

LAYING KEEL OF GREATEST SHIP

Super-Dreadnaught, Pennsylvania to Be Most Powerful Machine in World.

Newport News, Oct. 28.—First plates of the keel of the super-dreadnaught, Pennsylvania, which when completed two years hence, will be the largest and most powerful fighting machine in the world, were laid at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company today. Unlike similar events in the past, the work was started without ceremony, and even without the knowledge of local representatives of the navy department.

The Pennsylvania is being laid down on the same stocks from which the dreadnaught Texas, now on her official trials, was launched eighteen months ago. Though actual laying of the keel began yesterday much work has been done on the giant craft. Some of the huge frames already have been prepared and soon hundreds of mechanics and laborers will be working on the hull. The Pennsylvania will be 625 feet long over all, and will have a beam of 57 feet and a draught of 42 feet. Her full load displacement will be 22,500 tons, or 3500 gross tons greater than the super-dreadnaught Oklahoma and Nevada. Twelve fourteen inch breech loading rifles are to make up the main battery of the ship. Her speed will be 21 knots an hour, and she will be equipped with turbine engines, supplied with steam from boilers with oil burners. The total cost of the vessel with armor and armament will be about $11,000,000.

LANGFORD HAS EASY TIME WITH LESTER

Taft, Cal., Oct. 27.—Jack Lester was hammered so completely by Sam Langford in the Taft arena this afternoon that he was either unable or unwilling to leave his corner for the fifth round.

It was a Langford battle throughout. Sam, who was as fat as a Japanese wrestler, stood to his guns and countered his opponent with jolts and uppercuts whenever the "white hope" straightened an arm. Before the first three-minute spell ended

NEW CHIEF OF THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

Thomas Ewing.

Thomas Ewing, the new commissioner of patents at Washington, has for many years been engaged in the practice of law and specializing in patent cases in New York. He was born at Leavenworth, Kansas, in 1862, and is the grandson of former Secretary of the Interior Thomas Ewing. Before he began the practice of law in New York in 1890 he was an assistant examiner of patents in Washington. He is also the president of the Currier, Opinion Publishing Company of New York.

Langford had his man on the run, and it was merely a question of how long Lester would last.

He managed to keep his feet in the first round, but he was floored once in the second and no less than five times in the fourth. It was body blows, mainly, which did poor Jack, and from the manner in which he rolled his eyes after each visitation it was evident that Sam's fists were sinking deep. Langford opened the proceedings determinedly when the gong first sent them together. He took a left from Lester and paid him back with a counter that had lots of force behind it. Lester wanted to clinch, but a stiff right uppercut dented his head and sent him back. After that Langford stalked flat-footed after Lester, and laded out solid body punches when he got within hitting distance.

ECCENTRIC ELUDES SHERIFF AND MEN

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—Walter E. McCreery, an eccentric millionaire, who by two legal decrees is held to be a mental incompetent in the United States, and wholly sane in England, escaped from his legal guardian, Attorney H. H. McPike at the Los Muertas Rancho, San Benito county, late Sunday night, and so far has managed to elude the vigilance of Sheriff Croxon and a posse. If he can board a ship and get outside of the three mile limit McCreery cannot be taken under the laws of the United States. It is the general belief that McCreery will attempt to make his way to England, where he owns considerable property.

PLANS TO POISON FAMILY OF NINE

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—The wholesale poisoning of an entire family of six children, the mother, and two relatives, was attempted last night by Carmello Rizzo, an insane candymaker. Rizzo placed poison in the soup and wine, which was partaken of by the nine people. It was the strange taste of the food that warned the elder members of the family that something was amiss and the police were sent for. The officers arrived in time to prevent Rizzo from braining his wife with a hammer. Prompt action of doctors, who pumped the stomachs of the family, prevented serious effects from the poison.

MEMORIAL TO CIVIL WAR WOMEN WANTED

Washington, Oct. 28.—Personal appeals to philanthropists to complete the fund of $200,000 necessary for the proposed memorial building to the women of the civil war, were made today by Miss Mabel Boardman, active head of the American National Red Cross.

Letters were sent to her personal friends, but no public campaign will be undertaken. An appeal to public generosity may be made when the organization starts in earnest to complete its $2,000,000 endowment fund.

Miss Boardman just returned from New York, was encouraged in her efforts to complete the memorial fund through a subscription of $100,000 by James A. Scrymser of that city, himself a civil war veteran. Congress already has authorized an appropriation of $400,000 consequent on the Red Cross making up the remainder of the $700,000 necessary for the structure.

The endowment fund it was declared today, also is growing and now totals $822,000.

HARVARD AND YALE PROSPECTS.

New York, Oct. 28.—With the crusts of mud washed out of the suits used in Saturday's battles, most of the eastern college elevens are threatened by the weather bureau with still more interference from rain and unseasonably mild water for the mid-week football practice. Close observers of the season's gridiron are giving Harvard credit for the most consistent showing, but do not deny that Yale despite its scoreless tie with Washington and Jefferson last Saturday, promises to strike a big and even stiffer before the Yale-Harvard battle November 22.

LIVED IN TERROR OF BURIAL ALIVE

Washington, Oct. 28.—In abject terror of burial alive, Dr. Rudolph Ravenburg, for a half century connected with the office of the surgeon general of the army, insisted in his will that a powerful poison be injected into his veins after he was supposedly dead, in order that there should be no mistake. The gruesome request came to light today when the will was offered for probate.

"To make sure of absolute death," read the last testament. "I hereby direct that the undertaker, before burial, shall inject hypodermically a solution of two ounces containing ten grains of potassium cyanide into my veins, preferably into the external jugular vein."

Dr. Ravenburg was a graduate in medicine, although he never practiced. He served in the Indian campaigns and in the Civil war in the regular army. He was buried in Arlington national cemetery ten days ago.

RULING ON WHEAT AND WHEAT FLOUR

Washington, Oct. 28.—Wheat and wheat flour will not be admitted free to the United States from those countries which decline to admit free of duty similar products from the United States. This ruling has been made by Assistant Secretary Hamlin of the treasury department, who construes the new tariff law as presenting this decision.

Customs collectors have been advised of the interpretation and each collector was advised that the countries now admitting American wheat and wheat flour without duty were Great Britain, Finland and The Netherlands.

Some idea of the immensity of the palace of machinery at the Panama-Pacific International exposition may be gathered from the fact that, while it is a wooden building, the largest in the world, it will require 1500 tons of hardware in its construction, such as nails, bolts, joint plates and the like. On October 1 the building was eighty per cent completed.

Are You Registered?

Today is the Last Day

Go to the registry agent of your district and see if your name is on the list. If you have moved since the last general election, or if you did not vote at the last general election, it will be necessary for you to register today. All good citizens will do their full duty. They will not only register, but will go to the polls on November 4 and cast their ballots for the candidates of their choice.
