NEW CLERK OF CITY BOARD EDUCATION

Miss Ivy Williams, who has so efficiently handled the affairs of the city board of education as clerk for six years, resigned her position last evening at the last meeting of the board for the fiscal year and her engagement to M. S. Stone was announced.

The members of the board, teachers, supervisors and principals, evidently were prepared, for, with several informal speeches in which regrets for the departure of Miss Williams were mingled, a large set of silverware was presented to the resigning clerk.

Miss Viola M. Clancy was appointed as the successor to Miss Williams.

Following the business meeting, there was an informal reception during which refreshments were served, and a sociable good time was enjoyed.

DOCTORS HAVE STARTED TO OBEY LAW

Sanitary Inspector George Short's report for June contains 82 births recorded during the month, but the inspector hastens to add that there were not 82 births during the month. The large number reported is due to the agitation urging physicians to report births and many so recorded should have been entered several months ago. Of that number 43 were boys and 39 girls.

According to the report, whooping cough still maintains first place in point of numbers in the list of contagious diseases. There are 17 cases in quarantine. Of measles there are 18; chickenpox 8; scarlet fever 2; smallpox 1; diphtheria 1; typhoid fever 1; and tuberculosis 2.

During the month there were 34 deaths of which 23 were males and 11 females.

GIRLS SENT TO JAIL FOR A MONTH

Lena Eddy and Marie Price, the two girls arrested with William E. Sampson and Sam Wigginton in a local rooming house, were sentenced this morning to serve 30 days each in the city jail. The men were given sentences of 20 days or $20.

In sentencing the girls, Judge Reed stated that he was puzzled as to the treatment that should be meted out because of the fact that both have been before him on similar charges and his advice and warnings had not been heeded. In passing sentence, he stated that he would endeavor to secure some one who understands girls to talk with them at the city jail to see if they could be influenced to lead better lives.

LOBBY PROBE DISCLOSURES

Washington, July 1.—Disclosures to follow the reopening of the senate's lobby investigation tomorrow are expected to be among the most important developments in recent years in a congressional inquiry. Since publication of Martin M. Mulhall's story of how he had operated to influence legislation and elections in behalf of the National Association of Manufacturers, scores of labor leaders, present and former congressmen and others, have come forward with testimony and asked that they also be heard by the investigators.

Louis J. Siebold of New York has also accepted service. He has been called as a newspaper man connected with the publication of the Mulhall statement to give the committee what information he can as to its preparation and as to the letters and telegrams Mulhall has agreed to produce.

Tells of Attempted Bribe.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who figured prominently in Mulhall's story as the object of a long continued attack by those who attempted to bribe him and force him to give up his fight in behalf of labor legislation, has made public a detailed report of the attempted bribery. It confirms the story told by Mulhall.

The Gompers statement is a report that the labor leader prepared in 1907 after his experiences with Brandenburg, now a convict in Sing Sing prison, New York, who claimed to be in the employ of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Efforts to secure private interviews with Gompers aroused the latter's suspicion and he took a number of labor leaders into his confidence and later made a full report to them of the occurrences that followed.

Gompers met Brandenburg, says the report, under the advice and suggestion of other officials of the American Federation of Labor. Brandenburg represented himself as in charge of a bureau of the National Association of Manufacturers, organized to "expose the immorality and dishonesty of the leaders in the labor movement."

According to this report, Gompers proposed that Gompers should prepare a general statement in the nature of a "confession"; should stand for re-election as president of the American Federation of Labor in 1908 and should then resign, leaving the Federation of Labor crippled by his retirement and the exposure of other leaders.

"My object in coming to you is to say I want to save you," Brandenburg is quoted as saying. "I want to save you and while I do not want to express in specific financial terms what the National Association of Manufacturers is willing to do, yet I can guarantee that you will be financially safe for the balance of your life."

The Gompers report states that the interview terminated there; that Gompers succeeded in keeping the paper Brandenburg had prepared for him to sign and that Vice President Duncan and other officials of the Federation were at once made acquainted with the circumstances.

President Gompers and other officials of the Federation of Labor probably will testify before the senate committee as to the alleged activities of the lobbyists bore directly upon national legislation. Both John Kirby, Jr., and D. M. Parry are in San Francisco and were expected to sail for Australia today. They wired Chairman Overman asking to be excused from testifying before the senate committee now but promised to appear on their return in several months. They wired it would cost them about $3000 each to change their plans. Chairman Overman today wired the two men, directing that they hold themselves in readiness to appear.

REVIVAL OF THE APPRENTICESHIP

Washington, July 1.—Revival of the apprenticeship system in some form in the United States is advocated by Dr. Holmes Beckwith of the United States bureau of education in a report to the bureau department today.

Mr. Beckwith's conclusions are based on a first-hand study of the system as employed in Germany and he urges the need of industrial schools to supplement the system.

"Wasteful though the old apprenticeships was, of the apprentice's time and effort," says Dr. Beckwith, "apprenticeships in its newer forms, both in Germany and in the U. S. A., has in it much of promise for the future training of industrial workers. No better way, nor even so good, has yet been devised for the main training of the mass of industrial workers than in the shops where they are employed and by those who supervise their work."

The investigator sets forth that the cost of reintroducing the system would be less than the cost of the present system. He says that the cost of adequate training for their youthful workers. Specialization in training is frowned upon by Dr. Beckwith, who would have industrial education broadened. To this end he advocates a greater number of industrial schools.

BEGIN CRUSADE AGAINST PESTS

Washington, July 1.—Although the scenes of action are some thousands of miles apart, the department of agriculture has launched two crusades against insect pests that threaten the vegetation of the remainder of the country. Secretary Houston fired the opening guns by issuing a quarantine order against the introduction of cotton bolls or cotton seed to the United States from Hawaii, because of the prevalence of pink boll worm, and a second order against certain New England states because of the existence of gypsy and brown tail moths. Agricultural experts fear the spread of the pink boll worm to the cotton fields of the U. S. A. The pest in the islands is said to have obtained a firm foothold despite the efforts of scientists to drive it out.

LETTER OF THANKS

To the Merchants of Ogden: Ogden Aerie No. 118, Fraternal Order of Eagles, desires to express its appreciation and thanks to the Merchants who so liberally responded in answer to our letter asking them to decorate for our convention of June 17, 18, 19, 1913.

We regret that the time allotted to our parade would not permit us to pass all the business houses that decorated so lavishly.

We appreciate your action, and your loyalty to your city. It is the wide-awake spirit of this kind that makes the stranger think the city is worth living in.

Again thanking you, and assuring you that we will show our appreciation in a more substantial way, should the opportunity arise, we are,

Yours for a Greater Ogden

OBJECTION IS MADE BY PARENTS

The first business of the meeting of the city board of education last night was the consideration of the protests of 150 parents in the neighborhood of the Lewis school, who objected to making the Lewis school a junior high school, compelling the pupils of the lower grades to be distributed to the Pingree, Washington and Madison schools. The protesting parents were represented by Mrs. Joseph Scowcroft, J. W. Wilcox, Clarence Packer and Charles S. Murphy. It was contended by the representatives that the children of the lower grades should not be compelled to go to the other schools owing to the danger in crossing tracks of two electric lines.

Supt. J. M. Mills explained that the plans were to save carfare of junior high pupils by having them study at the Lewis instead of compelling them to go to the Central Junior on Twenty-fifth street, which is now overcrowded. He said that arrangements have been made whereby the Pingree school is not dismissed at the time a Bamberger train is due at the crossing. Furthermore he declared that the consolidation of school classes has saved the board $17,000 and has reduced the school taxes one-half a mill and in addition has made possible a minimum teachers' salary of $500 instead of $340 a year, and he was in favor of the change.

The building committee reported that it was deemed advisable to move into the attic of the city hall in compliance with the order to vacate the rooms now held. The estimated cost of remodeling the third floor to accommodate the board was $2,000. A partial payment of $1,500 was allowed to Contractor P. A. Isakson for work done so far on the Grant school. The report of Clerk Ivy Williams for the year was presented. It showed the actual cash on hand to be $2,497.53; the receipts for the year $271,941.91, with expenditures of $276,937.52, leaving an overdraft of $5,440.00, which is secured by a loan. After delivering the report Miss Williams read her resignation. George Glenn was the first to respond and he moved that the resignation be accepted with regrets and a vote of thanks be extended to the resigning clerk for her efficient service during her six years in the position.

Mr. Glenn's words were a signal, and the delegation of teachers, principals and others filed into the room. Supt. Mills then in a neat speech complimented Miss Williams on the quality of her work and wished her all good fortune in her new duties. At the close of his speech he presented in the name of the board, teachers and principals a magnificent chest of silverware.
