SENSATIONAL STORY AS TO SHOOTING OF EDWARDS

The Price Advocate has a sensational article on the Blackhacks in Ogden, in which some ugly insinuation are made that seem to be wholly unwarranted. The Advocate's article is as follows:

"The state at large is very much excited over the 'blackhack' at Ogden. The governor of the state of Utah has offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the man or men, who shot Dave Edwards Sunday. Elsewhere in this impression appears some of the usual press dispatches in regard to the matter.

"The Advocate Tuesday had the privilege of interviewing one of the very efficient special agents of one of the large corporations of the state of Utah. His name has been withheld for obvious reasons and at his request. The so-called 'black hand' operations at Ogden," said he to The Advocate, "is all buncombe. It is the veriest kind of rot and if the governor or anyone else in authority wants to get at the root of the disturbance in Ogden all he has to do is to make a thorough investigation in the sheriff's office and police department of that city.

"I say today that Dave Edwards, my personal friend, was shot by no 'black hand' operator. He was shot simply through petty jealousies and because he had made good as a special agent.

"It will be remembered that Edwards was the man that caught the blackmailer of Miss Bamberger in the Dooly block at Salt Lake City a few weeks ago. When he went to deliver the money asked for by the 'black hand' he was a face-simile of Eccles as nearly as he could be made. He proceeded to the spot designated to put the money, but Edwards was shot down before he reached the place where he was to leave it, and even after the man was helplessly wounded no attempt was made by his assailants to get the money.

"You can safely advise your readers that Edwards was shot by no 'black hand' and further, none of the members of that famous Mafia society are at work in the state according to those in a position to know.

"There is one encouraging feature in this Ogden notoriety. When Edwards went to the operating table he told his friends that all he wanted was to live a well day and he would bring the men into camp who shot him, but that if his physicians advised he could not recover he would then reveal the names of the man, or men, who shot him."

"The Advocate's informant further states that in the event of Edwards' death such famous gunmen as 'Diamond Jack' Davis, Axel Steele and Jack Knudsen will make an effort to see that the ones responsible for his shooting are brought to justice.

In regard to the above, LeRoy Eccles when seen today said that in his opinion there was absolutely nothing to the story and that he did not believe that the injured detective, David Edwards, had made any such statement. He also said that he thought it had its source, as had many of the recent stories published, purely in the imagination of the writer.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM IS FOREST SERVICE HAS WON A GREAT VICTORY

The Ogden High school football team is contesting this afternoon with the University of Utah freshmen at Glenwood park.

Next Saturday they will play the Salt Lake High school on the same grounds and Coach Lon Romney is confident of success for his team in the remaining games of the season.

CANAL COMPANY HAS PAID $510,000 OF ITS BONDS

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Davis and Weber Counties Canal company is being held in the county court house today for the election of officers for the ensuing year and to hear the reports of the treasurer, secretary and auditor. The forenoon was devoted to the reports of the officers.

It was reported by the secretary that, since the sale of the Riverdale power plant to the Utah Power & Light company, the bonds of the company amounting to about $510,000 have been retired and that the balance of the purchase price, $15,000, had been received and placed in the treasury. The purchase price of the power plant was $525,000.

PROGRESS NOTED ON NEW BUILDINGS IN THE CITY

The ring of the riveters is again heard on the Eccles steel skyscraper. The west half of the new construction has been completed in skeleton form to the top of the eighth story and within two weeks all the steel will be in position.

The big "stiff leg" derrick has been removed from the rear of the annex to the front facing Washington avenue and a force of men is busily engaged placing the steel columns. Already the wooden concrete forms for the second floor of the west half of that part of the building now in progress are being built and concrete workers again will be busy in a short time.

The large 17-ton boiler is being rolled to place in the rear of the building where it will be stationed in a pit a number of feet below the basement floor.

Workers are on the roof of the Farry block on Twenty-third street and Washington avenue. The building will be under cover in the early part of next week. Today brick masons are laying the walls of the last story.

All that remains to be done on the Kiesel block on Hudson and Twenty-fourth, before it may be occupied, is confined to the interior and the installation of fixtures to be used by the Weber club on the upper floor. The workers are on the entrances to the store rooms on the first floor.

The Peery block on Hudson avenue, across the street from the Kiesel building, has been finished insofar as the exterior is concerned and carpenters are engaged laying the floors and making bay windows for store rooms. Plasterers are busy on the walls. This building will be ready for occupancy in a short time.

EDWARD M'GRATH IS BANQUETED AT THE POTTER

At the Potter cafe last night 34 Railway Mail clerks gave a banquet in honor of Superintendent Edward McGrath of San Francisco.

An elaborate spread was furnished and the mail men made merry around. Interesting talks were given by Toastmaster Alfred Sager, Superintendent McGrath, Chief Clerk W. F. Bangasser and others, and general discussion of railway mail offices was entered into by all present.

In his brief talk, Mr. McGrath stated that the fixing of a normal at Ogden meant the distribution of $25,000 a year in salaries here, besides the establishment of homes in the city by men and their families engaged in the work. He complimented the Ogden force, and said that the city was fortunate in getting mail service headquarters here.

Mr. McGrath is looked upon as a trail blazer in the mail service and well thought of by the men associated with him.

The committeemen in charge of the banquet last night were J. C. Livingston, Herbert Snyder, W. H. Thatcher and Ileo Winchester.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our gratitude to the many friends who contributed to ward endeavoring to comfort our hearts, in our hour of sorrow, caused by the death of our beloved wife and daughter, through their sympathy expressed by word and song, floral offerings, kind acts, and we hope any one who may be called thus to mourn, may have the same comforting, sympathetic expressions as we have had. MR. and MRS. HENRY E. TAYLOR. E. NORMAN FREEMAN.

The United States circuit court of appeals in the case of the United States vs. the Utah Power & Light company, has reversed Judge Marshall and decided in favor of the government as to the ownership of land the power company occupies in the Bear River national forest in Cache County, Utah. A flume, reservoir and conduit are located on the forest reserve.

Local officials of the forest service express themselves as highly pleased with the decision although they expected it is no less than was expected. Assistant District Forester T. C. Hoyt of the department of lands in the district forester's office and who had charge of the investigations and preparation of the reports which resulted in the filing of the suit, says that the decision is a vindication of the position of the forest service from the beginning.

"Since the original announcement of the policy and regulations of the department of agriculture with respect to the matter," said Mr. Hoyt, "many persons have gotten the impression from press reports and utterances of anti-conservationists, that the department's regulations were not warranted by law, but were rather the outgrowth of the demands of ultra conservationists who were seeking to enforce their views to the disparagement of vested rights. The fact of the matter is that the best lawyers in the department went over the matter very thoroughly before the regulations were issued, and reached the same conclusions of law as now promulgated by the circuit court of appeals.

The department took the position that the law placed the matter in the jurisdiction of the secretary, and there was no particular opposition until the secretary outlined a policy of regulation, which fact," declared Mr. Hoyt, "and not the imposition of a nominal charge, has been the bone of contention all along.

"While the sum total of revenue that the government will collect is in the aggregate quite a sum, 35 per cent of which is returned to the state, even those companies which have fought the government the hardest have not based the contest upon that grounds, and those companies who have complied with the department's regulations have not found them a hardship."

Some of the regulative features of the government's policy, as written into the permits as issued by the department, require that, when permits are issued, the holder thereof will proceed in good faith with actual development, allowing, of course, reasonable time in which to do so, and not hold the site unoccupied merely to prevent competition and maintain monopoly; to keep accurate records of business to be subject to inspection by authorized officials of the government or of the state when given jurisdiction over such matters by state law; to make due provision for the protection of the public both as to persons and property; to abide by the reasonable regulation of service to be rendered. The point in the regulations really at the bottom of the opposition, however, is the regulation to the effect that plants operated under the permits are not to be "owned, leased, trusted, possessed, or controlled" in any manner so they form part of "an unlawful trust" in restraint of trade by "limiting output or by any form of contract or conspiracy," and be subject in all these respects to state laws and regulations as to public utility or other commissions established by state law.

While the decision has reference to only the plant near Logan in the Cache national forest, it is far-reaching in its effects, since the same issues are involved in twelve other cases in this district, besides many others throughout the country.

PROCEEDINGS IN POLICE COURT

There were three forfeitures of bail and one $15 fine, in Judge Reeder's court this morning. The forfeitures were from H. E. McFarland, Sam Whitten and Jesse Whitlock on charges of drunkenness and the fine was on J. Kuhn who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving his automobile faster than the city ordinance permits.

William Ragan, J. E. Elmer and John Doe, a Mexican, were on the docket for being drunk. Each in turn pleaded guilty, told the usual story of the initial drink and its results, and promised to be good. They received suspended sentences.

PAY DAY OF THE SUGAR COMPANY IS A BIG ONE

The Amalgamated sugar factory is today paying sugar beet growers $175,000 for beets delivered during the month of October. This is the biggest payday in the factory's history.

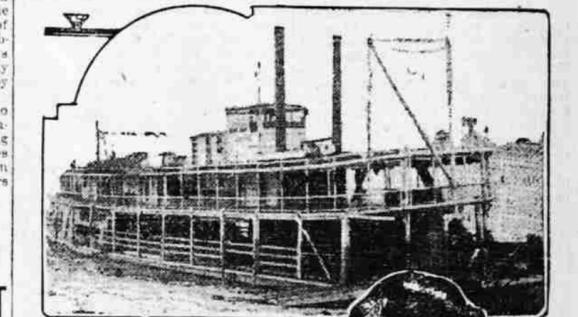

This vast sum will go principally to the farmers in Weber county.

In ten days more all the beets will have been dug and delivered. The weather this fall has been ideal for harvesting the crop, which has been an average one.

THE BOSS AN ESSENTIAL. We want a boss, especially in heavy or monotonous labor. Most monotonous work is of this sort that is cut out and supplied ready to hand. This implies that some one else plans and directs it. In so far as we want monotony, therefore, we want to be driven, though not overdriven by a boss. If we are to do the pulling some one else should hold the reins. When I am digging my wife's garden beds I want her to specify where they shall go. We all want a master of some kind, and most of us want a master in human shape. The more manual our work is, the more we want him. Boatmen polling

MEMPHIS WOMAN THE ONLY LICENSED FEMALE CAPTAIN ON SOUTHERN RIVERS

Mrs. Nettie Johnson and the steamer Grand.

Mrs. Nettie Johnson of Memphis has the distinction of being the only licensed woman captain and pilot on any southern river. Her pilot's license extends at various points along the Mississippi river north and south of Memphis, up the St. Francis and Arkansas rivers.

Mrs. Johnson is part owner of the steamer Grand, a neat little packet recently brought from Little Rock and placed in the Memphis and Caruthersville (Mo.) trade. She will stand regular watch in the pilot-house during these trips and it is necessary she will grace the hurricanedeck with as much authority as any "skipper" that ever ran the great Father-of-Waters.
