Grand Lodge in Session in Ogden Elects Officers for the Ensuing Year—Salt Lake City Chosen as Next Meeting Place—Resolutions of Respect for H. C. Wardleigh, Past Grand Master.

The grand lodge of Utah, I. O. O. F., held the fifth meeting of its convention, in Knights of Pythias hall this morning, commencing at 9:30 o'clock and continuing until 11:45. Another session is being held this afternoon and the convention will be closed tonight with an open meeting and banquet, under the auspices of the Ogden lodge. At the afternoon session yesterday, W. T. Hopkins of Salt Lake was appointed assistant to the grand secretary; S. J. Wormdahl of Salt Lake was named grand marshal and Charles Alcott and S. McLeese of Salt Lake and John Wilson of Coalville were made custodians of the secret work. During the meeting a committee of past grandmasters was also appointed to draw up resolutions respecting the death of the late past grand master, H. C. Wardleigh and the late W. T. Rowe.

An amendment to the constitution to raise the dues and put over a system for the blanket bonding of the grand lodge officers was voted down by the legislative committee. Chapters were recommended issued to the Kenilworth and Roosevelt Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs at Payson and Richfield. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in committee work. In the evening, at the Odd Fellows hall in the Fraternity block, degree work was put on for the benefit of the grand lodge, Salt Lake lodge No. 2 put on the first degree and Queen City lodge No. 4 Rebekahs conferred the assembly degree on fifty new members. The degree work was done in a highly efficient manner and the two lodges were complimented upon their pleasing work. Following the two business sessions, the joint social and banquet was held in the Knights of Pythias hall under the auspices of the Ogden lodge. This event was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and, during the serving of the supper, the members of the different lodges became much better acquainted with each other and a fine spirit of fraternalism prevailed. The new officers of the grand lodge were elected at the morning session today and are as follows: Grand master, W. H. Scott of Salt Lake; deputy grand master, Roy W. Ross of Salt Lake; deputy warden, F. H. Cellwehra, Bingham; grand treasurer, J. H. Hornung, Manti; and grand representative, W. H. Bereton of Provo. Rev. P. A. Simpkin of Salt Lake was re-elected grand secretary without opposition. Salt Lake City was chosen as the next meeting place for the grand lodge. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the receipt of a greeting from the grand lodge of Maryland, the mother lodge of the country and which is now in session at Baltimore. The report of the "home" board also elicited pleasurable comment. This board was appointed several years ago to take up the work of getting together a fund with which to build an Odd Fellows home in Utah and their report was to the effect that they now had $15,000 on hand. Another feature of the meeting, which tended to stop a lot of argument, was the appointment of a committee to codify the constitution and by-laws for the next session of the grand lodge.

Rebekahs Meet. The Rebekah State assembly met this morning in the Odd Fellows hall in the Fraternity block and, aside from routine business and committee work, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Gertrude McClure of Tremonton; vice president, Florence Cotter of Lehi; warden, Joanna Melton of Salt Lake; secretary, Clara J. Moore of Salt Lake and treasurer, Rose Smith of Nephi. The former officers in the respective offices as given above were: Mrs. Sarah A. Hadley, Gertrude McClure, Florence Cotter, Clara J. Moore and Althea Brown. All of these officers and all of the appointive officers, with two exceptions were present at the meeting and it was estimated that upwards of 200 members were also in attendance. There was no legislation of importance consummated at the meeting. This afternoon the both lodges held their memorial services and installation of officers. During the afternoon sessions, the officers of both organizations were installed and the following appointive offices filled in the Odd Fellows lodge: Grand marshal, E. H. Smith of Salt Lake; grand conductor, Robert Metzger of Schofield; grand herald, J. W.

McGann of Mt. Pleasant; grand guardian, W. H. Zenor of Park City; grand messenger, W. T. Coombe of Robinson lodge, and grand chaplain, W. S. Morris of Tooele. Early in the session, a large committee was appointed to arrange for a celebration to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the lodge in Utah, which will occur on July 29, of the present year. Tonight the convention will close with a social and entertainment in the Knights of Pythias hall.

CONCRETE WORK IS PROGRESSING IN THE CITY. Yesterday evening the O'Neill Construction company completed the placing of concrete on the roadbed of the Ogden Rapid Transit company's tracks at the intersection of Washington avenue and Twenty-fourth street. Manager Kline states that it will be possible to operate cars over the intersection in about ten days. The intersecting roadbed at Wall avenue and Twenty-fifth street is practically finished and can be used in a few days. With these intersections concerted, the Transit company claims that the service on the city lines can be given without interruption, except when tracks are torn up in paved districts for the making of new roadbeds. This interruption, however, will be minimized as much as possible. Before the year is over, the roadbed from Wall to Harrison avenues, on Twenty-fifth street, will be concrete and a double track system will be put into use in that district. The O'Neill company has begun grading on the north side of Twenty-fifth street, east of Washington avenue, and it is expected that that side of the thoroughfare will be ready for the concrete in the course of a few weeks. In the meantime, machinery for the new asphalt plant which the company will install, is arriving and will be placed in position. Mr. O'Neill states that the plant will cost him in the neighborhood of $18,000.

WESTERN BOTTLING COMPANY'S SUIT AGAINST BUSH. Judge J. A. Howell today is hearing the case of the Western Bottling company against John P. Bush, to recover $380.66, alleged to be due on certain alleged collections made by the defendant, while he was manager of the plaintiff company. The defendant claims, in his answer, that some of the charges against him were erroneous and that he had not been given credit for sums of money which he had expended in the interest of the company. He states affirmatively that the company is owing him $500, for which amount he asks judgment.

SUIT IS OVER A HOT WATER BOILER. In Judge N. J. Harris' division of the district court, the case of the Ogden Heating and Plumbing company against Anna Bowe is being heard. The plaintiff is suing the defendant for the recovery of a certain hot water boiler and range connection or $90 in cash. The case was instituted in the municipal court, but taken to the district court on a motion for change of venue. The defendant denies the allegations of the complaint, and claims that she is the rightful possessor of the personal effects.

ORDERS MADE IN DISTRICT COURT. The following orders have been made in Judge Harris' division of the district court: Francis Hyland against the Ogden Rapid Transit company; dismissed on motion of the attorney for the plaintiff. Henry Eddington against the Union Portland Cement company; hearing continued until April 27. State of Utah vs. G. H. Crowder, time of trial continued until April 28. Bert Y. Kaneko against Ogden City; trial to be taken up tomorrow. C. J. Herrick against Mrs. M. Sherman, judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

FORMER OGDENITE IS PLEASED WITH HIS HOME TOWN. Stewart M. Kohn, a son of A. L. Kohn, arrived in Ogden yesterday and is spending a day or two visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Kohn is a well known corporation lawyer of New York City, and is en route to Los Angeles. He passed his boyhood in Ogden, graduating from the Ogden high school in 1896. This is his first visit to Ogden in a number of years and he was greatly pleased with the city, stating that he would like to return here and live. His greatest reason for liking the west—in addition to its fine climate and spirit of real freedom—was said, was the clean moral tone and honesty of its people and the fact that manhood is recognized, whether it is backed up with money or not. Mr. Kohn's trip to the coast is in connection with his position as counsel to a large Scotch syndicate of Glasgow, Scotland, which owns a large rubber plantation in Mexico. From Los Angeles he will go to San Antonio, Texas, and will probably cross the border if conditions are such as to make the trip necessary. He will leave for the west on Friday.

Calexico, Cal., April 22.—With a troop of American cavalrymen on the alert within a short distance of the barracks of the Mexican Huerta garrison of 600 men, people along the international border were calmer today. But elsewhere in Imperial valley, ranchers whose all depends on the safety of the irrigation intakes on the Mexican side of the line, remained apprehensive. Despite assurances from Colonel Cantu, commanding the Mexican garrison of Mexicali, that he would protect the irrigation system, they met today and organized a volunteer force to act with the United States cavalry in case of emergency. Colonel Cantu, the Mexican commander, held his men today within their fortifications, which mount two machine guns.
