NYE'S

May 20

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Some trouble threatens you which a little more understanding on your part might avert. If under the guidance of others, do not shift all responsibility on them. Try to understand as you follow them.

Those born today will have a taste for literature and oratory and, of course, their success depends on a broad and tolerant education. The study of religion and of scientific research combined will give them the steady poise most needed.

MORE HOOKWORM CASES ARE FOUND

Families of Wilson and Plain City Under Surveillance Until State and County Health Authorities Complete Examinations of Specimens of the Worms.

To investigate suspected cases of hookworm which have been reported as existing in Wilson and in Plain City, State Sanitary Inspector Emory of Salt Lake has been sent to Ogdens under orders from the state board of health. The names of the suspected patients were not given out but it has been learned that the families came to Ogdens from Georgia.

Following the reports of the hookworm cases by County Physician A. Robinson, the state board has been asked to investigate and strictly quarantine the cases in order that the disease do not spread.

Utah presents new difficulties in the hookworm problem for the reason that the larvae of the worm can be carried long distances by the irrigating streams. The two families said to be afflicted live along irrigation canals into which larvae may be washed to find lodging places in other fields and from the vegetables of those fields be taken into the human system.

While in the south, the disease is usually contracted through going barefooted, Dr. Robinson states that in this part of the country there is grave danger of an epidemic through eating green vegetables upon which the larvae have lodged. Vegetables that are cooked present no danger because the heat would kill and render harmless the vegetables, but the vegetables such as lettuce, onion and radishes give opportunity for the contraction of the disease.

It is understood that the state board has awakened to the danger of infection that residents living near cases of hookworm are exposed to, and if the county physician's suggestions are followed, a thorough canvass among the southern people who have immigrated here will be made.

Dr. Beattie of the state board of health is examining specimens of the worms submitted to him and, until the suspicions are verified, the names of the patients are to be withheld.

RAWHIDE KELLY PACKED HOUSE STRUCK HIS WIFE AT SCHOOL OPERETTA

Ida Ella Ludwig has filed suit for divorce in the district court against Franklin M. Ludwig, familiarly known in the community as "Rawhide Kelly," charging failure to provide and cruelty, also alleging that the defendant left the state in May, 1912. Ludwig was a deputy under the late Sheriff E. E. Harrison.

Mrs. Ludwig stated in her complaint that she married the defendant in Denver, Colo., September 17, 1907, and that for the past year or more he has failed to provide the necessities of life for her and a minor child. In 1910 and 1911, she avers, he maltreated her by striking her with his fists. She asks for divorce and the custody of the child.

A packed house greeted the 600 school children of Ogdens appearing in the operetta, "The Pioneers," at the Orpheum theater this afternoon and the seat sale points to a house for this evening that will break the record of last year's public school production.

In view of the large crowd in the audience and on the stage, Supt. J. M. Mills arranged for extra fire precautions.

The big dress rehearsal was held at 10 o'clock this morning when the young people went through the play just as it was presented this afternoon and as it will be given again this evening. There were Indian costumes galore, and the paint upon the faces of the boys turned the usual mild mannered school boys into savages of the most blood-thirsty type. Then too there were beautiful young ladies attractively costumed in conventional colonial costumes and there were also numerous Indian maidens calculated to ensnare the hearts of the bold pioneers who ventured into the unknown country.

The music to the operetta is tuneful and the plot to the play is interesting and well adapted to the youthful performers. In addition to the main production, there are other features consisting of drills and dances during the intermissions and at appropriate moments throughout the production.

The cast of the play is as follows:

Miss Gertrude Watson, Pianist.

DISAPPEARANCE OF PITCHER ANNIS

Manager Cliff Blankenship of the Missoula baseball team is worried over the disappearance of Fred Annis, one of his pitchers, who has not been seen or heard of for two days. Since all his baggage is with the club and it would be ridiculous to his baseball prospects to go away with such irregularity, the Missoula manager believes that he is either sick or hurt.

Annis disappeared following the game on Sunday with Salt Lake. When the club came to Ogdens it was thought that the pitcher had either come ahead of the team or would follow Annis was not here and had not been to the hotel and the members of the team are becoming worried over their team mate's absence.

Blankenship stated this afternoon that he is well satisfied with his team and sees no reason for changes. "We are hitting well and are good on bases. The only trouble right now is with the pitchers who are suffering of sore arms. In a few days all will be well and we will begin to climb the ladder."

"I have no fault to find with any of the men. They are doing their best and are not out nights carousing. If we were losing and the men were not taking care of themselves, I would have some complaints to make, but the boys are behaving well."

Blankenship stated that the fans of Ogdens need not worry about the home club's prospects. "Knight knows the players," he said, "and the weak points will be remedied."

Missoula's batting order has been changed by the manager and the arrangement for today is as follows:

Perine, Carmate, Tobin, Roberts, Changnon, Basser, Dasehbach, Treackell and Maloney.

Maloney is scheduled to pitch for Missoula and Roberts catch.

For Ogdens Fowler will pitch and Perkins catch.

Foley, a fast shortstop, and Wentz, an infielder, who played with Indianapolis last season, will join Knight's staff tomorrow and others may be expected soon.

Remington, the pitcher formerly on the Ogdens club, went to Glenwood this afternoon wearing a Missoula uniform.

Manager Blankenship has made a move that should materially strengthen his club. He has signed John G. Thompson, better known to the fans in this neck of the woods as "Big Gus" Thompson. Thompson will join Blankenship on May 25. "Big Gus" was last seen in Utah when he pitched for "Bud" Gimlin's Ogdens team in the Pacific National league in 1905. Thompson is a native of Frank Gotcha's home town, Humboldt, Ia. He is a full fledged lawyer and began his baseball career as a pitcher on some of the best college teams in the middle west. In 1903 he was on the regular staff of the Pittsburg National of the Brooklyn, but preferred to come west. He joined Boise, where he finished the season, and also pitched in 1904. In 1905 he was taken on by Ogdens. In 1906 he was with Bruyette, Gimlin, Castleton, Hausen, Bluth, Bandellin and the other big leaguers on the famous "transformer" team at St. Anthony, Ida, which walked away with the Idaho state league pennant that year.

MASS MEETING OF WITNESSES

Chicago, May 20.—What Edwin P. Grosvenor, representing the government, called a "witnesses mass meeting" was uncovered in the harvester anti-trust hearing before a special examiner today. The discovery came in the cross-examination of C. J. Salton, an implement dealer of Smithsboro, Ill. According to the government representative, of late he has found difficulty in persuading dealers to tell what percentage of the implements they handle are made by the International Harvester company.

"Has not some one had a talk with you about what you would testify here today?" Grosvenor asked Salton.

"No, not exactly," replied Salton. "What do you mean by that?"

"Well, not to me personally. There was a meeting of us witnesses this morning and one of the Harvester attorneys, T. J. Doyle, of Lincoln, Neb., talked to us."

"Where was this meeting?"

"About twenty of us—all that are here in court get together at the Great Northern hotel."

Doyle, the witness said, explained to them why they had been called to Chicago and explained the nature of the case against the company.

"Something was said to you about percentages of sales of International production in your territory, wasn't there?" pursued Grosvenor.

"Yes; something was said about that."

"What was said?"

"I don't remember."

Similar interrogations were put to each witness who followed Salton on the stand, but they answered either that nothing was said about percentages or that they did not recall what was said.

BOYS CAUSE AN AUTO FIRE AT NOON

Mischivous boys turned on the power in the electric runabout owned by the Electric Service company today at 12:30 o'clock. The car was in such a position that it could not move and the heat generated by the current acting on the motor started a blaze.

A call was sent to the central station from the company's office on Twenty-fourth street and the blaze was extinguished by the chemical of the auto truck.

Although the blaze did not touch the wood work, the heat generated did considerable damage to the batteries and motor.

Those arrested are Olga Worst and her companion, George Turner, alias Israel, Anita Johnson and Emil Hurst. Lee R. Roundtree is sought but was not found.

Lane charges that the women are in the business of marrying old men with money and then deserting them. Between times they are alleged to act as decoys for a bunco ring operating Denver and San Francisco.

DEATH OF FLAGLER

Standard Oil Magnate Succumbs to Injuries Received By a Fall Down Flight of Stairs—Aided in Building Up Florida

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 20.—Henry M. Flagler, aged 83, capitalist and railroad magnate, died at his winter home here this morning after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Flagler recently fell down a flight of stairs at his home and because of his advanced age his recovery had not been anticipated.

Henry M. Flagler was born at Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1830. Little is known of his early life except that he was clerk in a country grocery in Orleans county, Michigan, while in his teens. Later he removed to Saginaw, Mich. where he engaged in the manufacture of salt.

Becoming interested in the possibilities of the petroleum industry, he removed to Cleveland, O., where he organized the company of Rockefeller, Andrews and Flagler, engaging in the refining of oil. The Standard Oil company was the outgrowth of this venture and Mr. Flagler has remained actively connected with the management of the great corporation since its inception.

In 1855 Mr. Flagler paid his first visit to Florida and became impressed with the business possibilities presented there by the railroad. He, in connection with the development of winter resorts.

REVISE THE SCHEDULES

Majority Members of the Finance Committee Hear Preliminary Reports Upon Some of the Suggested Changes in the Tariff Bill

Washington, May 20.—Majority members of the senate finance committee held their first meeting today to hear preliminary reports from the sub-committees working on the tariff bill and suggesting revisions for approval of the entire committee and the Democratic caucus.

Senator Stone reported that the metal schedule practically had been completed by his sub-committee but that it was being considered a second time with the aid of an expert from the customs appraisers office in New York. Some changes in the schedule have been made but, it is believed, to arouse the opposition of the house Democrats.

Senator Johnson reported that the chemical schedule had been finished by his sub-committee and that about thirty changes had been made, affecting chiefly dyes used in the manufacture of cotton goods. No reports were made relating to sugar and wool.

The entire committee had under consideration the administrative changes suggested by Assistant Attorney General Dennison and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, relative to preventing undervaluations and the proclaiming of values by the secretary of the treasury.

SORROW OF A MAN DOWN AND OUT

A study in black and white was offered to Judge W. H. Heeder in police court this morning in the cases of Walter Jones, charged with vagrancy, and Wm. Gibson, colored, charged with the same offense. Both men admitted that they had used "hop" at times but that, realizing their wretched condition had been struggling to give up their degrading habits, in both cases the judge ordered sentences suspended.

Walter Jones stated that he is a barber by trade but had become "down and out" since his wife died five weeks ago. He said that since he had been in Ogdens it was only possible for him to get work in shops on Saturday evenings and that it was a struggle to get along.

Gibson told an equally hard luck story from his point of view. He had been weaning himself from drugs by means of a mixture of "yen shee" and port wine which he drank to still the cravings. He had met Jones in the restaurant where he had been working and that, he said, was the reason that the two had been together on Saturday night when the arrest was made.

On the recommendation of Commissioner J. C. Nye, three arc lights on Canyon road, east of Glenwood park, and one on Chester avenue and Washington, were authorized. Mr. Nye stated that the street department would remove brush from the canyon road extension at earliest convenience.
