PLATES STOLEN Are Nabbed as They Eat Breakfast in Restaurant

BALTIMORE, Dec. 23.—Discovery has been made here of one of the five bills stolen by armed bandits in the raid of the United States federal reserve bank at Denver, last night. Police officials here declared the bill was passed at a downtown restaurant last night. It was dated Jan. 1, 1923.

SUSPECTS NABBED.
SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 23.—Seven men who arrived in Santa Fe driving a touring car were taken into custody today for investigation. Officers at Las Vegas wired local officials here, believing they were the bandit fugitives who held and robbed United States federal reserve bank employees of $200,000 at the bank last Monday. It appears, however, that the men are innocent. All seven Denver residents, who carried heavy suitcases containing clothes and the usual personal belongings but nothing of an incriminating nature. All gave Denver residents' addresses and in some cases business addresses which officers from Santa Fe are being checked up. The license number of the car was believed to have been stolen there a few days ago from a car of a Santa Fe man.

The men will not be released until investigation has convinced officers that they were in no way connected with the Denver robbery.

RAUCOUS YANKEE HAS LOST HIS MIND

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 23.—James W. Somborn, once an international figure in Germany's wide-spread anti-American propaganda, is inmate of the Worcester state hospital. Somborn figured prominently in the expose of Ambassador Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany," being detailed by the ambassador that Somborn made a practice of going from place to place at the President Wilson and the United States.

Somborn, according to brain surgeons, is subject to delusions of his importance and believes he is persecuted by all with whom he comes in contact. Somborn was committed to the Northampton hospital from Worcester and was transferred to Worcester after refusing to accept treatment until his commitment.

NO CHRISTMAS FESTIVITY AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Christmas at the White House will lack much of the usual spirit of times gone by because of Mrs. Harding's illness.

There will be no house guests and no Christmas tree. Neither the president nor Mrs. Harding has made any holiday plans. She has come down stairs in her wheel chair and preside at the table for Christmas dinner but otherwise the day will be like any other day since she was taken ill.

To add a little cheer, the White House has Yuletide wreaths in the windows, and there will be a profusion of flowers.

As a Christmas present to the thousands of government employees, President Harding issued an executive order closing the government department desks and offices at that hour tonight at noon today, and at that hour most high officials as well as closed up their desks and went home.

The senate, too, joined in the early beginning of the Christmas season, holding only a short session, but the house went ahead with the consideration of appropriation bills.

Ex-Kaiser Gets Busy When
He Learns of Profits to Be Made From Pictures

DOORN, Holland, Dec. 23.—The former German emperor has sold to a London and New York company the world rights in what he describes as the first official photo of his recent wedding. The price paid was $10,000.

The picture shows the former kaiser in the uniform of a field marshal. Princess Hermine is wearing the famous diadem, the wedding gift of her husband.

It is understood that Wilhelm was considerably annoyed when he learned of the profits that had been made from the sale of his portrait by unofficial and unauthorized photographers and this consideration, together with a desire to augment his income, induced him to make the sale.

Elaborate and extensive preparations are being made at Doorn castle for the Christmas season.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—Protests against the reinstatement of Roscoe Arbuckle continued to accumulate here.

MEMBERS OF HOODED BAND FACE ARREST

Fate Seems to Be Against Louisiana Kidnapers
and Slayers

DYNAMITING FAILS

Attempt to Destroy Incriminating
Corpses Brings
Them to Light

MERROUGE, La., Dec. 23.—The wire bound and mutilated bodies of two men recovered yesterday in Lake La Fourche by state troops, believed to be those of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, who disappeared after being kidnaped by masked and white robed men last August, were further identified today when viewed by Richards' widow, J. L. Daniels is said to have worn when spirited away.

Identification of Watt Daniels is complete, according to authorities because of the initials "F. W. D." found on a belt buckle and buckle Daniels is said to have worn when spirited away.

Identification of Watt Daniels is complete, according to authorities because of the initials "F. W. D." found on a belt buckle and buckle Daniels is said to have worn when spirited away.

FEAR BODY STEALING

The bodies are lying in the Masonic temple, where they are guarded by a detachment of Monroe national guards. The guards are armed with automatic rifles and were instructed by Captain W. W. Cooper to shoot persons who may attempt to spirit away the bodies.

The inquest probably will be held later today, according to advices from Dr. Fred Patterson, Morehouse parish coroner, who returned today to Bastrop.

CLASH IS LOOMING

MERROUGE, La., Dec. 23.—Attempts to positively identify the mutilated bodies of the two men cast up by a heavy charge of dynamite were to be made today. Relatives and friends after viewing the bodies yesterday expressed the belief that they were those of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, missing since the night of August 24, when they were kidnaped by a hooded band. The partial identification of the bodies was made by means of the belts worn by the two men and a few shreds of clothing.

Mrs. Anna Garrettsen of West Monroe, mother of Richards, was expected to arrive here today and view the bodies.

PROTECTION NEEDED

The attorney general is said to have stated that the additional troops would be used to protect those engaged in the investigation of the kidnaping and to prevent a possible clash between opposing elements. An autopsy over the bodies to determine if they were killed before being thrown into the lake was scheduled for today. A troop guard will be maintained over the bodies until the completion of the autopsy and an exhaustive effort at positive identification has been made.

ARRESTS IMMINENT

It was generally believed that arrests of at least 20 persons in Morehouse parish and the Mer Rouge neighborhood, alleged members of the hooded band, whose names are said to have been secured by department of justice agents, will follow if the bodies of the two men are identified as those of Daniels and Richards.

It was officially stated that no one connected with the search for the missing men in an official inquiry was involved in the dynamiting of the lake, which caused the bodies to rise to the surface.

RESISTANCE EXPECTED

Some resistance is expected when the state's warrants calling for arrest of a number of men believed to have been the ringleaders of the hooded men are served with indictments here. The presence of an additional body of state troops was believed will serve as a precaution against a probable outbreak.

Special investigators of the department of justice working under the direction of the governor are said to have a partial list of members of the hooded mob. Many names were secured several months ago when the investigators reported an attempt was made during the night by a group of men to reach a spot on La Fourche lake guarded as the probable resting place of the bodies.

BODIES ARE RELEASED

The opinion is advanced that these same men returned in the dead hours of the night and placed a charge of dynamite and released the decapitated, wire-bound bodies from the weight that for four months had held them snugly to the bottom of the lake. Divers spent the afternoon seeking to locate the rusty wagon wheels that were missing from the banks of the lake simultaneously with the disappearance of the men, the only missing link in the chain of evidence the investigators had submitted to the

Merely a Letter To the Editor

Standard Examiner:
After reading Mayor Francis' speech at the First Methodist church last Sunday I decided to write and ask you to print the following in your paper. My husband is sick, but we saved enough to pay our taxes. And the last day he left home for the purpose of doing so. And I supposed he had done so until my attention was called to the advertisement of our name in the delinquent list. Like many others he had hoped, I suppose, to win more at the gambling table for Christmas, but the it all went because the man was intoxicated, which of course those in charge make sure of. Else they could not get all of their money. Will all who read this and who have suffered through the curse of drink make it known through The Standard-Examiner. And I do hope that those who have these problems in charge will make our city clean of all such things so there will be many more happy homes before another Christmas time comes around.

Yours with good wishes,
P. S.—My husband has been unable to work for over ten years.

POPE PLEADS FOR RULE OF LOVE IN WORLD

Pontiff Condemns Divorce,
Modern Dancing and Immodest Fashion

ROME, Dec. 23.—(By The Associated Press).—The probability that the pope will call the next jubilee year of the church in the papal encyclical issued today. Such a meeting would be a continuation of the Ecumenical council which was held in Rome in 1870.

Pope Pius' encyclical recalls the recent conflicts in Italy and the efforts of the church to quiet them. Among the peaceful events of recent years it calls attention to the twentieth century's progress in science, industry, and the great religious manifestation attendant upon the transportation of the image of the Virgin from Rome to Loreto.

The letter denouncing present world evils which it says are caused by greediness for material things, says that the remedy is chiefly to be found in a return to Christ, which means peace, justice and love among all peoples, respect for order and authority and combating materialism as well as teaching true democracy and brotherhood.

Pope Pius, announcing the probability of his summoning a meeting of the entire episcopacy of the world in Rome in the course of his approaching jubilee year as a continuation of the Ecumenical council at the Vatican held here in 1870.

The pontiff praises efforts at universal pacification. He condemns divorce, modern dances and immodest fashion.

The encyclical expresses the hope that all those who are still outside the church of Christ may enter it. The pope says he is encouraged in this hope by the fact that nearly all the states of the world have entered into relations with the apostolic see. He regrets that Italy is not among these, and protests against the situation of the holy see in this country, which, he said, has nothing to fear from it.

The encyclical ends with an exhortation to prayer and with the bestowal of the apostolic benediction.

FATAL STOCKYARDS DISEASE BREAKS OUT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Reports have reached the department of agriculture of outbreaks of shipping fever or stockyards fever among cattle and sheep in the middlewest. The disease is known as hemorrhagic septicaemia, a blood poisoning, which proves fatal quickly, according to the bureau of animal industry. Disinfection of stockyards which may be effective temporarily, cannot be relied upon to protect animals shipped to farms for feeding, according to the department's experts. They suggest vaccination of susceptible animals from stockyards as an effective measure of controlling the disease.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—Four bandits shot and wounded Ross Dennis, paymaster of the Pittsburgh Coal company, today, and escaped with a satchel containing about $20,000 in currency. They covered the superintendent and the guards, obtained the satchel and escaped.

AMERICANS FACE SMUGGLING CHARGE

MOSCOW, Dec. 23.—(By The Associated Press).—A statement signed by a soviet liaison officer published in the Izvestia with reference to the article recently printed in the journal charging the members of the American relief administration were smuggling contraband articles out of Russia, declared that the article was misleading and that he felt it necessary to explain.

After presenting certain facts which are supposed to have led to the publication of the article, the officer's statement says:

"It was quite clear that in this case we were compelled to deal with the actions of individuals, but to accuse the American relief administration as a whole was quite impossible."

"On the contrary, the higher officials of the administration, particularly Captain Tyrrel Koun (its acting director) met all soviet demands regarding the control of mail and the identifying of persons responsible for misuse of their trust. The individuals who violated the agreement and the customs regulations will be called to trial and will be deprived of the right to continue the American relief administration's work in Russia or elsewhere."

GIRL IS WOUNDED BY FOSTER FATHER

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 23.—Elsie Wyman, 15 years of age, was shot and seriously wounded by John R. Wyman, her foster father, during a quarrel which followed his scolding her for disobeying him, recovered consciousness for a short time Friday and gave the version of the shooting to the police. She said Wyman came into her room and began voicing his objections regarding persons who was associating with, she said a heated argument followed and she got up and started to leave the room. Then Wyman, according to the girl's story, pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot her.

"He didn't understand," the girl said. "He didn't think a girl could associate with anyone and still be respectable. I am not a bad girl and he ought to know it. He would not let me pick my chums and wanted me to quit going to school."

Wyman in his story of the shooting, said he pointed the gun at the girl to frighten her, and that it was accidentally discharged.

RADICALS' FLIGHT ENRICHES AMERICA

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The United States was enriched to the extent of $15,000 Friday through the flight to Russia two years ago of William D. Haywood, I. W. W. leader who was under prison sentence at the time. The money represented the amount of his bonds, and was paid by William Bros. Lloyd, wealthy Communist recently released from Joliet prison after his sentence for violation of the anti-anarchism law had been commuted and Otto Christiansen, attorney for Haywood. The $5000 bonds for Charles Rothfuser, another I. W. W., now in Hungary, were also paid. Payment of the bonds, however, it was pointed out, does not mean that either of the men can escape arrest should they return to America.
