THE RESTORATION.
May 30th, 1914.
By Dr. A. S. Condon, Author of "A Handful of Flowers," Etc.

A hymn of peace is in the air today:
But when Aurora wreathed old Triton's shell,
And lingering Night her mantle laid away
Beyond pavilions of the clouds, the sun
Looked down upon the world, mayhap to tell
Of things that came to pass along in '61.

In those dread years he omnipresent saw
The intrigues foul that thrive on passions base,
And all that nurse the cruel hates of war;
Sometimes for shame, while on his chariot roll'd,
He hid behind the battle-cloud his face,
To veil the scenes of horrors manifold.

He saw from bended valleys of the North,
While fear was brooding in the fretted air,
New England pour her sturdy manhood forth;
And from the broad savannahs of the West
Saw multitudes the mural crown to wear,
Or find on honor's field eternal rest.

Where flows the Mississippi to the sea,
And fairy winds fan glad magnolia bloom,
Saw there brave types of storied chivalry
With dauntless hearts impetuous to defend,
Or by defying, meet the sanctioned doom
That waits on those who in a wrong contend.

From northern pine to southern citron grove
He heard the measured thunder of their tread,
And saw the lightnings of their blades that clove
The ties of brotherhood in love strong bound,
And conscious fields that waited for the dead,
When blood should henceforth sanctify the ground.

Saw, too, their arms flash back the kindling noon,
When hearts were strong and keen the sentient eye,
And love's sweet kiss was warm on cheeks that soon
Would pale in the mad charge and onset shock,
When rends the day and glares the midnight sky,
And the sick earth its deep foundations rock.

He saw the farewells and the last embrace,
The beckoning hand when lips could say no more,
The troops with closed-up ranks and steady pace,
And heard the clarion voices of command,
While serried streets, and curbs, and housetops roar,
And prayers for these, the bravest in the land.

But now the all-beholding sun looks down
The laughing years that gild the wrecks of war,
And sees forgiveness smoothe the ancient frown;
And like forgetful dreams of yester night
That leave the soul with no remembered scar,
So sink the errors of the past from sight.

And still we love the theme! the hastening years
But brighter make the brave old picture shine,
Though memory pours the unavailing tears
For those strong men whose wasting forms lie low,
In unmarked graves that wistful vines entwine,
And birds awake the morn where wild flowers blow.

SAVED FROM THE FLOOD BY HORSE

Junction, Utah, May 29.—Word reached here today that the man and woman reported to have been caught and drowned in the Hatchtown flood had escaped death in a remarkable manner. They were Warren Taylor and Mrs. Taylor of Loa. They were eating their breakfast near the mouth of Circleville canyon when one of the horses bolted, giving the alarm. Taylor managed to get them hitched to the rig and was just trying to escape when the flood struck them. Both Taylor and his wife got out of the buggy and managed to escape by reaching high ground. The horses broke their harness and got up the sides of the canyon. The water carried the buggy, blankets and clothing down the stream.

The horses were recovered. Neither had been broke to ride, but Mr. Taylor managed to ride one and lead the other, which bore Mrs. Taylor.

The flood situation is very much improved today. Word from the Otter Creek reservoir is that efforts are being made to cut down the supply of water reaching the reservoir and to release some that it now has. The dam is still leaking badly and is still in danger, but the engineers who visited the reservoir yesterday believe that it will probably not break.

Temporary roads and bridges are being built and it is believed that within a few days roads will again be open between here and Panguitch. Arrangements have already been made

"BOY MAYOR" IN FIGHT.
Boise, Ida., May 29.—The entrance of the "boy mayor," Barzilla W. Clark of Idaho Falls, into the Democratic gubernatorial race in opposition and open contest to M. Alexander of this city has created consternation among Democrats who were under the impression that Mr. Alexander would be the only candidate at the primaries and the party would not have to undergo the conflict within its ranks brought about through a primary and pre-election fight. Clark is in the race to stay and has the backing of many faithful followers in the southern part of the state, who are confident that, if nominated and elected, he will give to Idaho a clean, business administration.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
