

IN THE SOCIAL REALM.

Mrs. Sutherland, wife of United States Senator Sutherland, will entertain the wives of the members of the legislature and a few other friends at luncheon at the Alta club today, Saturday. The function will be quite elaborate, gotten up in the well known taste and style of the Alta club. The invitations were issued a week or ten days ago, and the regrets were few. Mrs. Sutherland is an ideal hostess, and the event is looked forward to with unusual interest.

The charity ball given annually by the Jewish Women's Council will take place this year on the evening of Feb. 7 next at Christensen's hall. The object of the ball is most commendable, for the benefit of the poor of the city. In past years it has been a pronounced success, both socially and financially; in fact, it has been recognized as one of the leading society events of the city. This year will be no exception to the rule. The fact that Mrs. Jacob Moritz is chairman of the executive committee insures the success of the ball.

President's day, observed Monday at the Reviewers' club, was one of the pleasantest events of the club. Mrs. E. O. Lee, president of the club, was the hostess, and the guests who gathered round the board at the University club included both the present and past members. The table for luncheon was laid in the private dining-room. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Woodruff gave a toast to the president of the club, and after that came the following very interesting programme by the members: "What Club Life Has Taught Me," Mrs. Hal W. Brown; "My Favorite Character in Fiction," Mrs. J. M. Dart; "The Strongest Character in Fiction," Mrs. William A. Nelden; "The Most Pathetic Character in Fiction," Mrs. C. E. Richards; "My Favorite Heroine," Mrs. C. E. Richards; "My Favorite Heroine," Mrs. F. A. Vincent; "My Favorite Character in Fiction," Mrs. Elmer B. Jones; "The Perfect Home," Mrs. Ellen Elliott; "My Favorite Poet," Mrs. Charles D. Moore; "Thackeray," Mrs. Wightman. In place of a paper Mrs. W. F. Adams told two humorous stories. In addition to the above-named guests, the luncheon was enjoyed by Mrs. J. C. Royle, Mrs. J. W. Delano, Mrs. Charles G. Plummer, Mrs. J. C. McClain, Mrs. C. H. Blanchard, Mrs. H. J. Talbot, Mrs. W. F. Loomis, Mrs. David Evans, Miss Della R. Snow.

The promenade of the juniors at the University of Utah on Friday evening was a very pleasant affair. Those who took parts were: Dan Alexander, Ike Alexander, H. J. Barnes, Virginia A. Bush, Thomas A. Dresser, Feramorz Y. Fox, E. D. Gardner, Jeter Gardner, Renel M. Greaves, Roscoe W. Groo, Karl A. Hopkins, John Jensen, Mortimer R. Lewis, Geo. A. Moore, Vale H. Parke, Brigham A. Perkins, J. Henry Peterson, George S. Schow, Louis J. Seckels, Romert I. Bonnemort, William Sharp.

Among those who have taken apartments at the Emery-Holmes are: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bransford, Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Pinkerton, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McGurrin, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Reber, Dr. and Mrs. Keogh, Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Rhodes, Mrs. Moore, C. F. Adams, T. J. Armstrong, John Lewis, M. H. Kriebel, C. H. Sampson, J. R. Focht, M. Lichtenstein, Miss Plummer, Capt. Lawrence, Judge and Mrs. Miner, Frank Harris and Miss R. Pollock.

Mrs. Lucian Julian Martin, formerly director of the Chicago normal school of physical education, gave an illustrated lecture at the Ladies' Literary club Wednesday afternoon. Subject of the lecture was "Proper Exercise for Health and a Perfect Body," demonstrated by Miss Alice L. Julian.

On Tuesday at the Alta club a luncheon was served by Mrs. H. C. McCaskell complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Daniel Gallagher of Omaha. The menu, decorations and all appointments were perfect.

C. S. Morris was host at dinner at the University club Tuesday evening, covers being laid for twelve guests. The souvenirs for the women were large bouquets of violets, while small bunches were given to the men.

The charity card party under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women was held at B. B. rooms Wednesday. The hostesses were Mesdames Boehmer, Rothschild and Oppenheimer.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Salisbury and Miss Salisbury left Thursday for the east, intending to be at Cornell for junior day, the sons of the family being members of the class at that college.

Mrs. J. C. Storley entertained at luncheon Saturday, in honor of Mrs. Le Roy Rose of Ogden. The decorations and place cards were roses. Covers were laid for six.

"Arabian Nights," given in the Eighteenth ward hall Monday evening by Misses Kirkpartick and a number of their friends, was well attended.

Miss Christine Miller, a graduate of St. Mark's training school for nurses, was married in San Francisco recently to Mr. Smith, and is now at home to her friends in San Jose.

Mrs. Jennie Moorman is in the city to pass a few months with Mr. and Mrs. Clint B. Leigh. Mrs. Moorman is an artist of rare taste and ability.

The banquet of the men's club of St. Mark's on Thursday evening, in honor of Bishop Spaulding, was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Miss Judge was hostess at a dinner Tuesday evening complimentary to Miss Salisbury, who left for the East Thursday.

Frank Judge has returned from a trip to Tonopah, Goldfield and Bullfrog mining districts.

Mrs. William L. Jones has gone to Los Angeles to be away for several months.

Mrs. M. L. Ritchie entertained at a Kensington Thursday afternoon at her home.

Tuesday night Major and Mrs. Smith, Fort Douglas, entertained informally.

W. A. Neldon is gradually recovering after his severe illness.

Miss Lela Fowler has returned from an extended eastern trip.

Miss Vendla Farrell has returned from a visit in Cache county.

Miss Hamlin is home again after a visit with friends in Denver.

Mrs. Allan L. Lovey has returned from Butte and is at the Southern.

J. B. Cosgriff left for Denver Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davis and little daughter have returned from an extended visit in New York and are again at home to their friends on Third East street.

Mrs. C. H. Van Arman returned Tuesday from Ogden, where she spent a week with Mrs. Archie K. Bigelow.

Fred A. Slade has gone to New York on a business trip.

HIAWATHA UP TO DATE.

(With apologies to the poetic heirs of the late Henry W. Longfellow. Truth vouches for the originality, but not the meter.)

In the land of fair Utah-na,
Where dwells the festive Mormon,
Dwells the Jew and Gentile also.
In the land where flows the Jordan,
With its murky waters calling—
Flowing, running, calling to the salty inland sea—

But, 'tis not of these I'm singing,
Neither Mormon, Jew nor Gentile,
Is the burden of my lay.

I would think of things more pleasing
Than mere men of common clay.

Wake, my harp, then, in your fullness,
As I chant the doings of the Hunter,
Hunters bold and hunters many,
But the Hunter that out-hunts them,
Is the Bounty Hunter who out-skins
'em.

From the days of mighty Nimrod,
To the times of thunderous Cannon,
Shooting broadsides from the Tribune.

From early morn to dewy eve—
And back again to breakfast—
Is this Bounty Hunter hunting

For the skin of the coyote,
For the hide of mountain lion,
For the pelt of prowling wolfy,
Then he hies him to the County,
Where the bounty-money waits him—
Waits the coming of the Hunter.

Counts he now the skins he's hunted,
Counts not once, but often—

From beginning to the ending,
From the ending to beginning,
Then once more he doth repeat them,
Counts them many times and frequent
Counts and counts the Bounty Hunter,
Counts them o'er and o'er and o'er,
Counts again and then some more.

LOCAL SPORTING GOSSIP.

Hail to the signs of a genuine revival of good sport in Salt Lake! The situation here in almost every line of athletics has not been encouraging to promoters, nor in good repute with sport lovers. But the atmosphere is clearing and indications are that the town will see cleaner sport and better patronage this year than for many, many moons.

The deadness of pugilism particularly in this town during the past year has been due to two causes. Some of the fights pulled off were not up to contract and were very much off color. Again, there was a disposition on the part of some of the daily papers to bring out the hammer and use it vigorously without reasonable provocation just because some green sporting reporter was not consulted as to his views on matchmaking. It seems strange a managing editor of intelligence should allow his reporters to use the columns of his paper to air their personal grievances, but this very thing has been done here time after time.

The mayor and the chief of police seem to look at the boxing game in the correct light. So long as it is cleanly and honestly conducted, so long as clever scientific men of nearly equal ability engage in contest there is little that can be objected to. Scores of shows come to this town every year and are patronized by people of all classes, that from a standpoint of morality and decency leave a far worse impression than a clean and clever boxing contest. The city authorities rightly insist that the next man who undertakes to open the boxing game here must make good every promise and keep faith with the public. Then let us hope that all genuine sporting men will lay aside personal differences and pull together.

Notwithstanding the sullenness of "Honest" John McClosky and the now deposed Lucas who led the Pacific National over a rocky road last year, the local baseball fans are confident that Salt Lake will have high class ball this year and will not end the season at the bottom of the ladder.

Salt Lake is developing some crack men in the bowling game. If the pending arrangements to have the city represented at the National Bow-
