

OGDEN JOINS IN OBSERVANCE OF THANKSGIVING

Ogden today is joining in the universal observance of Thanksgiving and giving thanks in commemorating one of the oldest traditions handed down by the founders of the republic.

As is the usual custom for the observance of the holiday most of the activities will be carried on within the homes, although the day will be celebrated within churches, institutions and in the jails where the prisoners will be brought to realize that the holiday spirit even reaches in through stone walls and steel bars.

The wheels of industry are brought to an abrupt halt to allow the thousands of employees to join in the thanksgiving and pay tribute to the good things the year has brought.

WORKERS QUIT.

All stores, business offices, city and county departments, courts and government offices are closed in Ogden today, the holiday reaching to the postoffice where all departments have suspended all activities. Practically the only workers in the city are employees of the railroads who must maintain the train service, and members of the sheriff's and police department who necessarily must be on hand to enforce the law. Arrangements have been made, however, so these employees may obtain short leaves to go to their homes for the best dinner of the year.

Thanksgiving day in Weber county is to be more than a day concentrated upon feasting for plans have been made by giving the less fortunate a chance themselves to be thankful. Charitable hands will place viands on the bare tables of the poor and charitable institutions will take care of those who are unfortunate enough to be away from their homes and those without funds. The Salvation Army will play an important part in this mission.

Services of thanksgiving will be held in various churches this morning. At 11 o'clock a service was held in the First Congregational church and was attended by a large number of persons.

FOOTBALL GAME.

The chief entertainment feature of the day will be the best offering of the year in football, when the Ogden A. A. grid men will mix with the University of Wyoming team at Lorin Farr park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. One of the largest football crowds which has turned out this year is expected to witness the contest. The game will mark the final to be played this season by the local gridlers who have built up a wonderful athletic organization.

Special holiday matinees will be featured in theaters and motion picture houses this afternoon and this evening arrangements have been made to take care of large audiences. Special programs have been arranged in practically all places of amusement.

Prisoners within the city and county jails will enjoy special dinners with roast pork forming the chief portion of the meals. Cooks for the prisoners have spent many hours in preparation of the dinners and included mashed potatoes, dressing, celery, apple sauce, hot rolls, coffee, pie, apples and oranges.

Yesterday in the public schools in special exercises the children were brought to learn something of the truer meaning of the day in their tributes to the memory of the Pilgrim fathers, who are credited with the inauguration of the practice the country observes today. Following the exercises the schools were closed until Monday, when an intensive period will open and continue until the beginning of the Christmas holidays.

GET ANNUAL TURKEY.

Newsboys of the city are assured on their Thanksgiving turkey through the Standard-Examiner which each year distributes approximately seventy turkeys among the youngsters. During the last three days the birds have been given out and yesterday afternoon saw the disappearance of the last bird. The turkeys were secured in Idaho and were sent to Ogden as a special shipment.

Special dinners are being prepared in hospitals, public and private and in other institutions where individuals are under care or keeping of others than members of the family. At some places the principal article of the menu will be turkey, while others will feature pork or chicken.

The Salvation Army, true to its generative and more of helpfulness, will carry baskets of Thanksgiving cheer in many homes, and provide dinner for many who otherwise would want. Special efforts have been made to find former service men who are in need in order that the day may be made brighter for them.

All restaurants of the city and the hotels as well, will care for the needs of the transient visitors. Arrangements have been made so the Thanksgiving meals may be obtained at practically all hours of the day and evening.

UTAH GUARD TO BE INCREASED

Expanded Organization to Be About Four Times Present Strength

Allotment of the national guard made at a conference held last week in San Francisco will give Utah a total strength of 2099 men. The present strength of the Utah National Guard is 713 men, which is not quite what it was heretofore, but the former allotment, since one battery of field artillery and a hospital corps have not yet been organized.

The new plan was disclosed yesterday in a statement issued from the state capital.

The Utah strength will, if the state authorities are successful in securing this allotment, be a part of the Fourth division in the United States army organization. California and Nevada will also contribute to this division.

The Utah allotment gives this state two regimental headquarters, which means that the state's national guard will have two colonels when fully manned. It is possible that some of the others of the 136 officers in the new allotment will be of the same rank. The principal arms of the service assigned to Utah are a full regiment of field artillery, with various units more or less auxiliary, to wit: A battalion of corps artillery, equipped with 155 millimeter (six-inch) howitzers, with a truck company; a battalion and regimental headquarters of engineers; a battalion company of sappers; a company of cavalry and a battalion of four companies of infantry.

INFANTRY BATTALION.

The infantry battalion will comprise four troops, with fifteen officers and 437 enlisted men. The regiment of field artillery will have six batteries, a supply company, a medical and headquarters, totaling forty-nine officers and 1020 men. A hospital battalion will have headquarters with one officer and three men, and a hospital company, with four officers and forty men. A truck company (equipped with motor vehicles) will have one officer and fifty men, and a wagon company, one officer and ninety-eight men. A service part unit, for automobile repairs, will consist of a company of one officer and eighteen men. Attached will be a chaplain, a medical and dental force of five officers and thirty-one men, and a veterinarian force of one officer and seven men.

The 155 millimeter artillery will consist of a battalion of two batteries, with fifteen officers and 302 men. It will be attached to the office of the adjutant general of Utah yesterday that it was not known here how many of the howitzers would be assigned to the battalion. Complementarily to this battalion goes a truck company of one officer and forty-four men.

ENGINEERS UNIT.

The combat unit of engineers will include regimental headquarters, with four officers, a battalion with ten officers and 282 men and a headquarters company with three officers and 164 men.

The balloon company will have five officers and 150 men. Attached will be a chaplain, a medical and dental force of three officers and eighteen men.

Although Utah already has four troops of cavalry, which were necessary to form a complete squadron under former organization, there is assigned under the new organization a squadron of three troops, with twelve officers and 235 men, an attached medical and dental force of two officers and ten men, and veterinarian force of one officer and four men.

FIRST LINE TROOPS.

A statement prepared in the adjutant general's office Tuesday, and given out yesterday by Clerk A. J. Meek, has asserted that the war department looks on the national guard as first line troops, and has plenty of equipment on hand, and says that the young men joining the guard can receive a technical education that will be in a great many instances of value to them in civil life. It is announced as the intention of the war department to organize all of the units allotted to Utah and to train each one to the highest degree of efficiency. Attention is called to the state military reservation at the Jordan narrows, and the statement says:

"It is believed that with the new program and the present status of the national guard, great numbers of experienced men and officers will comprise the new units."

No forecast was made yesterday as to which of the four troops of cavalry now organized would be dropped. It was thought probable that one of these would become an artillery unit.

Jurors Selected for Trial of Ray Clough

At the completion of yesterday afternoon's session of the district court a complete jury had been drawn and sworn in the case of the state against Ray Clough, 14-year-old Ogden boy, charged with murder in the first degree for the alleged shooting of his father when his insane mother held his arm and directed him to fire the shot. Both sessions yesterday were consumed in the jury selection and no testimony was taken.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock will mark the placing of witnesses upon the stand and it is believed that the courtroom will be crowded with persons interested in the case. The proceedings yesterday were followed closely by a large number of spectators, whose interest in the case has been attracted by the youth of the defendant and the circumstances surrounding the case. The boy's mother, Marie Clough, was adjudged insane and committed to the state mental hospital at Provo shortly after the killing of her husband.

Owing to the small number of witnesses called to testify in the case, it is estimated that the fate of the boy may rest in the hands of the jury Saturday evening.

The jurors sworn in yesterday afternoon are:

Albert C. Treder, merchant, Ogden; Helmer T. Hells, railroad man, Ogden; E. A. Barnes, retired farmer, Taylor; Lawrence Ritten, farmer, Marriott; Charles H. Hussey, real estate man, Ogden; John A. Nelson, farmer, Huntsville; Robert H. Hays, farmer, Provo; S. V. Crow, farmer, Huntsville; Peter J. Christensen, farmer, Plain City; William M. Wade, farmer, Pleasant View; J. B. Ballantyne, accountant, Ogden.

Eighty at Banquet for Scout Leaders

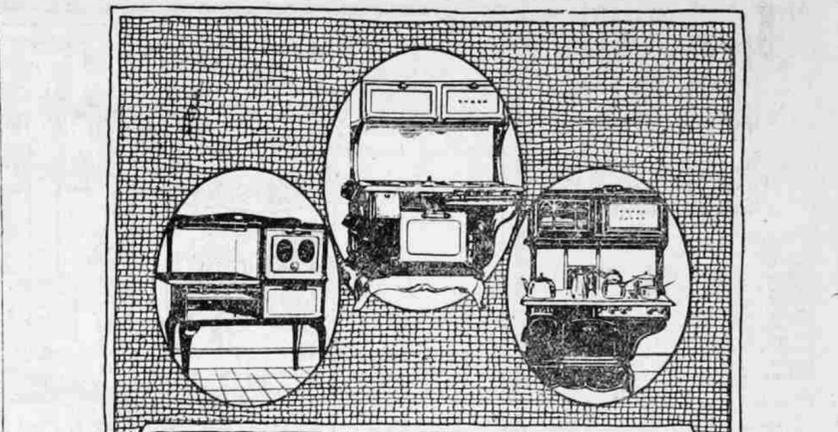

Eighty men were in attendance at the banquet given at the Weber club last night by the local chapter of the Boy Scouts of America. The banquet was the final chapter in the scout leaders' school which closed Tuesday evening.

Addresses were made by Scoutmaster G. A. Goates, Mayor Frank Francis, Fred G. Taylor, Supt. W. Karl Hopkins, Thomas Macinnis, E. S. Hinckley, Judge Dan Sullivan, Rev. J. E. Carver and C. A. Boyd. Fred Taylor was the toastmaster and G. A. Goates acted as chairman. Musical numbers and songs by the various scout leaders were other features.

DIVORCE GRANTED.

Decree of divorce was granted yesterday afternoon by Judge A. E. Pratt in the district court to Cleo Whitney from Charles Whitney on the ground of non-support. The plaintiff was granted the custody of two minor children and $40 a month alimony.

NEW WORK FOR WEBER TEACHER

Care of County School Property During Vacation in Their Hands

Care of school property during summer months and the taking of school census will be added to the duties of Weber county teachers, employed for a twelve-month period. These duties were recommended by A. Fowler, superintendent of the Weber county schools, to the board of education and were adopted by the board.

School property heretofore for three or four months in the year has lain largely in the hands of the county superintendent, who, with somewhat disastrous results to windows and sometimes to other equipment. The school census, also, taken frequently by persons not familiar with school work, is not always as accurate as authorities would like it to be, particularly in view of the fact that not only is the school district required to compel attendance of pupils up to the age of 18 years, but also it gets a considerable revenue from the state in proportion to the school population.

Mr. Fowler's recommendations to the board contain this paragraph as to the duties of the twelve-month school workers:

"In addition to supervising and directing the project work (featuring activities in health, vocational and civic and patriotic work), the twelve-month workers will, as far as possible, care for school property, take school census, be recreational leaders, or help provide leadership for Boy Scout work. Beehive work, baseball, swimming, hikes, picnics, excursions, programs, glee clubs, choirs, orchestras, etc., and will assist and cooperate with community leaders in all organizations that make for better citizenship, confer with parents and pupils in selection of high school course of individual pupils for the coming year, be otherwise assist in vocational guidance, and help make up classes at certain periods in the summer at schoolhouse for retarded students, and otherwise cooperate with the parents of the children to keep them up to grade."

Postoffice Employees Take Thanksgiving Off

Postmen, mail clerks, and in fact, the entire working force at the postoffice, did not report for work this morning. Many of them, it is reported, took long walks, conducive to creating an appetite for the Thanksgiving dinner.

Because the entire force was not required to work, there was no carrier service in the city.

Deputies Recapture 'Gunboat Jack' Smith

"Gunboat Jack" Smith, Ogden pugilist, who escaped from the Salt Lake county jail a few days ago, was arrested yesterday afternoon in North Ogden by Deputy Sheriffs Dick Wootton and Joseph Chadwick and is now held in the county jail for the Salt Lake authorities.

The officers said they arrested Smith in the home of his mother-in-law and met with no resistance when they took him into custody. Smith appeared to view his escape as a joke and when questioned regarding the details, he said: "They let me walk around outside the jail, so I kept on walking." Smith said he escaped with a Mexican who followed him so closely after leaving the jail that he had a difficult job in "shaking him."

Smith will be returned to Salt Lake at once.

BELGIANS MAKE RAPID PROGRESS

Val Browning Returns Home With Praise for Energetic People

So rapidly and thoroughly has the work of reconstruction proceeded in Belgium that few signs of the great conflict remain, according to Val Browning, of Ogden, son of John M. Browning, firearms inventor, who has just returned to Ogden from a business trip to Belgium.

"Unless one visits Ypres, Dixmude, Louvain and one or two other centers about which great struggles were waged, one could hardly believe that Belgium had endured many months of pitiless German occupation," Mr. Browning said.

The Belgians are a remarkably thrifty and industrious people. These traits coupled with the fact that the nation was the first to receive indemnity under the treaty of Versailles, account for the rapid rebuilding of the nation.

"Factories are humming and every bit of ground in Belgium is being carefully cultivated to bring forth its limit in produce. Altogether my visit gave me many surprises to observe the rapid recovery."

Mr. Browning was in Belgium in connection with the manufacture there of the arms invented by his father, arms for which the Brownings hold the patents. He expects to return to Belgium in the course of a few weeks.

Police Searching for Missing Ogden Man

John Strevers, 75 years old, who disappeared on November 25, is being sought by the police. Mr. Strevers departed from the home of Mrs. A. R. Clark, 849 Thirtieth street, Tuesday morning, apparently bound for the house of another relative living at 3143 Adams avenue.

He never arrived at the second residence, it is reported.

Mr. Strevers is a G. A. R. veteran and was carrying $200 when he was last seen. There is a possibility, it is stated, that he has departed for Idaho to visit relatives in that state.
