

TRAFFIC RULES BECOME LAWS

City Commission Passes Ordinance Drafted by Head of Public Safety

Ogden's new traffic ordinance passed the board of city commissioners this morning and became a city ordinance. The system with the exception of clauses recently inserted, has been in use here for some time and has proven successful, according to the reports made to the commission.

Parking in the downtown districts, right of way, regulations covering standing vehicles, and many other features are included in the new ordinance. With its adoption this morning the provisions will be made at once under the law and violators of any section are liable to punishment by a fine not to exceed $25 or imprisonment in the city jail, or both fine and imprisonment.

PARKING ZONES
The first section of the ordinance explains the downtown non-parking and parking zones and provides that red lines shall mark non-parking areas and white "stalls" shall designate where automobiles can be parked. Section No. 2 sets forth "that it is unlawful for any person to park or leave standing any vehicle between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. in the non-parking areas longer than fifteen minutes and only when passengers are being discharged."

The third section explains that no person is allowed to create his own non-parking zone and the same provision shall be designated and marked off by traffic officers.

NEW RIGHT OF WAY
Section No. 4 creates a new right of way system in Ogden as follows: Each driver of a vehicle, upon approaching or crossing an intersection of streets shall grant the right of way, and give way at each intersection to any vehicle approaching from the right, provided that when a traffic officer is stationed at an intersection he shall have full power to regulate traffic.

Section No. 6 makes it unlawful for motorists to follow the fire apparatus at a distance closer than one-seventh of a mile and to approach the hydrant being used by the fire department at the same distance. When the fire apparatus is approaching following an alarm, motorists are urged to draw up to the right curb of the street as close as possible in order that the apparatus may be given ample space to pass.

Another section provides that every motor vehicle shall be equipped with efficient brakes, steering signals and front and rear lights.

REGULATE HEADLIGHTS
Glaring headlights also come under the ordinance and provisions ban electric lights of more than four candle power. The light must be so reflected that no portion of the beam, when measured seventy-five feet or more, ahead of the vehicle shall rise above forty-two inches from the ground.

Section No. 7 bans the repair of cars while standing upon streets. The closing section of the ordinance provides for parking on Hudson avenue as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any person to park, or leave standing any vehicle on the west side of Hudson avenue between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, and it shall be unlawful for any person to park or leave standing any vehicle on Hudson avenue between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, except that such vehicle shall be parked parallel with the curb of said street, and within at least twelve inches from said curb.

The ordinance was drafted by J. Ray Ward, commissioner of public safety, after careful investigation had been made by traffic officers of the portions of the system which have been in effect. The ordinance was unanimously passed by the members of the commission.

WHAT DO YOU SAY NOW, MR. HOPPE?

OLLIE CLOUGH TO FACE JURY

Whether Woman to Face Trial or Go to Mental Hospital to Be Decided

The question of the sanity of Mrs. Ollie Clough, who is alleged to have held the arm of her 14 year old boy, Ray, when the lad fired six shots from a revolver into his father's body as he was asleep in the Clough home early Sunday morning, killing him almost instantly, will be determined this afternoon in the district court by a jury to be impaneled before Judge A. W. Agee.

The jurors will hear evidence of all witnesses who heard Mrs. Clough's story and those who have attended her since her arrest. It is also probable that Mrs. Clough will also be placed on the stand for examination.

LOSIS ALL CONTROL
Since being placed in a special cell in the county jail Sunday, Mrs. Clough has given every indication of being mentally deranged, according to the attendants. Until last night, however, the woman has contented herself mostly with chants and songs and talking to herself. Last night the attendants said the woman lost all control and raved wildly during the night. This morning her cell was littered with debris as a result of her actions.

The bed clothing was torn into shreds and thrown about. The mattress was also torn to tatters. Mrs. Clough also tore the clothes from her body and threw the pieces about her cell. This morning she was apparently quiet from her ravings and was wept.

FATE RESTS WITH JURY
Judge Agee said this morning that the verdict of the jury will decide whether the woman will be sent to the state mental hospital at Ervay or whether she will be compelled to face a charge of murder. If committed to the hospital a charge of murder can be preferred against her after the patient has been cured and discharged, he said. It is doubtful if a verdict can be obtained after discharge. Judge Agee said, as the jury would have to take into consideration the fact that the woman was insane at the time of committing the crime.

A regular jury will be called and

"Mac" Admits Drinking He Imbibes "Verniller" Keeps Court a-Titter

Unembarrassed by a vast expanse of flannel, exposed through absence of an outer shirt, J. P. McVeight of 2247 Adams avenue, who might well pose for a George McManus cartoon, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness in the city court with grace of language that has made Gould Erin and the Barney stone famous. His histrionic abilities could get him no less than the minimum fine, however, and he was fined $50.

The court was in a continual uproar while McVeight's case was being tried. Even Judge Roberts failed to restrain a couple of ex-cant flutters, while Assistant City Attorney Samuel Powell was so beguiled by the stream of humorous philosophy that flowed from McVeight's tongue that before the trial was fairly in progress, he called McVeight by the chummy nickname of "Mac."

It was not drink, yer honor, that was responsible for my being here; it was verniller. Cursed be verniller. And "Mac" continued in a vein which upheld old-fashioned red liquor, and denounced all present day beverages. "For the past forty months I have been working without so much as losin' a single minute, and for the life of me, yer honor, I could see no harm in taking a nip or two."

G. O. P. TO MEET AT INTERURBAN 7:15 IN MORNING

Mayor W. P. Whitaker of Pocatello, was nominated for congressman from the second district over Taylor Cummins of Twin Falls and M. J. Kerr of Fremont county. The vote was unanimous.

A British butcher has carrier pigeons to bring in orders from outlying country districts.

Impanelled to pass on the sanity of the woman this afternoon, Judge Agee said. The session will be called at 2 o'clock.

Sells Cigarettes to Minor; Gets $60 Fine

Receiving the second heavy fine to be imposed on dealers who are found to be selling cigarettes and tobacco to minors, E. Varella, a Spanish merchant of 149 Twenty-fifth street, was sentenced to pay a fine of $60 or the alternative in city court this morning.

Varella pleaded guilty to the charge. E. J. Stowell, arrested on a similar charge, failed to appear and his bail, amounting to $25, was declared forfeited. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Another similar case was turned over to the juvenile court, it having been found that the defendant in the action was not yet 18 years of age.

It was stated at the police station that prosecution of dealers who sell tobacco to minors would continue until such time as the practice was discontinued.

In each case, the dealer sold a single package of cigarettes to the minor, it is stated.

Play in the handicap tournament which will require about three weeks to complete will be started Sunday morning on the local courts with weather permitting. Prizes for the winners in this tournament will be awarded if it is said.

The Intermountain net titles will see some of the fastest net players in action. California, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona, Idaho and Utah will compete for honors. Those in charge of the coming tourney expect the net game to be revised with class galore and hope that the sets played will put the net game on a par in the Utah sport world with other sports in the state.

Streets Flow Like Rivers After Rain

Hundreds of automobiles got a first class washing, streets were like rivers and gutters ran to flood capacity at 2 o'clock this afternoon when Ogden was struck by the heaviest rain storm it has experienced in months.

From the country districts came the report that the rain would be of great benefit to the beet and tomato fields, but that the storm would spoil some hay.

City weather sharks were busy predicting that the storm would mark the break of summer temperatures and that from now on there would be a touch of fall in the air in the morning and in the evening.
