

THE BACKBONE OF THE NATION

The Smaller Cities, Towns and Villages Are Where True Citizens Live.

What They Do, Their Work and Various Efforts are Recorded by the Country Press.

The great masses of people in the United States are in the country towns, cities and hamlets. They are the ones who form the backbone of the country. The big daily newspapers are always full of what is going on in the so-called large cities, and forgetful that in the smaller towns the real citizen of the country lives, the one called upon to do the most for his country.

Close to the smaller towns are the farms and ranches and these combined is the field that the country press must cover.

In these live the men and women, citizens who are alive, vigorous and doing the work of the nation, and telling of their deeds, is the country newspaper. No other paper or journal can do this.

If the paper is well supported, by both merchants, farmers, county and municipal officers, and the private citizen, it can truly represent the community as being alive.

If it is not well supported, then the community is represented as being dead, not up to the scratch and going backward.

The country newspaper is the true indicator of a community, and when it breathes a healthy tone, the whole world knows it.

If it criticizes, it is for the good of all. When it praises, it says do better next time.

A town without a paper is rated as nothing in the eyes of the world. The better paper the better town. And a newspaper can be better only in proportion to the support it receives.

This is the third of a series of articles on the needs, ideals and future of the country newspaper. The next article will appear in an early issue of The Record.

TO MEN OVER THE DRAFT AGE

Y. M. C. A. Offers Opportunity for You to Go to France and Serve Your Country in the War.

Men over draft age, of good moral character and who know how to teach soldiers recreational games, can serve their country through enlistment for service overseas in the Y. M. C. A. They can be sent to France almost immediately. The call for recreational directors, men who understand athletics, is greater now than at any time.

Dr. George J. Fisher, head of the physical department of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., is in the west and will meet men who desire to get into this service at a meeting to be held in San Francisco July 19.

"Physical activities are now being conducted in terms of international fellowship," said Dr. Fisher. "It is a strange fact that close to seventy per cent of the men in the American army do not know the simplest sports. There are no great national games in France and Italy but the French and Italian soldiers readily take to American games.

"Athletic activity in the Allied armies is making for morale. I met officers in Europe who told me they had not seen their troops smile in two years, until they engaged in athletics. The need for physical directors and recreational directors was never greater."

Frank A. Jackson, associate secretary to F. A. McCarl, head of the National War Work Council in the western department, announces that 250 men must be secured in the western states each month for Y. M. C. A. service overseas. The opportunity for men to be of service to their country and the soldiers is open to men over draft age who possess qualifications fitting them to be Y. M. C. A. secretaries. It is also announced that 4000 men must be secured for Y. M. C. A. overseas service before September 1.

Mr. J. A. Root of Lund spent a few days in Cedar the fore part of the week.

Mrs. Maeser Dalley has returned to her home in Cedar City after a visit of several months with her father and other relatives at Huntington.

Mrs. Mary Whitehead of St. George was in Cedar City Tuesday morning en route home from Salt Lake City, whence she had been called by a telegram advising her of the serious illness of one of her daughters, Mrs. Effie Wakeland.

Ford is the "Big Injun" in the matter of mail service on the star routes touching Cedar City under the new contracts. Light Ford trucks with pneumatic tires are being employed to carry the fast mails between Lund and St. George, with the slower and heavier solid rubber tired types for handling the parcel post mail when a ton has accumulated at the railroad. On the route between this place and Paragonah a Ford touring car is being used, with trailer. The car trailer is reserved for passengers and the trailer carries the mail. Some people are predicting that the Ford equipment is too light to stand the strain of continuous usage and bad weather, and the result of the experiment will be watched with interest.
