THE NEED OF THE HOUR.

Speaking on the ills of modern civilization, Senator Harding made statements at Columbus, Ohio, which should receive the approval of men of all parties. He said the need of the hour is the steady down in America and Europe to take stock of things, know where we have drifted in the tumult of war, get our feet on the right path, then understanding move on to future triumphs. I am not a pessimist, but I will tell you that there is just as real a menace in the world this evening as there was in the turmoil of war. Civilization has not crystallized. Revolutions are threatened. There is an assault on our inherited civilization.

"I want our country to settle down and stand as a barrier against revolution and destruction throughout the world.

"We have had the supreme inheritance. I know every patriotic citizen wants to preserve this. We differ over methods. Let's hold fast to that which has come to us from the founding fathers, from the union, from those who awakened us to a little finer conscience. Then get off this detour on the right track again and go ahead."

The senator made further use of bad roads as a simile for his thought. He had been riding over detours part of the day and was dusty. The supreme need of the day, he said, is the gospel of understanding. He spoke of the need of firm foundation in government and in building for the future, with an eye on upkeep. His mind was with the world trouble, however, and he referred again to restrained rebellion.

"If I could preach understanding to all the people of the world," he said, "find out what each is thinking and could get them to understand the necessity of interdependence, I could somehow quiet the unrest of civilization.

"The biggest problem today is the upkeep of modern civilization.

There is only one way to arrive at an understanding and that is draw closer together in working out internal and world problems.

PROSPERITY FOR WEBER COUNTY.

No one improvement means so much for Ogden and Weber county as the supplying of ample water to the lands of the Weber county irrigation district, which is made possible by the vote of the farmers taken on last Tuesday.

Of the 22,030 votes cast, 20,286 were in favor of the organization of the district and the taking of the first steps toward water conservation and distribution. With 92 per cent of the land holders voting for the proposition, those back of the undertaking are proceeding with full knowledge that they have no serious opposition and are supported by an overwhelming public sentiment among the farmers.

At last Weber county is to get away from the haphazard farming which was inseparable from the uncertainties attaching to a water supply dependent solely on the summer flow of the streams from which irrigation ditches divert water to the farms. By next year, or the year following, the flood waters will begin to be stored, and periods of water shortage or drought will be provided against. Instead of an insufficient supply for 35,000 acres, as in the past, there will be ample water in dry years for 85,000 to 90,000 acres, when all the plans of the district engineers materialize.

With a greater acreage under intensive cultivation, and assured a good water service, there will be an opportunity for the expansion of the tomato, pea and fruit canneries, and a greater development of the sugar industry.

Ogden will be benefited almost as much as the country districts by the agricultural and general industrial prosperity which will go with water storage.

HOME RESTRAINTS DISAPPEARING.

Two young girls disappeared from home in Salt Lake last Sunday. Failing to return home at night, the girls were missed. Today that is the only check on many young people. They may be gone from morning until dark and well into the night. The parents fail to become alarmed until the youngsters have remained out the entire night. Derelictions of that kind in the old days would have caused neighborhood excitement at about bedtime. Now children walk into the homes at 11 p. m., midnight or in the early morning hours without being called on to explain.

The girls, who could not be found in Salt Lake, came back on Wednesday with the explanation that they met a young man from Logan who took them in an automobile on a picnic to Brighton.

The old-fashioned picnic of a few hours' duration has been lengthened into days. This is chargeable to the automobile. What will happen to our girls, if the automobile continues to extend to them ever increasing liberties, no one can answer except with a shake of the head in depreciation.

Our social relations and the requirements of the home are being entirely upset by the greater privileges accorded young people under present customs.

Ten years more of this speeding up and the home will lose control over children the moment the youngsters cease to be afraid of the dark.

CENSUS RETURNS.

Census figures from the federal authorities disclose the fact that the Fourth ward of Ogden has more population than any other division of the city, although there is less than a thousand difference between the Fourth and First wards, which are at the extremes.

In the school census just completed, an increase of 202 over last year has been recorded. This is a fair increase, but not as large as expected as Ogden is supposed to be growing at a more rapid rate.

The census gives Logan 9439, or an increase of 1917 over the population in 1910. The ratio of increase is a little over 25 per cent, which is an encouraging advance. There are many prosperous small towns in Cache county, of which Logan is the county seat and nearly all of them are growing. With the canning industry developing in Cache county, the prospects are bright for a greater increase in population in Cache in the next ten years than has been reported in the past decade.

ENGLAND NOT BELLICOSE.

Speaking to the house of commons on Tuesday, Lloyd George, premier, made clear his opposition to any sudden thrusting of the forces of Great Britain into the fighting between the Poles and Russians.

The premier stated that the Poles had been the aggressors and, therefore, were liable to such punishment as might be afflicted, short of a wiping out of national existence. He was opposed to repatriation of Poland or to the destroying of ethnographical lines. Only economic pressure was to be placed on Russia, such as the blockade which is beginning to operate.

Our opinion is that Lloyd George knows his country is tired of warfare and, if he were to advocate a policy calling for the throwing of a British army into the field of action, he would be endangering his political future. At present England is not prepared to carry on military operations on a large scale, except at great sacrifice and the people of England would not respond unless they felt that their own national prestige and existence were involved.

REDS EXCEED POLE DEFENDERS

Washington Officials Estimate Strength of Soviet Army at 350,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Polish forces defending Warsaw are outnumbered about two and a half to one. Details of the bolshevik military organization received today in official circles, place the strength of the soviet army at 350,000 men. The strength of the Poles has been estimated at 140,000.

Twenty soviet infantry divisions, the officials details assert, have been identified as facing the Polish army with thirteen in reserve. In addition ten cavalry divisions have been noted in active operation with two in reserve.

CAVALRY DIVISIONS

The bolsheviks are estimated to have scattered in other parts of Russia 25 other divisions as well as two cavalry divisions.

General Sergius Camanoff and General Brusiloff commanded the entire soviet forces on the Polish front. In a recent intercepted wireless dispatch by the soviet government the report that General Brusiloff was in command of the soviet army was characterized as "the mistaken, intentionally perverted idea spread by European and American bourgeoisie agencies."

The dispatch adds "there is not a single German officer in the whole of our army. It is unnecessary to state that the ranks of the red army are always open to all persons irrespective of their nationality."

GENERAL PROMOTED

General Camanoff formerly commanded the troops fighting Kolschak on the eastern front and, according to the soviet wireless, it was as a result of his victories in that area that he was promoted to his present command.

The bolshevik force on the Polish front is reported to be divided into two armies, the northern in command of General Touchevski, who is only 27 years of age, and the southern commanded by General Yecoroff. Both were officers in the czar's army.

General Brusiloff is known to be chief of a military council at Moscow which has been preparing military plans against Poland.

F. D. ROOSEVELT MOUNTS STUMP

Praises Rank and File of Republican Party But Damns Leaders of G. O. P.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for vice president, opened his campaign here tonight before 3000 people. He urged Republicans and independents to join the Democrats in support of their platform and ticket.

He told Republicans their party had been split by a quarrel among leaders and that the faction represented by Senator Harding was the "old guard" Theodore Roosevelt had opposed.

Seven hundred women were given the pleasure of honor on the stage. He said in part:

"Tonight we are firing the opening gun of a battle of far-reaching importance, and once again the shots are going to be heard around the world—for the American nation will be watched with anxious eyes by all civilization.

"Governor Cox and I believe it is the simple duty of the candidate to give to as many citizens as possible an opportunity to see and hear and form their own impressions of the men they are to vote for. I am, therefore, doubly necessary for us to present our views and our aims in person.

"I hope on this journey to the Pacific ocean and in all my travels that I shall have opportunity to talk not only to Democrats but also to those who are normally affiliated with other parties, and with men and women whose party affiliations—the independents—

HARD SHELL POLITICIANS

"I want to address myself particularly to those who are not Democrats. The day is past, except in the case of old-time, hard shell politicians or the case of a few narrowly prejudiced newspapers, when it is either popular or useful to damn everybody and everything connected with the opposition. I speak of the rank and file of that party even today with true respect.

"I am for eight, yes, for 12 years, a content has been raging within that party—raging among those in high command. In the first eight years of the century, the Republican party was in large part driven to true leadership by Theodore Roosevelt, the man, it was the voice of insistence that the party was to be a great American leader, that year who supported the ancient regime was the present Republican nominee.

LESSON FAILS

"Today this same man and his 'sponsors' the old guard, show no signs of having taken to heart the lesson of the past. Once again we see them, unmindful of the marvelous progress around them, warped in their selfishness, fault finding and bitterly criticizing, but offering no real remedies or constructive program to meet the problems we face today.

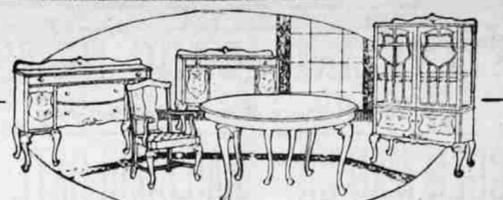

"The Democratic party offers not a change, but the change, its platform pledges a definite program of constructive measures, not a hedge-podge of vague compromises; a definite foreign policy for immediate and permanent peace, not an indefinite suggestion of new unworkable schemes; a pledge that the safeguards of working men and women already accomplished under Democratic leadership shall remain; not the fear that a Republican change will restore to power the influential few."

LEWIS SPEAKS

The other speaker, former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois, declared the issue before the Democratic party is not "what America will do for Europe, but what the citizens are going to do for America."

He assailed the "senate syndicate of select senators who named the ticket of Harding and Coolidge," and declared the scheme of the Republican masters is to get control of the United States. "It is their purpose, he said, 'to get into power and then pass legislation that will entrench eastern financial favorites in the government.'"

He asserted the Republican attack on the league of nations was a subterfuge designed to disguise the true

The Three Legged Stool Served Our Grandparents

The early pioneers of Utah had to put up with many inconveniences, among them crude furniture in the home. The three-legged stool or the table made from the halved log with peg legs had to supply their simple needs.

It was only when such men as Peter Boyle, pioneer furniture maker, were available that home furniture could be secured that gave to the early homes both beauty and comfort.

Just as Peter Boyle served the people of Ogden in 1856, so the Boyle Furniture Company which he founded serves the people of Ogden and the West in 1920.

But today the service rendered is much more extensive, just as it should be after sixty four years of consistent growth. That is why Boyle's is known as Utah's foremost furniture store.

aims of the party and that the substitute league plan proposed "carries with it every evil, doubled and redoubled that is ever charged against the league proposed by Democracy."

BEWARE SAND BLISTERS.

A small cut, especially in the tread of a rear tire, may permit the entrance of sand, which will work into a pocket between the tread and fabric. Such a sand blister soon wears through and makes a serious tire injury, the cure of which might be vulcanization. To forestall this, fill all small cuts with gum.
