Let us impress upon you the importance of attending this Mammoth Sale early as possible, for it is being extensively advertised and the rush of buyers will be great, as the very—yes, extremely!--low prices made here are going to appeal strongly to the public, and especially to the heavier consumers and shrewder buyers for miles around; therefore, nearer purchasers will confer a favor on us by attending the sale as early in the morning as possible.

Space will not permit us to go into detail and list items and quote prices here. Values are all guaranteed and in order to appreciate them it will be necessary for you to see them. Make every preparation to attend this Big Sale the opening day---let nothing keep you away; lay everything aside and make all arrangements in due time to attend this big trading event; and come early as possible in the morning to avoid the afternoon rush.
