COMPLETION OF CUT OFF IS URGED

The Weber club and the Ogden Publicity bureau are using their influence to have the completion of the Burley cutoff included in the next budget of the Oregon Short Line railroad. The business men of the city believe that additional prosperity will result to Ogden upon the completion of the road and with that in mind are urging action.

It is pointed out that the vast dry-farming districts of northern Utah and southern Idaho would have a market in Ogden and the railroad would have the effect of building up that part of the country. The short route to Burley would also be of advantage to the shippers of both states.

BOARD LOOKING INTO CITY'S ATTIC

Having been ordered to vacate the board of education office rooms "without delay," the building committee of the board, consisting of Supt. J. M. Mills, President Hyrum Pingree, William Levedahl and Leslie Hodgson, the architect, spent some time in the attic of the city hall today to determine if it were possible to take advantage of the commissioner's offer of the use of the third story.

The committee will make a report at the next board meeting and the matter of moving up another floor will probably be passed on at that time.

Before the place can be occupied, extensive improvements must be made. The entire third story is in the rough and the stairway would have to be extended. At present there is but a narrow stair which is used by the members of the band to get to the practice room which is used when the weather is not too hot.

Should the board decide to improve the attic, it will take several weeks before the rooms could be fitted up for occupancy.

Finley was committed to the State Mental hospital at Provo and Deputy Sheriff Joseph Crompton delivered him to the authorities of that institution.

The young man appeared first before County Physician A. A. Robinson, explaining to the doctor that he was subject to spells of insanity and that he desired treatment. The doctor immediately filed a complaint charging insanity and the examination followed. Finley stated that he rejoiced at the opportunity to go to the mental hospital as he was quite certain that he could be cured. He came to Ogden from Oregon.

Captain A. G. Cupp of the Grand Island, Neb., police force, arrived in the city today and learned that the man and woman, Rudolph Rudtze and Mrs. Jessie Vanlikok, refuse to return with him to Nebraska.

The two were wanted in Grand Island because of a complaint filed by the husband of the woman. It is alleged that the two left the city together.

WRESTLING AT HERMITAGE JULY 4

A wrestling match between Jack Harbertson and Frank McCarroll of Idaho Falls is to be a feature of the Purple day program at the Hermitage on July 4. For several months McCarroll has been training with Mike Yekel and Yekel is to be one of his proteges' heaviest backers.

Harbertson wrestled McCarroll before. McCarroll secured the decision from Jack in the first match and in the second at Ogden it took the Ogden man 55 minutes to secure the first fall which was gained by a toe-hold.

The Idaho man has developed into a heavyweight and now weighs 155 pounds. Although having reduced considerable in anticipation of the match with Jack, which he has tried for several months to get. Notwithstanding McCarroll's knowledge of the game gained through his association with Yekel, Harbertson stated today that he had no fears of the result of the match.

The match will be to a finish, the winner to secure two out of three falls.

There will be some interesting preliminaries to precede the main event. Although the complete program for Purple day has not been arranged by the Elks' committee, enough features have been provided to ensure a day of pleasure. There will be a "midway" lined up with tents containing the most startling stunts ever presented, and in addition there will be a number of daring aerial acts calculated to raise the hair of even the most nerveless person.

OGDEN TEAM IS RECEIVING NEW MEN

First Baseman Wollums, who has been secured by the management of the Ogden team, is expected to join the team at Great Falls today and appear in the lineup tomorrow, according to information received by Angus Kennedy from "Dad" Gimlin.

Upon the arrival of Wollums, Van will be placed out in right field which is the position desired by the Ogden home-run hitter. Van declares that he is kept so busy on first base that he is tired when he comes to bat and cannot hit as hard as he believes himself capable of doing under other conditions. It is his belief that his average with the stick will jump considerable when he is put out in the right garden.

No doubt it will be news to the fans to know that the Jones who has been pitching recently is not the Jones that the Ogden fans know. He is a new pitcher who was picked up and given a tryout but it is doubtful if he will be kept. The Jones known in Ogden is playing in place of Foley who was injured in a recent game.

From the letters that Secretary Kennedy has been receiving, Gimlin has strong hopes of having an exceedingly strong team before the season is much farther advanced. He is still on the lookout for new men and the team will probably be in a greatly altered shape before the return to Ogden on July 8.

WOMAN'S TESTIMONY HARD ON DETECTIVES

Mrs. Celia Gallo.

Mrs. Celia Gallo, wife of a confessed and convicted San Francisco bunco man, is proving a valuable witness for the state in its case against the San Francisco police detectives accused of being in league with a gang of bunco men. Her testimony last week helped the state secure a conviction of Detective Esola; and she is relied upon to furnish some damaging evidence against the seven other accused police detectives, who will be tried soon.

TAX GATHERER

The happy lot of Lloyd George, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, who, it is estimated, will have a budget surplus of $1,125,000, forms a striking contrast to that of Austen Chamberlain, who in 1904 had to provide for a deficit of $30,000,000 in the national balance sheet. Some startling suggestions were made to the member for East Worcestershire on that occasion by those who considered themselves fully capable of teaching the Chancellor of the Exchequer his business.

Among other things on which it was said duties should be imposed were such necessities as boots, baths, lamps, hats, umbrellas, perambulators and theater tickets. Extraordinary though these suggestions were, however, they were not more so than some budget schemes which have been carried out in the past in order to raise the country's revenue.

In 1695, for instance, a tax of 2 shillings had to be paid by the parents of every "little stranger" born in England, except by people in receipt of alms. This tax fell heavily on the masses, to whom a florin meant a great deal more than it does today. The nobility and the gentry, too, found the tax very irksome, for it increased according to rank, the birth of a child in the family of a Duke adding $150 to the revenue.

No small amount of money has been made of the bill introduced by a member of the New Jersey legislature some time ago imposing a graduated

Furthermore, widowers without children were obliged to pay the same amount until they married again, while the gentry and nobility paid a higher tax in proportion to their rank. As chancellor of the exchequer, Pitt rendered himself very unpopular by the extraordinary means to which he resorted in order to improve the state of the country's finances. He it was who first introduced the income tax in 1798, and he also levied one upon horses, which caused a certain farmer to use a cow for the purpose of riding to and from market.—Philadelphia Ledger.
