

Cedar City Happenings

Are you going to Parowan for the Fair? Of course you are going. In fact, we are pretty much all going.

The weather is beginning to get a little chilly for the small boy of the good old summer swimming-hole. But still he persists.

Right this way for neat and tasty stationery and job printing. Butter wrappers, of a good grade of paper, printed with pure vegetable ink, only $3.00 per thousand.

The Elberta peach crop in Dixie is now exhausted, and if you have not obtained your supply for winter it is up to you to go without or send your order to the Dixie cannery.

The travel through this section by automobile has been exceptionally heavy the past week, a considerable part of which was en route to the Dixie Fruit Festival at St. George.

Miss Agnes Cosslett, one of the old-time "hello girls" on the local exchange board, returned from her California trip last Sunday evening, and will resume her old place on the board.

Mr. and Mrs. U. T. Jones, their son Emerson and daughter Zelma, Horstense and Eugene Woodbury and Miss Ruth Higbee were all passengers to Lund last Monday, on their way to California to visit the Panama exhibitions.

County Superintendent Barton was over from Beaver in his new Saxon touring car, attending the meeting of the county board of education, and getting in touch with matters generally pertaining to the schools of this county, the superintendency of which he will have the coming school year.

The County Commissioners were in session last Monday. Seen on his return from the county seat, Commissioner Knell of New Castle was asked what business was done. His reply was, "Not much of anything except to allow road appropriations, amounting to more than a thousand dollars."

Manager Frank Wood of the Co-Op. Store has been having quite a serious time with his arm as a result of the fracas he had with some hoodlums after a dance some weeks since. The arm gave him no particular inconvenience at the time, but has been growing steadily worse ever since, until now it is carried in a sling. A physician has charge of the case.

Uncle John Parry has proffered to donate five dollars towards defraying the expense of publishing a booklet on the resources of Iron county. We believe there are a lot of others who would be perfectly willing to do likewise, and we also believe that the business men would be generous in their use of the advertising space. This, with the aid that could be secured, no doubt, from the county commissioners and the city councils should make the publication of a suitable pamphlet an easy matter. Let's get busy on it.

James Tweedie has been appointed by the County Fair committee to receive and transport the exhibits of this locality and see to placing them on exhibition at the fair. Being unable to be here to receive the exhibits, Mr. Tweedie has made arrangements with Mr. John Fuller of the Golden Rule Store to receive anything offered in the lower room of the Telephone building all during the 13th and up to noon of the 14th, when Mr. Tweedie will personally see to the taking of them to the fair and the placing of same on exhibition. Cedar City should be well represented in the exhibition, and we trust that the people of this and near-by settlements will take a lively interest, and see that we are fittingly represented.

We notice a few weeds in the streets which escaped the sharp (?) eyes of the vigilance committee on the clean town contest.

Principal R. F. Homer was a passenger on the automobile to Lund last Saturday. He went north to bring Mrs. Homer and children, who have returned for the winter season.

Alvah Stout of Nephi, representing the Beneficial Life Insurance company of Salt Lake City, has spent several days in Cedar City interviewing local people on the subject of insurance.

Mr. Stout of Hurricane passed thru Cedar Wednesday en route to Parowan with a load of fruit on his old Jackson car, formerly owned by Dr. Leonard of this place, which still appears to be doing service.

Quite a number of ecclesiastical officers of the church and members of the High Council from this place went to Parowan last Saturday to attend meetings of the High Council and the Stake Priesthood last Saturday.

R. A. Thorley is in St. George attending district court this week, he having a case there involving the title to a certain stream of water in Washington county, and the use of a canal in which he claims an interest.

Everybody get busy with the fly swat and let's clear up these few remaining stragglers. Give them the Buhack, poison paper and trap. They stick like a plaster now when they light on you. Their breeding season is about over.

If you have anything worthy of exhibition at the county fair, do not fail to leave it with Mr. Fuller of the Golden Rule Store on the 13th or not later than noon on the 14th, at the ground floor room of the Telephone building. Mr. Fuller and Mr. James Tweedie will do the rest.

This week must be the lull just before the battle in Cedar. It has been uncommonly quiet. Next week the county fair will be on in Parowan, and the week following the B. A. C. will open for the year's work. The district schools of the county will open for the winter's work on September 27.

Sam Bell left for Panguitch last Monday in his Dodge car, having as passengers Walter Granger, David Pryor and Millard Watson, who would take in the county fair races and other attractions at that place. Mr. Granger has a horse entered in the races which he has strong hopes will win one of the valuable purses.

Bert Anderson of Echo Farm continues to bring up some splendid produce by the aid of his auto-truck. The offerings this week have been tomatoes, cantaloupes, figs, water melons and grapes. From all appearances Mr. Anderson is making a complete success of his new car in the fruit business.

Willard E. Corry was up from his farm on the bottoms last Monday and reported that they had some quite heavy rains and some floods down on the meadow. After a vain attempt or two to make it through with his car he was glad to resort to the team again in order to negotiate the mud-holes and other difficult road.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Thorley were in from Modena the first of the week, visiting with relatives and looking after business interests here. Mr. Thorley announces his intention of spending the greater part of the winter on his Modena farm. He has harvested a good crop of rye and other products and expects to feed considerable live stock of various kinds.

Sheep Ass'n Makes Improvements.

Superintendent M. D. Higbee of the Cedar Sheep Association has been unusually busy the past week or two directing a number of improvements that have been in progress to the outside properties of the company, in addition to the regular business of the store. These improvements include the repairing and getting in condition of the company's dipping vats in the vicinity of Eight Miles where all the flocks of the company will be dipped shortly in compliance with the order from the State Sheep Commission; the putting in of cement tanks and a pipe line of 800 feet at Keel Springs, across the desert on the winter range and the repairing of the tanks at Trough spring, preparatory to the arrival of the sheep from the mountain. It is the program to dip the sheep as they pass the Iron Springs on the way from the summer to the winter range.

Sunday the home-coming opens at Parowan, and Wednesday following the County will be thrown open to the public and the program of sports and amusements will begin. Everybody in the county should figure on going.

Miss Hellen Gubler of Santa Clara who is representing the Curtiss Publishing company's publications, was in Cedar City the past week and made The Record a pleasant call. Miss Gubler has worked her way through high school and is now working for a scholarship in college.

A. W. Brouse and M. M. Millett, who have been mining down on the Buckskin Mountains for some weeks, were in Cedar City the first of the week en route to Lund with several tons of high grade ore, which they have shipped to the Salt Lake smelters.

The older members of the Leigh family of this place are one-time residents of Parowan whom the invitation committee failed to trace, but who will no doubt accept the general invitation and participate in the festivities of Home-coming week, which commence next Sunday.

The local electric plant is giving trouble again and at noon today shut down for two or three days. We are informed that it will be necessary to take the dynamo to pieces in order to find the trouble. In the mean time, residents would do well to have their lamps filled, trimmed and ready.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Lella Knell of New Castle to Mr. Joseph Atkin, Jr., of Saint George on September the 17th. Miss Knell is the daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. R. C. Knell, and the reception will be held at their home. The groom comes of a good family and is doubtless a worthy young man. The contracting parties have the congratulations of The Record.

HAMBLIN VALLEY.

Hamblin Valley, Utah, Sept. 8, 1915. Mr. May has fully recovered from a dose of coal oil, taken inwardly—without instructions.

The "drys" have had a pretty long innings this summer. Now we'll have ours. 1 1/2 inches isn't so "worse" for one storm. What?

Messrs. Buel, Tryon, Drake, Johnson, Jewell and Brown went to Millford last week to file on their homesteads before Commissioner Herbert Nichols.

Messrs. May and McEern have recently invested in some "cayuse" stock, with the intention of using them for various purposes. Mc and May are pretty good scouts, and we don't want to lose them, but the aforesaid "cayuses" "hain't got no trade," nor have they worked under a manager, and I don't believe they are looking for a chance to "sign up" on any kind of a contract, and as they come from the "Snake" Valley country, there may be more "pizen" under their hides than the gentlemen are looking for. I would suggest a good sized package of "Ins't aid."

To the Public.
"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Witherall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I hadn't long to wait for relief as it benefitted me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere.

CARE OF PIGS AFTER WEANING.
A great many farmers at this time of the year are wondering how best to take care of their young pigs after they are taken from the sow.

Pigs should not be weaned earlier than six weeks of age, and two months will be better. Take the pigs away all at once, and put them in a pen or pasture entirely away from the mother. If the sow is a heavy milker, it will be well to put her on dry feed, and even cut her ration somewhat in order to prevent udder trouble.

If a good pasture is available (alfalfa preferred) the young pigs can be turned immediately into this. If no natural shade is available, some artificial shade should be provided, and good fresh water should be available at all times.

The pig has only a single stomach, and this is relatively small. The pig is, therefore, not equipped to consume large quantities of coarse feed, and especially is this true of young pigs. They cannot be expected to do well on pasture alone. The best grain available for the average Utah farmer is shorts. Where skim-milk can be had, nothing better can be fed than a moderately thick slop of shorts and skim-milk. If shorts is not available, somewhat finely ground wheat, barley, or corn can be used in its place. As the pigs become older, the grinding will not need to be so fine, and the grain ration can also be cut down somewhat, unless it is desired to get the most rapid gains.—W. E. Cawell.
