have to use it.

Several plans were mentioned, among which was the buying of either the Ward Hall or the City park. It was also intimated that the idea of erecting one or more small buildings for the accommodation of the lower grades in some other part or parts of the city so as to serve the double purpose of giving more room and making the distance less for the younger children to come to school, had been considered. The only business transacted was to adjourn the meeting for one week; the trustees were requested in the interval to ascertain what if any sites were available for the meeting of the requirements of the school, and particularly were they asked to see upon what terms the City Park, or the Ward Hall could be obtained.

"The Citizen"

is the name of a new member of the newspaper fraternity which began operations in American Fork, Utah county, on the second of this month. It is too early in its history for us to express any opinion of its merits, but judging by the sample that has reached us it seems likely to average with the rest of us at least. We wish its publishers "Pulver and Lovelless" all kinds of success.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Pottsville, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'"
