

BROAD POLICY TOWARD LABOR HELD NEED NOW

Federation Leader Gives Address at American Mining Congress Convention

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 19.—Adoption of broad and humanitarian policies by the American Mining Congress in dealing with labor was urged today by James Lord, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, in an address to the mining congress today.

The workers, declared Mr. Lord, will not be satisfied to be a mere cog in the machinery, but must be taken into account as a human entity.

"Neither the workers nor the operators alone can satisfactorily adjust joint questions. They must be worked out in voluntary joint conferences. A chaotic situation exists throughout the world. Readjustment of the world's economic affairs will occur in the same proportion that industrial peace is maintained and established.

"The miners and operators can adjust any problem that affects the mining industry. No one else can or should. All problems regarding wages, hours, conditions of work, competitive and legislative matters can properly come before a joint conference for discussion.

"An earnest, intelligent effort to adjust the differences of workers and employer along democratic lines means more peace and greater efficiency here at home and throughout American interests internationally."

as to which some strong leaders of his party differ with him. The Panama toll act affects our foreign relations and American history, both recent and past, proves that as a provocative of excited political discussion an issue dealing with foreign affairs takes precedence over everything else.

There is much to be said as to why it was not said as to just why President Wilson persuaded the senate in 1914 to withdraw the exemption from tolls which American ships then enjoyed, why the subject lapsed from 1914 to 1920, why it was resurrected in the republican platform last June and what individuals were responsible for that resurrection; and how it came about that Senator Chandler made it a campaign issue. However, that will all come out in due course, and with infinite and acrimonious details.

SCOTLAND YARD INTENDS TO QUESTION VANDERLIP

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The American Embassy here was notified today that Washington D. Vanderlip, California oil and mining engineer, who recently was in Moscow, will be closely questioned by the intelligence department of Scotland Yard on his arrival in London if the present plans of the police are carried out. The notification was given as a matter of courtesy and is not given in like cases of lesser importance.

The interrogation will not necessarily be made with the view of taking action against Mr. Vanderlip's presence in England. It was said, but with the intention of ascertaining exactly what his activities had been in Russia in view of the many conflicting reports published in London. Such interrogation, it was pointed out, would be in conformity with the recently adopted attitude of the British government of discouraging travel between Russia and England.

Mr. Vanderlip was in Stockholm up to a few days ago. He recently returned from Moscow and gave out a statement asserting that he had secured a concession for 400,000 square miles of land in Siberia, for a syndicate of Americans.

MILLION-A-YEAR INCOMES LESSEN CANNED GOODS GOING NO HIGHER DIRECT PRIMARY SYSTEM FAVORED

Sixty-Seven Persons Admit
That Income in 1918,
Tax Figures Show

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Despite the loss of seventy-four members of the country's million-a-year income class, the taxable income of the United States increased in 1918 by over $2,272,000,000 as compared with 1917, according to the income statistics issued by the bureau of internal revenue. Income reported for 1918 amounted to $15,724,629,355 against about $12,700,000,000 in 1917, though 441 persons filed returns for incomes of one million dollars or over in 1917 and only 67 in 1918.

Reversal of fortune during 1918 numbered 4,423,114 and the tax, both normal and surtax, amounted to $1,127,721,535. The average tax for each individual was $24.85. As compared with 1917, a growth of 562,234 was shown in the number of returns filed. The increase in the total tax was $434,224,351.

DIVIDED BY CLASSES.

Returns for incomes of from $500,000 to one million dollars were filed by 178 persons, while 1,616,923 persons filed returns for incomes from $1,000 to $2,000. Income from $2,000 to $3,000 were shown as 1,456,578 returns and from $3,000 to $4,000 as 619,055 returns, for incomes of $5,000 to $10,000, 513,256 returns and for incomes of $10,000 to $15,000, 63,952 returns. Over 30,000 persons made returns on incomes from $15,000 to $20,000, and 10,000 on incomes from $20,000 to $25,000, while 3,994 persons reported incomes from $50,000 to $100,000 and 2,385 made returns for incomes between $100,000 and $150,000.

LARGEST TAX.

The largest tax amounting to $147,438,655 was collected on incomes from $50,000 to $100,000, with $12,444,697 collected on income from $10,000 to $25,000, next. Incomes between $1,000 and $2,000 paid $26,481,000.

The number of wives filing separate returns from their husbands was 35,942, the income represented being $333,215,749.

Of the industrial groups from which income was derived, agricultural and related industries lead with $73,236 returns representing a total net income of $1,123,522,163.

Income derived from investments for the year was $4,547,914,000, and royalties paid $375,679,666, interest on bonds, notes, etc., including industries and foreign sources, $1,402,435,991, and dividends $2,468,749,244.

Prediction of Lower Prices
Made by President of Association

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Prices of canned goods will be no higher and may be somewhat lower in the coming months, according to W. J. Sears, of Chillicothe, Ohio, president of the National Canners Association. "We are hopeful of making prices lower," Mr. Sears said. "Canned goods have advanced less than any other staple and prices are just about as low as they can be. The present decline in the prices of canned goods is due to financial conditions, not to any over-production. We don't know what materials will cost in the coming year, but we don't expect them to go higher and they may be somewhat lower."

Canned goods prices are at a very low ebb on account of lack of markets and the necessity of canners liquidating their finished product, according to H. A. N. Dally, president of the National Association of Canned Food and Dried Fruit Brokers, who spoke before the opening session of the Western Association of Canners here.

"Government selling of surplus has materially demoralized the canned food industry," he said. "These goods are nearly all absorbed now and business is regaining its lost ground."

Seven Arrests Made; Big Sum Money Found

The mystery surrounding the $3,500,000 mail car robbery in the local yards Saturday night.

Two of the men, T. A. Daly and H. A. Reed, are white and the others are negroes. The money was recovered from the chicken house at the Daly home, following the confession of Reed. Reed rooms at the Daly home.

The negroes arrested are members of the John Reed family and are held in connection with one mail sack not yet recovered. Reed was arrested at 7:20 o'clock last night, following his implication in the case by Fred Poffenbarger yesterday afternoon. After a lengthy grilling, he gave information which led to the arrest at 2:40 o'clock this morning of Daly.

TEN-DOLLAR BILLS.

The money, which was recovered was in ten dollar bills, but officials this morning had not made public the total amount.

The ten persons under arrest will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner W. A. Byrne tomorrow morning. They are now in the tower of the federal building.

AUTOMOBILE FOUND.

The automobile was found last night in a garage a few blocks from the scene of the robbery. The number of the engine had been tampered with. Reed and Daly each are 35 years of age. Daly has been working at the Omaha Grain exchange, but Reed has not been employed the last few weeks and officers said they believed he was the "brains" of the gang.

LEADER OF GANG.

Mrs. Daly insists that Reed was at the Daly home the night of the robbery. Developments seem to show that he was the leader of the gang with Poffenbarger as his lieutenant, and that the latter, with Orville Phillips, who surrendered yesterday, is to save his older brother, Merl Phillips, did the work.

According to Mrs. Daly, who is the wife of the man under arrest, Poffenbarger brought the money to their home early Sunday morning wrapped in packages as currency in handouts at the bank. She saw them handling the money in a back room, she said this morning.

MONEY IS HIDDEN.

"I asked them if that was the money taken at the robbery Saturday night, but they just laughed. I said I was going to have company during the afternoon and I didn't want any officers coming in. Then they went out to the garage and hid the stuff in a sack. I overheard them say that they had burned everything in the sacks but the currency."

"That evening my husband moved the money from the garage to the chicken coop."

AFRAID OF MARKS.

"Next morning Fred Poffenbarger came to our home and took away about $10,000, saying, 'I'm going to get honest-to-goodness money. I'm afraid this stuff is marked.'"

"My husband knows nothing of the case. He and Mr. Reed were home the night of the robbery."

The automobile used in the robbery was driven alongside the Burlington fast mail as the train was slowing down for a crossing, enabling the robbers to enter the car quickly, as only ordinary crossing stop is made. Evidence goes to show that the car speedily carried them away from the spot with their plunder. The car dis-

Charles E. Hughes Advocates
Its Retention in Speech
At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19.—Charles Evans Hughes advocated retention of the direct primary system in making party nominations for offices in states and lesser political units, in an address last night before delegates to the convention of the National Municipal league, of which he is president.

Speaking on "the fate of direct primary," Mr. Hughes declared that it was the "essential complement of the short ballot," and that it would be a mistake to throw over the system in favor of a return to the old convention system or its predecessor, the party caucus. He made plain that his remarks would apply only to political systems under state jurisdiction, it not being possible under the constitution to provide for direct presidential primaries.

He said the primary system could be made an effective barometer of the will of parties only when primary laws provided for strict enrollment of voters thus insuring that nominations be strictly along party lines and within the control of the members of the party in question. The open primary, in which citizens vote the ticket of whichever party they choose, he said, has been proved a failure.

The ideal method of making nominations, Mr. Hughes said, was to have a convention to which delegates would be chosen by election within the membership of the party. This convention besides drawing a platform enunciating the policies of the organization, should discuss likely candidates for office, making public their recommendations to be subsequently ratified or reversed in favor of other candidates by the voters at the primary elections.

Mr. Hughes summed up the advantages of the direct primary system in two arguments: "First," he said, "it places a weapon in the hands of the party voters which they can use with effect in case of need. There are no longer helpless citizens. This fact puts party leaders on their best behavior. It is a safeguard to the astute and unselfish leader who is endeavoring to maintain good standards in line with sound public sentiment. It favors a disposition not to create situations which are likely to change a test."

"Second," the fact of this control gives to the voters a consciousness of power and responsibility. If things do not go right, they know that the trouble lies with them. The importance of this assurance should not be overlooked in any discussion of the apathy of the electorate."

covered last night is believed to be the one used in the robbery.

Fred A. Poffenbarger, father of Fred E. Poffenbarger, was arrested this morning. He is not suspected of having any part in the robbery, but was brought to explain some things that are reported took place at the Poffenbarger home.

The five negroes arrested this morning were released after several hours investigation. It was found that they had no part in the robbery and did not get possession of a sack of mail that had been dropped, as was suspected.

Reolo Restores Health

Reolo supplies to the cells of the body the natural cell-salts which are absolutely necessary to keep the body strong and vigorous. These cell-salts feed the cells of the nerves, blood, tissues, brain and bones. They build up what over-work, worry and over-exertion of brain or body have torn down.

Waste products are cast out, new cells grow, the hollow cheeks fill out and take on the ruddy glow of health, the spring comes back to the step, and the whole body pulses with health, strength and vitality. Reolo aids digestion and assimilation, stimulates the circulation of the blood, tones up the heart and nervous system, and gradually restores normal health, energy and endurance.
