KILLED IN THE MOTOR RACE YESTERDAY

In view of more than 1500 spectators, who had assembled to witness the athletic program at the Fair Grounds, Augustus D. Roman, aged 20 years, a resident of Riverdale, was dashed to his death during the motorcycle race yesterday afternoon. Unable to make the turn of the half-mile track while his machine was traveling at an estimated speed of seventy miles an hour, he crashed into the fence, death resulting ten minutes later from numerous injuries. His neck was broken in several places and he sustained a fracture of the skull.

The accident occurred about 3:15 o'clock, during the second motorcycle race of the afternoon. In the first race three single-cylinder machines had contested, and Roman had entered with a twin-cylinder Indian against Lester Terry, Harry Tagris and Harry Martin in the second race, which was for the higher powered machines. In the first two laps around the half-mile track the four riders had shown great speed and considerable recklessness, the time being 54 and 51 seconds, respectively, in the first and second laps. As Roman came down the stretch of the grandstand on the third lap he was considerably in the lead of the others and traveling at a terrific speed. After seeming to successfully handle the turn at the lower end of the stretch, and when a short distance from the quarter pole, he turned his head to look for the other riders behind him. It is believed that this was the fatal move, for a second later the motorcycle swerved close to the fence at the outer edge of the track. With the first impact the rider was seen to straighten up, the machine glancing away from the fence, but after covering a distance of perhaps thirty feet it again crashed into the fence. This time both motor and rider were hurled to the track in a cloud of dust.

When first assistance reached the young man he was lying unconscious in a pool of blood. Upon the arrival of Dr. R. E. Worrell it was announced that the rider's neck had been broken and that he was dying. He was placed in an ambulance for the trip to the hospital, but died before the machine reached Washington avenue. The body was then taken to the Lindquist undertaking establishment. As a result of the fatal accident the management of the athletic event called off the other motorcycle races, but proceeded with the remaining events on the program. The other riders in the race were completely unnerved by the accident to Roman. Augustus Daniel Roman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Roman well-known residents of Weber county. He was born in this city in September, 1892, being in his twenty-first year at the time of his death. It was found that the neck had been broken, the skull was fractured and a long splinter was imbedded in the side. Almost any of the three injuries would have been sufficient to cause death.

Besides his father, the young man is survived by three brothers, Charles, Victor and LeRoy, and by two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Wheelwright and Miss Gertrude Roman. Some of his relatives were at the grounds and saw the accident. The funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Riverdale meeting house, Bishop A. A. Bligham presiding. The casket will be open at the home at Riverdale Sunday forenoon. Interment in Ogden City cemetery.

MOVING PICTURE HOUSE ARE SANITARY

As a result of an inspection visit paid to the moving picture theaters of Ogden last night, Sanitary Inspector George Shorten has given out the information that one need not fear the germs that lurk in bad air while satisfying a craving for the "movies." Mr. Shorten declares that in all theaters he found excellent systems of ventilation and that the thermometers did not register unhealthy degrees of temperature. Last night was selected by the inspector for his visit because of the general warmth of the evening and because the crowds would be larger as it was a holiday evening. Beginning at one end of "moving picture row," he stopped in at each theater and carefully recorded the temperature from the thermometers which were ordered placed in positions by the inspector. Several sniffs of the air were also taken but no grounds for complaint were found. The city inspector said that the managers have taken extra precautions to insure well ventilated houses and the excellence of the ventilating and cooling systems surprised me," said the inspector today.

MYSTERY OVER A MISSING WATCH

A case in which circumstantial evidence is strong, was heard in Judge Reeder's court this morning. Serfino Adino was the defendant, charged with taking from the house of Mrs. M. Ritchie, on 26th street, a gold watch valued at $25, but the straightforward story told by Adino makes his guilt uncertain. The story told by Adino and Alex Ritchie, the son of Mrs. Ritchie, is identical and is as follows: Adino had met young Ritchie, who is a messenger boy at an Italian grocery store on 25th street, and the two became friends because young Ritchie told Adino that he was of Italian parentage. Adino took Alex and a chum to a picture show on Tuesday and on Wednesday the defendant met the boy and asked him to go to a show again. Before going, however, Adino asked Alex to take his bicycle to his home and notify his mother of his intention. Young Ritchie asked Adino to accompany him to his home, which Adino did. At the house the boy found his mother to be away and asked Adino to come in while he changed his uniform. Adino did so unwillingly and was seated in the bedroom. The boy looked at a gold watch upon the dresser as he changed his clothing and exhibited it to his friend. The watch was placed in the case and as the two prepared to go, Adino asked to comb his hair and was directed to the dresser where there was a comb. The two then went to the picture show.

After the boy had left his friend at the gate of the Ritchie home, he was notified by his mother that the watch had disappeared. The boy at once called to Adino who had not gone far and the Italian returned. He denied that he had taken the watch and permitted the boy to search him. He told Mrs. Ritchie that he regretted that he, a stranger, had gone into the house and, although he agreed the case was suspicious, declared that he had not taken the watch. Before leaving, he left his address, telling the mother that he would return in the morning to see if the watch has been found.

The mother notified the police and Adino was taken from his room to the house again where, after still further denying his guilt, Mrs. Ritchie asked that he be held. The stories told by the boy and the Italian were according to the foregoing but in addition Adino added that while in the house young Ritchie had said that some one entered the home a few days ago and had taken a pair of trousers. Adino said that when he suggested to the mother that perhaps the same thief might have returned, the mother declared that it was her husband who had taken the trousers.

The story told by Adino impressed the judge and he asked that the case be investigated by the city detectives and that a report be made on Monday.

PATHE WEEKLY GLOBE

Some of our patrons are not aware of the change in the date of showing Pathe's Weekly. Formerly it was shown on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, but now it can be seen at the Globe Theatre each week for four days: Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. By making this change we are able to be right up to date with it. Pathe Weekly is always released on Monday of each week and we can now put it on in the Globe theatre three days later.

This week's issue is very good, showing events in St. Louis, Naples, New York, and other places. It is a very interesting view of seven thousand little girls swarming over Central Park, New York, in their sixth annual festival and another one of fifteen hundred ballets tooting the mark in Wall avenue between 20th and 21st streets and 20th street between Washington and Wall avenues; under plans and specifications prepared by the City Engineer and approved by the Board of City Commissioners.

LEGAL NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SOUTH IS NOW A LAND OF GREAT PROMISE

It is the only American city I ever visited. Almost the entire white population is of old-time American stock. "One is struck very forcibly by the lack of green grass all through that region. Blue grass and lawn grass do not thrive on the red soil and fine green lawns and pastures are wanting. "Peaches and watermelons were ripe and all the earlier fruits and flowers had passed. They are just commencing to undertake peach and apple growing upon a large scale for northern markets, and, from reports, they will do well in this time. "Atlanta is a city of remarkably high moral and religious standards. The city impressed me as an ideal place for a home during the spring, fall and winter, but as the thermometer stood at 85 in the shade week before last, I would not like it for the summer. "The general assembly of the Presbyterian church was a most important and successful one. Delegates were present from every portion of country under the American flag and they were all entertained with true southern hospitality. No residence was too fine to serve as home for some of the four thousand delegates and guests. This being the first union meeting of the northern and southern churches since the war the entire town did all it could to make all alike welcome. They appreciate northerners down in Atlanta for their buildings and developments are being made possible because of northern money."
