

BIG TEAMS IN FINE FETTLE

Princeton, Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth Ready For Saturday's Scrimmage.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Most of the eastern colleges have been favored with good weather for hard practice and as the big games are approaching reports come from all camps that the teams are shaping up strongly.

Princeton has practically wound up its rehearsal of Harvard formations. In these mimic battles the Tigers have had little difficulty in breaking up the Crimson strategy but it is doubtful whether the warriors have any great confidence of winning the real battle. Among outside observers Harvard is a pronounced favorite, for the team has played consistently successful football and developed a system of offense that few experts dispute to be the strongest in evidence at this stage of the intercollegiate season.

Defensively, the team is not so strong, however, and for this reason the hopes of Princeton followers that the Tigers will break through for a score may not be unwarranted. The Princeton coaches appear to have given up the hunt for any one punter to carry the game and it is probable that Law and "Hobey" Baker and Borden will be called upon during the rest of the season to share the kicking work.

Princeton Plans Innovation. Princeton will try the innovation of numbering its players in the Harvard game. This has been a much talked of idea, but up to now none of the big colleges has adopted it. Each of the Orange and Black players will carry a large number on his back and the key to the system will be found in the official program. The Crimson management, however, has preferred not to number Harvard men.

Yale has rounded out what will probably prove its regular lineup for the rest of the season and be employed as an entirety in the Brown game on Saturday. The shakeup since the defeat by Colgate last week has given the Eli team a new center trio in Way, Cooney and Marting, places Captain Ketcham at right end, moves Fullback Aleck Wilson to quarter, and installs at fullback, Dave Dunn, who held the positions two seasons ago. Almsworth will succeed Cor and at left half, Brown is believed to be quite as strong as Colgate and Washington and Jefferson, which made such a good showing against Yale in Saturday's game, will probably prove whether the Eli eleven is shaping up for the Princeton and Harvard games.

The Dartmouth team will leave New Hampshire today, stopping over in New York for further practice for the game with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia on Saturday. A close game is anticipated as the Pennsylvania team excels in strength, while the Dartmouth men are credited with more football strategy.

Cornell to Meet Michigan. In the Cornell camp, with an invasion by the Michigan eleven impending, there is disappointment because O'Hearn, the strong right end, on account of injuries suffered in the Harvard game, will not be able to return to Ithaca for Saturday's contest.

The loss is felt keenly as the Ithacans were counting on O'Hearn to carry the brunt of the defense against the expected running game of the Michigan backs. Row has been put at left end to fill the vacancy and as a whole the team is said to be rounding into better shape than was expected.

The Army and Navy teams will meet Albright and Bucknell respectively this week. The Army team suffered defeat at the hands of Notre Dame last week and Albright may prove a stronger opponent than reported, but at West Point coaches declare that they are not worrying about any of the early games, every effort being made to point the team for the big game with the Navy in New York November 29. The Navy's practice this week has been toward perfecting a defensive system against the forward pass plays which Bucknell is expected to use and the Cadets are reported confident of winning.

NINE OF SHIP'S CREW ARE SAVED

Story of Survivors Solves Mystery of the Abandoned Fishing Schooner.

Portland, Me., Nov. 6.—Nine members of the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner, Annie M. Parker, which was picked up Monday with all sails set and her hold full of fish by the British steamer Astrakhan, sixty miles east of Nantucket, and which was towed to New Bedford by the revenue cutter Greham, were brought here last night.

The story told by the survivors of the Annie M. Parker's crew solves the mystery as to why a vessel apparently seaworthy and safe had been abandoned.

The men of the Annie M. Parker were brought here by the lumber schooner, Tifton, from Jacksonville, which picked them up in dories thirty miles off Nantucket Sunday morning after they had been adrift in small boats for 24 hours without food or drink. They reported that Reuben Kenney, the cook, of Glenwood, N. S., had been swept overboard from a dory and drowned and that Captain Vincent Nelson and three of their mates had been lost.

The men missing besides Captain Nelson are: Lester Fletcher, of Argyle Sound, N. S.; Ross Worther of Publick Head, N. S.; Thomas Landry of Arcolchat, C. E. Henry Nelson, of Beverly, son of the captain, was left behind on the Boston fishing schooner Josie and Phoebe, exhausted from his experience but hoping to find trace of his father.

Until they reported here they were ignorant that they had abandoned their vessel unnecessarily and that the loss of life might have been avoided. They reported that the Annie M. Parker, bound home from the fishing grounds off New Foundland, with a full catch, was driven off her course by adverse winds and went aground on the Rose and Crown shoals off the Nantucket coast Saturday morning.

The vessel was being wrecked and pounded by heavy seas and the crew agreed with Captain Nelson that their only hope of safety lay in getting clear of the craft. So they abandoned her. Evidently the vessel later worked off the shoal in deep water, and drifted uninjured to where she was picked up.

MISSOURI VARSITY IN POOR SHOWING

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 6.—The Missouri State University football team made a poor showing today in scrimmage against the freshmen. Lack of football "sense" was conspicuous. After Bernard Graves, freshman, circled the ends and plunged through the varsity line for long gains, the latter teams braced and held the freshmen.

The regulars were kept on the defensive throughout. Toby Graves, who was once a Missouri gridiron star, broke through the "varsity line at will." Regulars were kept out of the game because of injuries. It is doubtful whether Clay, guard, will be able to play against Yale next Saturday.

The players encountered the best weather of the trip at El Paso. Score: R. H. E. White Sox 10 15 2 Giants 7 10 7 Batteries — Scott and Schalk; Mathewson, Hearne and Myers.

The match went stong evenly for forty-four innings. Then De Oro, by sensational playing, took the lead and was never headed. He had a high run of four.
