MAIL CLERK LED A GAY LIFE AT THIS END OF HIS RUN

Lorin Albright will have to wait a year and a day before he can buy an automobile. He has the money and the only thing that prevents him from making the deal is a sentence of a judge in Cheyenne, the home of Lorin.

Albright was arrested by postoffice inspectors May 20 on the charge of looting the mails. He was a mail clerk running between Cheyenne and Ogden and was looked upon as a trusted employee. He did not need the money to buy an auto, nor did he need it to care for his wife and family. He said he stole because he could not help it.

It took five inspectors to trap Albright, but they finally landed him in the theft of a package containing goods to the value of $15. It was this parcel which resulted in the sentence of a year and a day at the federal prison at Leavenworth.

Albright is said to have admitted that he took other sums.

He led a dual existence, it is charged. In Cheyenne he was the model husband, gave his wife his month's salary and was never known to transgress. On Ogden it is said, he followed the bright lights and it is supposed that the money he is charged with taking from the mails was used to carry him through his gay life at this end of his run.

He will be taken to Leavenworth tomorrow.

very much better than in some of the other states on account of the many excellent resources of the state. General business in Utah is reasonably favorable. Agricultural conditions during the past year were splendid, and as a consequence, large crops of all kinds were produced, for which the farmers have been receiving fair prices. During the past few days the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, Amalgamated Sugar company and the Lewiston Sugar company, which operate eleven sugar factories in Utah and Idaho, distributed $2,422,000 to the farmers of the two states for beets, and paid $150,000 for labor in the factories for October. There will also be another payment of over $1,000,000 for beets and labor in December. These payments will help stimulate all lines of trade.

The ranges on the hills and in the mountainous sections of the state were in good condition during the year and the sheep, lambs and cattle did well.

The Deseret National bank paid a special dividend of $25,000 and the Deseret Savings bank paid a special of $5000 on Tuesday.

The market for local securities has been rather quiet, although small sales have been made lately in Amalgamated Sugar company at $97 per share, Consolidated Wagon & Machine company at $90 per share, Utah-Idaho Sugar company at $7.50 per share, Home Fire Insurance company stock at $361 and $302 per share, Utah Light & Power company 4 per cent bonds at $1 and interest, Consolidated Railway & Power company bonds at 95 1/2 and interest, and in Z. C. M. I. at $390 per share.

Splendid programs at the Oracle, Isis and Globe, tonight.

THEATERS

AT THE OGDEN.
With a performance of tonight, the "Girl from Rector's" the comedy that has attracted hundreds of people to the Ogden theatre this week, and which will undoubtedly crowd the house again tonight, the first year of the most popular stock company that has ever played in the city will be brought to a close.

In the "Girl from Rector's" the Arlington-Greenwell players have, with one exception, shown their ability in straight comedy roles in a manner that, collectively, they have never shown to better advantage, and the attendance tonight should break all records.

The management have selected to open its new year at the family playhouse, tomorrow night, with "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the greatest play of criminal life that has ever been written and in which Henry B. Warner, the great English actor, won international fame. The play was produced by him at the Folsom prison in California, and it was said by many of the prisoners who were serving time for the same crime with which the drama deals, that it was an exact representation of the methods they had used in their work. It is a play of intense interest and in the hands of the capable Arlington-Greenwell players should play to crowded houses the entire week.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To Our Lady Customers.
Having just returned from a several months' trip to California, where I have studied the designing and making of ladies' tailor made suits, I wish to inform my Ogden customers and patrons, that I will open with a first class tailoring shop in Salt Lake City, December 1, at 53 West Broadway, where I will be pleased to receive orders from my old customers. I will be in a position to serve you better than ever.

Fares will be paid both ways to any lady who may contemplate ordering a suit.

DENVER POLICE CHIEF FALLS FOR PATHETIC STORY
Denver, Colo., Nov. 21.—A woman with wide, appealing eyes and a voice tremulous with grief, swindled Chief of Police Felix O'Neil out of $20 Friday morning. The woman is now believed to be on her way to Salt Lake.

She came into the chief's office and said that her son was dying in a San Francisco hospital and that she had no money with which to pay her railroad fare in order to go to his bedside. The police official referred her to the United Board of Charities. When she told her story to Rev. Mr. Hummer he says he recognized her as a woman with whom charitable organizations all over the country had had trouble. She makes her own liv-

OLD FOLKS' DAY IS A SUBJECT OF PRAISE IN THE EAST

A clipping from the Wide World magazine for December, brings to notice the fact that one of the most commendable celebrations of the people of Weber county and Utah, that of "Old Folks' Day," has created wide spread interest.

In connection with the clipping is published across the top of two pages a photograph of a group of pioneers, taken at Lagoon last summer. In the picture are plainly seen a number of well known faces.

The comment of the "Wide World" referring to the photograph and the occasion on which it was taken, follows:

"The photograph reproduced above depicts an 'Old Folks' picnic' recently held in Utah, U. S. A. and is remarkable for the fact that the ages of the participants shown reached the astonishing aggregate of ten thousand years! Only one person was under seventy and the oldest—the woman dressed in white in the front row—had reached a hundred and three.

These 'old folks' picnics' are annual affairs, committees being appointed in each district to superintend the arrangement. Every old person in each district is called upon and furnished with a silk badge (red for seventy years, blue for eighty and white for ninety.) These badges secure free transportation and entertainment for the wearer, and an attendant if necessary. The day is passed in feasting, concerts, and sports and amusements of varied descriptions. Hundreds of prizes are awarded in the numerous contests, as, for instance, to the oldest man; the woman with the most children; the youngest civil war veteran; the youngest woman who crossed the American desert; the man with the baldest head; the woman with the oldest child accompanying her on the grounds, and so on. Games and athletic sports are also indulged in—dancing contests for women between the ages of seventy and eighty; potato races for the less active who have passed four-score; and yarn-winding contests for those who have passed ninety."

Tomorrow night, "An Hour Before Dawn," famous players, at the Globe Theater. Prices the same. Adults 10c; Children 5c.

THE MOST IMPORTANT YEAR OF THE CENTURY MAGAZINE

"The period through which we are living, in its display of scientific accomplishment and clashing social forces is the most broadly significant and humanly spectacular in the forty-three years of the existence of The Century Magazine," says an editorial in The Century.

It is the avowed ambition of the magazine, say its publishers, to be as nearly as possible representative of the times in which we live. Believing that fiction is virtually the only effective means of approaching the minds of millions of intelligent persons, The Century will devote about half of each issue during the coming year to fiction. In a magazine of the size of The Century, this amount of space given to fiction leaves a great many pages which as usual will be devoted to art and poetry and to such papers as those on immigration by Professor Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, by V. Morgan Shuster, author of "The Strange Case of Persia" and "The Modern Quest for a Religion," a serious and recent study by Winston Churchill, author of "The Inside of the Cup," which will be a feature of the December Century.

In the February Century will begin a prophetic trilogy by H. G. Wells, in which this modern prophet sees a possible and logical future that stirs the imagination. The February number will be a "Short Story Number," and will contain a special group of stories by authors who are either celebrated already or likely to become so.

Always a leader in the art field, The Century will continue to make a number of interesting experiments in various reproductive processes. With its corps of artist-engravers and its elaborate art department, The Century is able to get effects in full color and in "Century color-tone" that are impossible in less carefully printed and designed magazines.

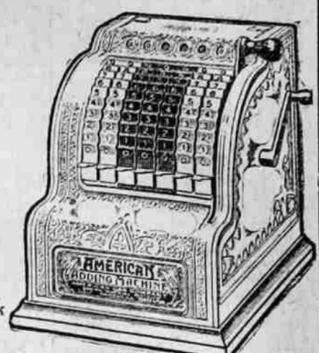

In its comic department, "In Lighter Vein," The Century continues to prove that the best illustrations are the best writers are glad occasionally to turn to the lighter treatment of current topics—Advertisement.

The AMERICAN ADDING MACHINE
The Latest Adder
Costs But $35
See our exhibit—ask for 10 days' trial

Here is a new price on a competent Adder. On a machine that is rapid, full-size and infallible.

The very latest machine, built by men who know, is one of the largest metal-working shops.

It is an individual Adder, to be placed on one's desk, close to one's books and papers. To take the place of the central machine requiring skilled operators.

It is also intended for offices and stores where costly machines are a luxury.

The price is due to utter simplicity, and to our enormous output. Seven keys do all the work.

Each copied number is shown up for checking before the addition is made.

The machine will add, subtract and multiply. With very slight practice anyone can compute a hundred figures a minute. And the machine never makes mistakes.

Countless offices, large and small, are getting from these machines the highest class of service.

ing and dresses well, he said, he had been informed, on the money she obtained by telling this story.

He put the woman off, and not knowing where she had come from, referred her to the police department. She returned at once to Chief O'Neil's office and this time repeated her tale with a great outpouring of tears. He handed her $10.

A short time after she had left the Rev. Mr. Hummer came into O'Neil's office and casually remarked he had sent a clever swindler over for him to deal with. Then the chief tumbled.
