PROMOTING THE JANITOR.

They were joint owners of an apartment house, and one day the janitor partner sought his colleague in some trepidation. "The janitor wants $10 more per month or he'll leave. I hate to give up the money, but I can't spare him." The senior partner disappeared and returned in a few moments. "It's all right," said he. "I've satisfied him and it didn't cost us anything."

"How's that?" "The janitor is now the superintendent."

"Good work!" declared the junior partner. "But why didn't you make him superintendent in the first place?" "Because," answered the senior member, "I knew he'd want a promotion eventually. Every man wants a promotion some time, and to my mind, a good man deserves one."—Judge.
