

Ogden Soldier Has English Bride Miss Hawkins Is Mrs. Smalley Met at War-time Valentine Party

(By Harry Bagley)

With the return of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smalley from England, the romance of an Ogden soldier became known.

Arthur Smalley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smalley of this city, local jeweler, originally enlisted with Troop "K" Utah cavalry, which was later re-organized as Battery B. When the time for the troops to leave came, Smalley was discharged, being too short in stature to pass the examinations. Although he was short in stature, he was "long" on nerve, and so determined was he that he would be in the big fight that he enlisted with the Canadian army.

After crossing the Atlantic and arriving in England with his Canadian comrades Smalley was transferred to the ordnance corps of the Canadian army, his expert knowledge of machinery having been discovered by his superior officers. During the war, although he was there for 24 months, and made repeated attempts to get to France, he was kept in England.

He finally arranged to enter the Royal Canadian air forces and secured his pilot's license. While in the air service he crossed the English channel several times but was not assigned to regular duty in France as a flyer.

It was while he was in the flying corps that he met his English sweetheart, who at that time was Miss Hawkins, daughter of William Henry Hawkins, a member of the city council of Greenwich. The couple met at a party at Ashford, England, on Valentine's eve, 1918. Under such auspicious circumstances the romance started and continued until the couple were married in London, February 16.

Proof that the course of true love is not exactly a straight path was shown in Arthur Smalley's experience. His "oufit" was demobilized and he was sent to his home in America before the wedding could be held. He arrived in Ogden in January and after a brief visit with his parents and other relatives, returned to England for his bride.

The couple had arrived in New York with intentions of making an extensive visit there but their plans were interrupted when telegrams telling of the death of Albert Smalley, who recently died, reached them. The newlyweds had barely time to reach Ogden in time to attend the funeral services.

Mrs. Arthur Smalley, when questioned as to her impressions of the United States, said in a breath: "There are so many automobiles and the houses have grass plots and yards. I suffered in Wyoming from the altitude and thought that my ears would burst."

She also said that the electric signs displayed by American cities were wonderful.

Mrs. Smalley said that $2,000,000 worth of gold bullion was on board the ship on which they returned to America.

England is still on food allowances and each person is now allowed 3 ounces of sugar and 2 ounces of butter each week.

LABOR PARTY IS ORGANIZING HERE

Call Mass Meeting in City Hall Auditorium for Next Wednesday

Hundreds of letters giving reasons for the formation of a branch of the Labor party here and announcing a mass meeting next Wednesday evening in the city hall are being mailed out by the local committee which is forming the labor party branch here.

The text of the letter, which is signed by Alice Snel, secretary of the committee appointed at the meeting held March 25, follows: "At this critical period in our industrial and social progress, we are confronted with the necessity of either combining our strength to defeat the capitalistic elements, both industrially and politically, who are making frantic efforts to gain a strong hold from which they may exercise a power which will tend to make us worse than slaves, or else, forfeit the few advantages which we have slowly and painfully acquired through the years."

"Not only are the capitalistic representatives using every means to retard our future progress, but their money-governed politicians are making every effort to render N.L. our present progress by the passage of such laws as will mitigate their usefulness. "The labor unions all over the country have been giving much thought to these problems in an effort to fix upon the most satisfactory method by which to meet the situation, and, the enthusiasm with which the idea of forming a labor party as the best weapon with which to secure results is being greeted, plainly shows that the plan meets with the approval of the laboring people, as well as with the small business man, and the farmers of the country."

"The working men and women of America should lose no time in joining with each other in an organization which is the most logical means of bringing about conditions which shall make for our mutual benefit."

"A branch of the Labor party is being organized in Ogden with the endorsement of the Trades and Labor Assembly, and a mass meeting is to be held in the Auditorium (up stairs) of the City hall, Wednesday evening, April 21st, at 8 o'clock, at which officers will be elected, and such other business transacted as may legally come before it."

"The membership of the organization is not confined exclusively to organized labor; but offers a cordial welcome to unorganized laboring men and women, to the farmers of the country, and to all business men and women whose interests are threatened by the growing money-omnipoly."

"Neither is the organization of local origin. It is a well established and stable National organization, well rep-

LARGE DEAL IN IDAHO PROPERTY

Real Estate Formerly Held by Ogden Man Figures in Record Sale

One of the largest real estate deals on record has just been completed at Idaho Falls between officials of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company and J. W. Hays, of the Osgood Land & Livestock company, involving 1460 acres of land near Shelley all of which has been reclaimed from the desert and which, with irrigation installed, will be one of the most valuable reclamation projects of Idaho.

The J. W. Hays tract, which is a portion of the project and includes 1929 acres, is three miles west of Shelley. This tract was taken up by J. W. Hays, recognized as the most successful dry-farm wheat producer in the state, who operates extensive land interests.

The Osgood Land & Livestock company tract of 6540 acres just west of Idaho Falls is the other tract in the deal. This land was first taken up by the Idaho Falls Development company, which corporation operated as a dry farm. It was later purchased by Dr. F. C. Osgood of Ogden and associates, from whom it was taken over by the present company, J. L. Milner, Oscar Johannesson, A. T. Shane, W. L. Shattuck, V. K. Tuggle, E. H. Hollister, George Brunt and a number of others are interested in the project.

It is estimated that the purchase price of the latter tract totalled about $750,000. The company has done a great deal of development work, obtained valuable water rights and has installed the necessary big pumps and built the irrigation canals and ditches so that the land can be put in crop this spring.

While no announcement has been made by the sugar company officials, it is understood that the company is negotiating for other lands in the district, which will bring the total up to 10,000 acres.

resented in all parts of the United States. Be sure and attend the meeting at the City hall, April 21st, and bring all your friends and neighbors along.

"Yours fraternally,
"ALICE SNEL, MOYER, Secy."
