STOCKS IMPROVE AFTER SELLING

Profit Taking on Wall St. Is Foiled by Brisk Buying Movement

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The indefinite trend of prices at the opening of today's stock market resulted mainly from profit taking in the recently strong rally. Great Northern and Northern Pacific were the heaviest traded stocks, respectively, and other transcontinentals and graniers made fractional recessions. These were offset in a measure by moderate strength in Canadian Pacific Reading, Baltimore, Ohio and Pere Marquette. Among industrials, oils and sugars were under further pressure with motors, steel and copper.

Oil and steel extended their gains in the first hour and equipment, shipping, copper and textile and rubber shares fell 1 to 2 points before last week's closing price. Sears Roebuck was weakest of the specialties, declining 1/2 points on moderate selling prompted by reports of new financial talks, forfeited month if not all their foreign business had been sold. Canadian Pacific made an extreme gain of 3 points and 500 of its subsidiaries rose to 5 1/2 points, with major strength in Chicago, 9 1/2. Northwestern, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Illinois Central and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico. Trading quieted on the rally and call money foreign specialties were featured. Tobacco and utilities, particularly Consolidated, Laclede and Peoples Gas shares were in demand during the mid-session and contributed to the recovery of the general list. Oils recovered most of their losses and buying of junior falls continued, Kansas City common and preferred displaying special strength.

OPREUM FILM PLEASING STORY

'The Jack-Knife Man' Opens With Animal Comedy for Four-Day Run

'The Jack-Knife Man' a story of household life on the Mississippi, containing pathos and humor in homeopathic doses opened for the usual fare-part of the week run at the Orpheum theatre last night. The picture is produced by King Victor, himself, a motion picture favorite of other years. The characters are human, such as are always drawn by Ellis Parker Butler, the humorous writer, who is the author. The scene is laid in a small river town. One stormy night a woman who had given up her husband for love of other men, applies at the house-bound home of the Jack-Knife Man for shelter. Before morning, she dies and her small son, Buddy, is left in her benefactor's charge. Then follows the Jack-Knife Man's efforts to entertain Buddy, which he does with animal comedy, which is nearly always but rarely good. The picture is a snoring success. Who get $20 a piece for children he places in a home. Buddy's father, is a source of much of the laughter. Following plotting and counterplotting, the Jack-Knife Man becomes famous through his homemade tobs. In the final chapter the writer gets a good start with a family by taking Buddy and his little sister, Susan, to raise. On the same bill is a comedy featuring Joe Martin, the mofkey comedian. It is a noisy action picture which will tickle the kiddies and put the grownups in good humor for a week.

"Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Taniaic," said W. H. Johnson, 319 East Forty-third street, Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Transfer Company. "About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite, and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, until Taniaic set me right—I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually. "After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours. "The gas from my sour, undigested food would bloot me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would lie awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having dizzy spells and could not bend over and straighten up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me. "I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Taniaic and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness. "I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just as thin I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me. "Taniaic is sold in Ogden by A. R. McIntyre Drug Co.
