How to Fight the High Cost of Living

Account Books For Children, Carefully Kept, An Excellent Early Training—Dainty Articles Easily Made—Rhubarb Marmalade—Strawberry Sponge.

ACCOUNT BOOKS FOR CHILDREN.

"Editor Standard Woman's Page: Having had an early training which taught me to do without things that were beyond my means, and being of a disposition to judge my circumstances by those who had less rather than more than myself, I personally have not had as hard a time living within my income as many have. And I have hit upon a plan which I hope will be a great help to my three children. I have a separate account book for their individual needs, and they will at the end of the year know just how much each one has had spent upon his part."

"When each child reaches the age of 16 I expect to give him a monthly allowance, which I know will cover all his needs, and teach him how to use money to the best advantage. I hope my plan may help other mothers to help their children while they still have them in their training."

BREAKFAST CAPS AND SLIPPERS.

Combinat sets of breakfast caps and slippers. These are very nice for brides and graduation gifts. The caps and slippers are made of the same material, lace fine mull or silk. They are as elaborate as desired, often trimmed with silk flowers. The slippers are made with silk sole, the lace or desired material used being shirred on this with heading on the top for ribbon to be pulled through to tie.

MALINE RUFFS.

Maline ruffs are popular now. Buy two yards of black maline, which may be cut into strips five inches wide and eighteen inches long. Box plait these, join all together, bind at each end with black satin ribbon and sew on hooks and eyes. This is finished off with a black satin bow and short ribbon streamer.

CASES FOR DRINKING CUPS.

Make little white cases fastened with a snap fastener to contain collapsible paper drinking cups. Little cases are made of white material, and into each case slip a dozen flat cups. On the more elaborate cases outline with embroidery cotton a duck or water lily. These cases come in very handy when travelling.

BEDROOM SETS.

Get a couple of yards of white spotted tulle and a couple of yards of percale in any pretty color. Using the percale as a lining, make a good sized bag to contain a brush and comb, a padded handkerchief sachet, and a nightdress case which is pretty made in the shape of an envelope. These can be embellished with ribbon the

INLOW PLANS TO KILL THE JAILER

Salt Lake, June 9.—A second attempt on the part of Caleb A. Inlow, convicted murderer of Thomas "Eddie" White to escape from the county jail, this time by killing his jailer if need be, was foiled Saturday night.

As concrete evidence of the cruel cunning of Inlow's designs, a heavy bluejean, made of two pieces of iron wrapped in a piece of blanket, was found in the murderer's cell.

A pocket knife was found in the prisoner's pocket when he was searched. That he had contemplated murder as a means of escape is said to have been betrayed in a threat overheard by a prisoner, whose name is withheld, but who informed Sheriff Smith.

The pieces of iron for the murderous device had been wrenched, one from the wall of Inlow's cell, the other from that of J. E. Ives, alleged robber, accused of holding up the Peery bar on April 28. Each cell is fitted with a metal hook hinged to the steel wall in such a way as to catch and hold the hinged cot, which is folded up against the wall when not in use. The hooks are of bar iron, one and a half inches in width by one-fourth of an inch in thickness and about eight inches long. The two lashed together made a weapon weighing more than half a pound, heavier than a carpenter's hammer. The padding of the blanket would have deadened the sound of a blow.

Immediately after this discovery, which occurred before 10 o'clock Saturday night, Inlow was removed to the dungeon at the order of Sheriff Andrew Smith, Jr., who had been called from his bed by Jailer Beckstead. He remained there until yesterday morning, when he was allowed paper and pencil and a moment of light in which to write a note to Sheriff Smith, begging to be put back in his cell and promising that he would obey the rules of the jail. He was permitted the comparatively luxurious quarters of his cell last night, but slept without bedding. Sheriff Smith declares that he will leave the man no further chance for concealing anything.

"He has caused me a lot of trouble since I have been here and I am going to kill him," is said to have been the low-voiced threat made by Inlow in the hearing of another prisoner as he fashioned the weapon, the purpose of which was but too plain. The prisoner who heard the threat understood it to be directed toward Jailer R. M. Beckstead of the afternoon shift.

As the search of Inlow's bed revealed the presence of the crude but serviceable blackjack, so the search of his clothing resulted in the discovery of a pocketknife in one of his pockets.

With the fawning humility of a Uriah Heep, Inlow prayed for an interview with Jailer Beckstead. He attracted the attention of the jailer shortly after dusk by rattling a cup on the barred door of his cell. Asked what he wanted, he told the jailer that he wished a conference with him.

"Talk ahead," said the jailer. "But I can't talk here, let me come into the office with you," insisted Inlow. "I have important information that you ought to know."

Jailer Beckstead worked the lever that opened the slayer's cell, No. 17. The man walked to the end of the corridor, where but one set of bars were between him and the jailer. He still insisted that he could not talk there as some of the prisoners would hear him, and asked that he be taken into the office. Should the jailer have opened the steel door leading from the corridor he would have been at the mercy of the prisoner as he leaned over the lever a moment later in the act of closing it.

A swift, heavy blow, perhaps two blows, with the padded bluejean and the jailer would have been helpless while his keys would have been accessible to his assailant. Jailer Beckstead was suspicious and ordered the man back to his cell. Shortly afterward Assistant Jailer F. Billder got enough from another prisoner to enlighten him as to Inlow's plan.

The jailer, convinced that Inlow to the office of the jail where he was first searched and then guarded by Jailer Beckstead while Jailer Billder searched the cell.

The bluejean was found in the bedding of Inlow's cot, concealed there, it is thought, after his failure to coax his way to where he could have used it upon Jailer Beckstead earlier in the evening.

ORAL HYGIENE

Every time you open your mouth you invite the entry of disease. The air we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink, are full of germ life, looking for a chance to make a home in some human organism; and the tender membranes of the mouth and throat are ideal lodging places for disease-breeding bacteria.

Sore Throat, Catarrh, Laryngitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis—some malevolent microbes are responsible for these; and the prompt extinction of this microbes would prevent these ailments and the suffering which they cause.

Destroy the germ! Prevent disease and preserve health by keeping the mouth and throat clean through the use of an antiseptic mouth wash and gargle.

The best antiseptic to use is LISTOGEN. It goes farther than Peroxide of Hydrogen by uniting with that most efficient germ destroyer, the remedial and antiseptic properties of Thymol, Menthol and Eucalyptol.

With their help LISTOGEN not only destroys the germ, but in some degree repairs the damage that has been done.

Ask your druggist for LISTOGEN. You will delight in the purifying, refreshing sensation that it gives. 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 a bottle at A. R. McIntyre, Drugs, 2421 Wash Ave.

IDAHO HUNTERS SCORE.

Salmon City, Idaho, June 9.—The party of Boise hunters, consisting of Messrs. Emrick, Hinton and Humphreys, who have been in the mountains down the Salmon river for the past three weeks, returned this week with the skins of three bears and a cougar. The cougar measured ten and one-half feet from tip to tip. The hunters were obliged to turn back on finding a five-foot depth of snow on the north side of a ridge near Horse creek.

HONEYVILLE PIONEER DIES.

Brigham City, June 9.—In Honeyville tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services will be held over the body of B. H. Tolman, one of the leading men of that town and one of the oldest settlers in this country. Tolman died at his home there at an early hour yesterday morning. He was born in 1855 in the old fort built northwest of the Brigham town site and had been a resident of Box Elder county nearly all his life. He is survived by a widow and many sons and daughters. Interment will be in the town cemetery at Honeyville.

To Protect Hair and Skin in Summer

(National Beauty Notes)
To quickly regain the rich color, gloss and soft texture which the hair loses through improper care, shampoo frequently with a teaspoonful of canthox dissolved in a cup of hot water. It is unequalled both as a cleansing preparation and as a stimulant of the hair roots and tissues. It leaves the hair soft, fluffy, lustrous and easy to manage.

Skin needs a thorough bath each day to remove the dust and oil. Then a good face lotion, such as you can make from 4 ounces of surmum put into one-half pint witch hazel (or hot water), to which is added two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. After applying, rub face gently until dry. Faithful use of this lotion clears the skin of all impurities, removes the oily, sallow look, fine lines and premature, aged appearance and restores the youthful tint and fine texture which paint and powder can only imitate.

DEE HOSPITAL GRADUATES' EXERCISES

The first annual commencement exercises of the Dee hospital training school were held last evening at the Weber academy and eight graduates received their diplomas.

Mrs. Thomas D. Dee, the wife of the man in whose memory the hospital was built, called as nurse to the rostrum and presented the certificates of graduation.

The auditorium of the school had been decorated for the occasion in the training school colors, American flags, potted plants and cut flowers. In the background upon the platform was an enlarged picture of Thomas D. Dee. On one side of the picture sat the class of nurses and upon the other side were the participants in the program.

In his address to the graduates, Apostle D. O. McKay declared that the community owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Dee and children for the building of the hospital which makes possible the giving of better attention to the afflicted. The speaker talked on the qualities necessary to the successful nurse and told of the self-sacrifice and hard work that every nurse experiences.

"Nursing from the Doctor's Standpoint" was the subject of a short address by Mayor E. M. Conroy. He pointed out the vital relation of the doctor's and nurse's work to the recovery of patients.

Rev. W. W. Floetwood administered the Florence Nightingale pledge and Dr. E. H. Smith discussed the meaning of "The School Pin" while Miss Hall was making the presentations.

The Nichols' instrumental sextette gave two selections, one at the opening and the other at the close of the exercises. Miss Carrie Breining sang Chopin's "Nocturn," and Mrs. Fred Clark sang a group of songs.

The eight graduates were: Misses Ethel M. Edwards, Marie Rasmussen, Ruth Harbison, Leota A. Embling and Anna K. Hanson of Ogden; Lucille J. Dunbar of San Francisco; Frances Burrell of Davis City, Iowa; and Jean H. Sharp of Evanston, Wyo.

How English Beauties Keep Faces Youthful

Christian Miller, F. C. L., noted English health expert, attributes the early aging of American women mainly to the "national nervousness." The women of England, she says, can teach us the inestimable lesson of repose.

Another valuable lesson to be learned from the English woman is that she does not go in much for cosmetics, the continual use of which must ruin any complexion. The beauty devotees of King George's realm have the mercifulized wax habit, a more wholesome method of keeping the face girlish-looking and healthy. Ordinary mercifulized wax, used like cold cream, rejuvenates the worst complexion. American women may easily acquire the habit, this wax being obtainable at druggists generally in the United States. It is applied at night and washed off in the morning. One ounce is sufficient to completely renovate a bad complexion.

It has a peculiar action in keeping the face free from the particles of dead and devalitized scarf skin which are constantly appearing—Women's Herald. Adv.

NORDICA WILL BE HEARD IN OGDEN

Mme. Nordica, the brilliant and world-famous soprano who comes to Ogden under the auspices of the Ogden Tabernacle choir, will render a most varied program for her many admirers. Nordica will be assisted by Romayne Simmons, pianist, Franklin Holding, violinist, Paul DuFaut, tenor, and the Tabernacle choir.

Mme. Lillian Nordica is essentially womanly and notably so in her love of beautiful jewels. She is famed for her gorgeous costumes and elaborate jewelry. The diva, however, disapproves of hobble and harem skirts and all her gowns are of princess cut.

"Nothing should be worn that hampers free movement," says Mme. Nordica. "An artist conscious of her clothes cannot give of her best."

One especially effective "creation" is of peach colored satin embroidered in silver wheat, with touches of dark fur cunningly introduced. Another of white satin is veiled with an overdress of real Irish lace, the material for which was presented to the singer by the governor general of Ireland. Nordica's jewels are almost world-famous. Her collection of colored pearls is said to be unrivalled, while her emeralds, which are her favorite jewels, are magnificent enough to make an Irishman gasp with homesickness.

A new and charmingly becoming address which the diva has worn frequently during her present tour is a Juliet cap of diamonds with an enormous bunch of feathery black albatrosses at the side.

THIEVES CAUGHT BY THE SHERIFF

Yesterday afternoon Edwin Leslie and Alfonso Salazar took possession of two bicycles and started on their way to Salt Lake. When they reached the farm of J. C. Nye on the Ridge they entered the house and supplied themselves with edibles and also appropriated a watch and a small clock.

The sheriff's office was advised of the depredations of the young men and tracers were sent out in various directions. By 8 o'clock in the evening the lads were in the custody of the officers at Farmington. A deputy sheriff was dispatched after them and he returned them to the county jail.

The bicycles and the stolen property from the Nye farm were recovered. The boys are about 19 years old, one being a Mexican, claiming to have come here from San Francisco recently. The officers are of the opinion, though, that the young men are somewhat experienced in law breaking and that they burglarized a store at Farmington some time ago as they answer the description of the two young men who entered the place. They will be charged with burglary and theft.

The check given to Mrs. Monagan was for $16.25 and the man received $4.25 in change. Marsh is a laborer and has a wife and four children.

FORGED CHECKS CAUSE ARREST

Charged with passing two forged checks, one on Mrs. G. R. Watson, 355 Twenty-eighth street, and the other on Mrs. Monagan, 168 Poplar avenue, Franklin Marsh, living on Childs avenue between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets, was arrested yesterday and is now in the city jail. The police say he has confessed.

In both cases, it is alleged that Marsh secured change for the forged bills by pretending to pay room rent in advance.

Mrs. Watson stated that a man came to her yesterday asking for rooms. The arrangements were made and in advance payment on the room she gave her a check for $22.50 on the First National bank, made to Charles Curtis and signed by Lorenzo Jackson. The advance rent amounted to

DEEP CRACKS COVERED HANDS

And Itching Sores. Started with Pimples. Dreaded to Put Hand in Water. Scratched Until Blood Came. Cured in a Month by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

E. F. D. No. 3, No. Crystal Lake, Ill.—"I had a most painful itching right hand from the thumb to the wrist. It was covered with deep cracks and itching sores. I started with small white pimples that itched terribly and when I scratched them would open and a water-like stuff would come out. Scabs would form to my annoyance, and they would then come off and leave the hand red and raw. I had it for two years. It sometimes would heal and break out again."

"I tried salve but that only made it worse. I used different salves but none did me any good until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now I have no more trouble and there is not a scar to be seen. In a month my hand was cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Theo Freilburger, May 25, 1912.

SKYSCRAPERS IN THE NORTH

Salt Lake Tribune: Salt Lake City's representative in the Union association pennant race begins today its invasion of the northern half of the circuit with the first game of a series with Cliff Blankenship's Highlanders. The team led by the former Salt Lake captain appears to have struck its stride, as its several victories over Great Falls last week indicates. This winning streak of Blank's team served to put Manager McCloskey's team in first place but "friendship ceases" with the umpire's call of "play ball" this afternoon and the Mackmen will strive to increase their hold on first place at the expense of the clever Missoula manager.

The Skyscrapers begin their first series away from home in excellent shape. The acquisition of Catcher Fox has strengthened the only weak spot in the lineup and the former Quincy player.

The only doubtful spot in the Skyscrapers' line of defense is big Ed Erickson, the spitball pitcher, who is the only member of the squad who has not rounded into shape. The big right-hander was one of the best in the Union league last year, but so far this season has found it impossible to control the ball and has been derided in every game in which he took part. No doubt exists of his ability when he once recovers control.

Erickson is badly needed by McCloskey. Counting Leo Dressman as one of the quintette of boxmen, Mac has three southpaw twirlers, Castleton and Gaut being the others to leave from the port side. This leaves the burden of the right-handers on Cy Morgan and until Erickson rounds into form the team is under the novel handicap of having too many south-side fingers. While practically all other managers are anxiously scanning the baseball horizon for a dependable left-hand pitcher, McCloskey has an embarrassment of this kind of riches and is in urgent need of at least one more slabman who works with his knife hand.

The showing of Clyde Fox in the Ogden series has brought joy to the hearts of the local fans. The new receiver "has everything" including a knowledge of the fine points of the game, a great throwing arm and ability to hit the ball.

BUSINESS MEN BUILD ROAD

Alpena, Mich., June 10.—Eight thousand business and professional men and farmers in northeastern Michigan yesterday made road laborers of themselves and constructed more than 250 miles of roadway between Bay City and Mackinaw City. Where there had been at sunrise miles after mile of corduroy road, sand holes and swamps, nightfall found an almost unbroken stretch of gravelled highway.

The new road forms a part of the state highway from Detroit to Mackinaw City. The section built yesterday passes through forty-eight townships.

Four thousand teams and 750 automobiles participated in the great day. Women of the country also did their share of the work, 2,500 of them, being engaged in the task of feeding the workers along the route.
