DUO POLITICS WAXING LIVELY

Republicans Charge Nugent in League With Non-partians

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 11.—Both the Republican and Democratic parties in Idaho are moving their oratorical batteries into position for the final battle in the present campaign.

Democrats are centering their fire on the commission form of state government. If it survives and Governor Davis is re-elected, the chance of state government will be vindicated.

Among those active in the campaign are Senator John F. Nugent, who has been speaking in northern Idaho.

Suspect Arrested After Fatal Accident

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—Suspected as the driver of an automobile which struck and killed Mrs. May Shelton, wife of Marcus J. Shelton, 2775 South Street, Saturday night, Reed R. Smith, of Pocatello, Ida., salesman for the Salt Lake branch of the Cudahy Packing company, was arrested at Burley, Idaho, yesterday afternoon.

The arrest was made at the request of the Salt Lake sheriff's office, and Smith will be held in custody at Burley until taken in charge by an official from Salt Lake.

Smith was arrested following information from Earl Radcliffe, branch manager of the Supreme Photoplay company, 58 Exchange place, his wife, and another woman. They were in an automobile and were behind the car which struck Mrs. Shelton, the number plate of which, they said, was 2211.

MUCH INTEREST IN NEW POWER PROJECT

POCATELLO, Idaho, Oct. 11.—Much interest was shown by Pocatello people interested in reclamation and cheaper electric power yesterday at a meeting held in Lewiston by the United States board of engineers with those interested in the canalization of the lower Snake river for the purpose of making a deep water inlet from tidewater to Lewiston.

Those attending the meeting included General Harry Taylor, Colonel J. C. Sanford, Colonel Charles Keller, Colonel W. B. Ladue, Colonel J. C. Oakes, Major C. S. Ridley and A. H. Weber.

The project which has been officially surveyed by federal engineers comprises ten dams along the Snake river between Lewiston and Riparia, Wash., and a series of locks which would connect Lewiston all the year with the sea. At present steamers run from Lewiston to Portland or Astoria only during high water and by the use of the Cello canal and locks.

THREE AUTO MISHAPS IN SALT LAKE SUNDAY

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—Three automobile accidents caused slight injuries to seven people in Salt Lake yesterday.

The most serious accident occurred at 12 o'clock last night, when a car belonging to William Alexander of Murray, driven by Thomas Jones of West Jordan, collided with a west bound streetcar at Fifth South and Main streets.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mossman, 232 Morris Court, were struck by an automobile at Third South and State street and received slight lacerations. Tom Coulson and George Gramery were also slightly injured in an automobile accident.

SPRY TO SPEAK IN IDAHO. RUPERT, Idaho, Oct. 10.—It is announced that former Governor William Spry of Utah will speak at Lincoln hall Wednesday, October 13.

TAILOR SHOP ROBBED. AMERICAN FORK, Oct. 11.—The clothing and tailoring shop of E. J. Seastrand was entered by thieves early yesterday morning and about $500 in clothing was taken.

'JAZZ' PLAYED AT TABERNACLE

Joseph Ballantyne Differentiates Between Music and "Trash"

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—Jazz strains were heard at the tabernacle last night during the semi-annual conference of the Deseret Sunday School union, District of the Salt Lake.

The synopsized selection was played by Organist Kimball, to illustrate a point in a talk which Joseph Ballantyne of Ogden made on "The Power of Music."

Following the afternoon tabernacle meeting and other gatherings which were held later, a great exodus of people began to take place from the city.

Officers chosen at the spring conference were re-elected last night. They are: David O. McKay, president; Stephen L. Richards, first vice president; George D. Pyper, second vice president; Lawrence R. Richards, secretary; and John Bennett, treasurer.

Several thousand attended the session. L. D. S. Sunday schools in all parts of the world were represented and speeches were made by leaders of the organization.

Adam S. Bennion spoke on the necessity of Sunday school teachers cooperating in social welfare activities. He said that the fact that three Salt Lake girls, 13 years of age, were sent last year to the state house of correction is enough to stir local people to action.

Frank K. Seegmiller in a talk on the "Support of Moral Issues," asserted that prohibition is not yet a reality, but he has searched John Barleycorn, but we haven't killed him," said Mr. Seegmiller.

In this connection he referred to having recently found a half pint whiskey flask on the window sill of the L. D. S. university building.

One can't teach simply by knowing the thing to be taught," said Mr. Bennion. The teacher must know the child and his point of view.

Nathan T. Porter discussed leadership in the Sunday schools, and J. Leo Fairbanks talked on missionary work. Before the close of the meeting President Heber J. Grant made a few remarks in which he praised the development of the Sunday school work.

He touched on the bad effects of alcohol, pointing out the bad effects of alcohol. He closed with an appeal for charity and brotherly love.

Bishop George H. Wallis led in prayer at the opening of the session.

Bear Drags Off Trap; Hunter Shoots Bruin

VERNAL, Oct. 11.—C. W. McClure, in collecting $300 bounty, following presentation at the court house of the hide from a 700 pound black bear, related a thrilling story regarding the capture and death of the animal.

McClure had set a trap in the McKea draw on the eastern mountain. When he returned to inspect the trap, it had disappeared.

Believing that he had captured something, McClure circled about until he found a trail, apparently made by the dragging of some heavy object, and started following this trail.

He was scouting the ground when Bruin arose, not 10 feet from him. McClure took a snap shot at the bear, the bullet knocked it down. The bear arose again, however, and two more shots were necessary to dispatch him.

Conference Comes to Close; Records For Crowd Broken

SALT LAKE, Oct. 11.—With prayer by President Heber J. Grant for the blessings of God upon the Latter-day saints, the ninety-first semi-annual conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was brought to a close yesterday at 4:30 o'clock in the tabernacle.

Beside the tabernacle meetings yesterday, a large number of special meetings of various branch organizations were held.

Thousands of church members flowed into Salt Lake yesterday for the final meetings, and as a result both morning and afternoon sessions were the most largely attended of the entire three days.

Following the afternoon tabernacle meeting and other gatherings which were held later, a great exodus of people began to take place from the city.

President Grant, in his "keynote" address Friday morning, set the standard for the scores of addresses who occupied the stand, by request of the president, with addresses during progress of the conference.

Some phase of the wide realm of thought opened by this scriptural declaration has been the theme of every man who spoke.

However, at the afternoon session yesterday, Presiding Bishop Charles W. Nibley took occasion to reply to criticisms of those within the church, who objected to the church being in business.

One of the features of the morning session was the address of Apostle J. H. Hunt, who set out his exposition of the view that the Latter-day Saints were the chosen seed of Israel, set apart and designated by God in a sacred covenant.

Authorities Sustained. It took President Grant only about twenty minutes to read the names of all the general authorities of the church, designating the various positions they occupy, and to say: "It is proposed that in mentioning name and title, 'all in favor make it manifest by raising the right hand.'"

He quoted the slogan of the M. I. A. "We stand for the non-use and non-sale of tobacco." He called it the duty of every loyal church member to get behind that slogan with all the power and influence at his command.

He said that when a bill forbidding the sale of cigarettes was introduced into the legislature, the advocates of the measure were told that there was no sentiment in favor of the proposed law.

He called attention to the growth and progress of the people as one of the evidences of the truth of the gospel of the Latter-day Saints is true.

marks largely to a discussion of the need that the Saints support and encourage each other in the doing of good, and a prayer for blessings upon all his people.

James N. Lambert, former president of the New Zealand mission, who has recently returned from four years of labor among the Maoris, told of the visits with which the natives of New Zealand were accepting the gospel and the establishment of their racial connection with the Kanakas of the Hawaiian Islands.

President Grant made a feeling reference to the hymn, "O, Give Me Back My Prophet Dear," written by President John Taylor, and this number was effectively sung by a male quartet under the direction of James H. Nielson, tenor.

Dr. Seymour B. Young, senior president of the first seven presidents of the seventies, recalled some of the incidents in the early history of the church, with special reference to what he designated the massacre at Hauhau, September 28, 1838.

He H. Roberts of the council of apostles, expressed his feelings of inability to voice, in his own language, the thoughts inspired by the successful conference. He believed that the written scriptures would better carry the largeness of appeal. He read from the Bible numerous passages to illuminate the thought of God's exaltation of God.

Presiding Bishop Charles W. Nibley said that he always approached a conference with his soul subdued by the magnitude of the great work of the church. He was confident that the Latter-day Saints were the best people of the earth.

UNTAH BASIN INDIANS SIGN CHECK BY THUMB. SALT LAKE, Oct. 9.—Indians who have accounts in the banks of the Utah Basin district of Utah, especially at Vernal and Duchesne, are signing their checks with finger prints, according to reports received here.

Bankers say this method is necessary as few of the red men can read and write, while many have names so long that there is not room enough on the bottom of the checks to write them.

When an Indian unable to write, desires to draw some of his money, he has someone fill out a blank check for him and then affixes his thumb print. The check is compared with the prints kept on file at the bank and if found to be correct is paid. A full record of thumb prints is kept at each bank and officials claim that under this system there has never been a wrong payment.

Many of the Utah Basin Indians are wealthy and have large bank accounts. The majority of them raise cattle and sheep.

JAPS ABANDON GOODS RATHER THAN PAY DUTY. HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 23.—(Correspondence)—Thirty thousand tons of unclaimed merchandise, including automobiles, machinery and dry goods, are lying in the customs warehouse at Yokohama according to a Tokyo cable to the Japanese newspaper Nippon Jiji of Honolulu.

Because of business depression, consignees prefer to abandon their shipments, rather than pay duty and claim them, the Tokyo cable said.
