SHEPHERDER WITH A GUN BEFORE THE POLICE JUDGE

A. L. Whitaker was arraigned this morning in the municipal court on the charge of desertion and failure to provide. The complaint held that he deserted his wife, Lorene Whitaker and nineteen months old son, Albert, on the 15th of April, and, though an able bodied man, had failed to provide for them since that time. He waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court with bail set at $300.

Art Carey pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested at 4 a. m. today in a hay-mow at the local stockyards, by Officer Schumacher. According to the testimony of the officer, he had an old style revolver in a scabbard, attached to a wide leather belt strapped around his waist.

When asked to explain his reason for carrying a gun, Carey said that he was a shepherd and had it for use in the hills. He heard that a shipment of sheep was to leave the city early this morning and stayed in the stockyards last night, prepared to leave with it, if he was given an opportunity to do so. He stated, also, that he had a wife in Salt Lake. The judge gave him a lecture on the disadvantages of carrying weapons in a city and suspended sentence, also diverging from his usual rule in such cases by returning the gun to him.

Hugh Riley, a drunk, was given a suspended sentence. John Holman, Henry McKeever and Frank and Ira Williams were cited for trespass. Frank Williams was arrested yesterday by Detectives Peterson and Robert Burk, who learned that he was trying to sell a pair of new shoes at a lower Twenty-fifth street second-hand store. Upon being questioned, he said that the shoes were given to him by a negro who had four pair cached in one of the barns at the Fair Grounds. The negro, he said, gave him and another man one pair each to sell and went off with the other two pairs himself for the same purpose. The officers, however, failed to locate the negro or the other man.

Ira Williams, McKeever and Holman were arrested this morning at the Fair Grounds by Sergeant O. H. Mohlman and Patrolman Jerry Kellier. All four pleaded guilty to the charge against them. McKeever told a straightforward story of being out of work, owing to the closing down of the copper mines, and was given a suspended sentence. The Williams' boys became convulsed with mirth for some reason and could not explain anything. Holman stated that he had been working at Clearfield and had sent part of his money to his parents at St. Paul, Minn., and had then "gone broke." He had, however, been in the company of the Williams' boys for the last three days and the judge took the case of all three under advisement, while the officers made a further investigation as to whether or not they were all three mixed up in the "shoe" deal.

The Dee Memorial hospital is to be saved to the city, according to a brief announcement made by Judge A. R. Heywood late this afternoon. Judge Heywood together with A. P. Bigelow and Chapin A. Day, forming the committee appointed by President Joseph Snowcroft of the Weber club, to consider ways and means for the saving of the hospital in its present splendid condition as a medical institution, have devoted considerable time during the past few days to this duty. They met this afternoon and the result of their conference made the above announcement possible. Judge Heywood, however, stated that the definite plan for the preserving of the hospital was not yet ready to be announced, but announced that the committee would meet with Mrs. Thomas D. Dee in the near future and further discuss the matter with her.

SALT LAKE PEOPLE COMING TO THE RECITAL

Salt Lake music critics are fervent in their praise of Miss Fernanda Pratt, who sang at the meeting of Utah Musical Arts society last night and who is to be heard in the Congressional church in Ogden tonight, under the patronage of the Ogden Conservatory of Music. The Herald-Republican states that a party of Salt Lakeers is coming to Ogden this evening to be present at the recital, and makes this comment on the Salt Lake event: "Miss Fernanda Pratt, contralto, selected for the soloist, was an artist indeed. Not since Mme. Schumann-Heink, has such a contralto been heard in Salt Lake. Although Miss Pratt's voice borders on the mezzo-soprano classification, her low tones are distinctly contralto in quality. It is quite true that Miss Pratt is a soulful, magnetic singer, and that her audience was held captive from the first to the last number of her splendid program."

NOTED DOCTORS OPEN TOMORROW

Commence Receiving Patients at Commercial National Bank Building. Offer a Few Cures Free. Interesting Facts About Wonderful Cures Made by Specialists in Other Cities—New Medical System a Boon to the Ailing.

Tomorrow (Thursday) morning at 9 o'clock is the time for the opening of the Inter-State Doctors' new Ogden Institute, which is located on the second floor of the Commercial National Bank building, next to the Twenty-fourth street Eccles' building, and this will no doubt be a very busy day for them.

News of the wonderful cures being made by this new system of medicine in the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania has reached Utah and hundreds of sick people have been awaiting this wonderful opportunity of being cured by the Inter-State Doctors.

In cities where the Inter-State Doctors have older established institutes the great work that is being done by them in the way of curing old chronic cases that could not even be helped by ordinary methods is well known, and these older institutes are always crowded with patients, many coming hundreds of miles to be cured.

In Ogden, of course, their work is not as well known, except to some who have friends in other cities who have seen the cures made or to readers of Eastern and Western daily papers. To those who have followed the career of the Inter-State Doctors it is evident that a new spirit is dawning in medicine and that the day is not far distant when allopaths, eclectics, and homeopaths of the good old schools must drop their prejudices and work more for the good of humanity and less for the glory of their particular school of medicine.

The day is not far distant when medical colleges will be founded to teach this new system of medicine that embraces the good points of other systems to practicing physicians—teach them the science of an allopath, a homeopath and an eclectic.

It is an invariable rule of the Inter-State Doctors to accept only curable cases for treatment. True, there are many cases that are incurable by the old methods which can be quickly cured by the new system of treatment and the Inter-State Doctors solicit the difficult or supposedly incurable cases. Those which are beyond hope, which cannot be greatly benefited or cured even by this new system of medicine, will not be accepted for treatment at any price. The Inter-State Doctors want a clear record of all cases treated and no failures.

The Inter-State Doctors treat all curable cases of chronic diseases, including diseases of the nerves, blood, heart, liver, kidneys, skin, stomach, including rheumatism, paralysis, neuralgia, constipation, gotch, catarrh, epilepsy, indigestion, dyspepsia, weak back, bloating, dropsy, blood poison, eczema, asthma, catarrh, deafness and other diseases of women and men.

Any sick person is safe in going to the Inter-State Doctors. Their examination and consultation is free. Only curable cases are accepted for treatment, and for that reason every case placed in their care is practically assured of results.

As stated above, the Ogden institute of the Inter-State Doctors is in the Commercial Bank building, and will be open to receive patients tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The grand free offer is only good until November 15.—Advertisement.

OVER TWO THOUSAND WERE REGISTERED YESTERDAY

The registration of yesterday being over 2000 in Weber county, is an evidence that the political parties were all busy with the registration offices.

The districts outside of Ogden have not been heard from, only to a limited degree, but the reports from some of the country districts indicates that a great deal of interest was taken.

In Ogden the work of registering was thoroughly handled and all parties claim to be well satisfied with the results. Both the Republican and Democratic chairmen are claiming a majority of those registered yesterday each contending that it was the work of his party organization that achieved results.

Speaking of the day's work, Chairman Hollingsworth said today: "Through the splendid organization of the Republican party and the precision of the workers, the party, as usual, virtually won the election on the last registration day. Registration was never carried on to better advantage than yesterday by the Republican workers. There was not a hitch any place and we registered more than 90 per cent of those we knew should be registered, and 99 per cent of all unregistered Republican voters were taken to the books for registration. I have no figures to give out, but the day was most satisfactory in every respect. There is not much question about the outcome."

Mr. Lowder, chairman of the Democratic county committee, claims to be much pleased over the large registration. He said: "While the Democratic list showed $17 unregistered Democrats, this did not include Progressives. At 8 o'clock last evening we had registered almost every Democratic voter and several hundred Progressives who had taken the opportunity to ride, despite the fact that all Progressives had been requested to walk to the registration offices. "The Republican machines were numerous, but on account of lack of system they were continually in one another's way. Instances of latest of system were that they called upon lifelong Democrats as often as three times before they would give them up."

DEE HOSPITAL WILL BE SAVED BY THE COMMITTEE

The Dee Memorial hospital is to be saved to the city, according to a brief announcement made by Judge A. R. Heywood late this afternoon. Judge Heywood together with A. P. Bigelow and Chapin A. Day, forming the committee appointed by President Joseph Snowcroft of the Weber club, to consider ways and means for the saving of the hospital in its present splendid condition as a medical institution, have devoted considerable time during the past few days to this duty. CEREAL PLANT WILL BE LARGER THAN FIRST PLANNED

Lon J. Haddock of Salt Lake City—who has become almost as well known in Ogden as he is in the capital, during the past six months or more, through his work in promoting the interests of the Utah Cereal Food Products company—was elected treasurer of the company this morning at a directors' meeting held at the Weber club.

The directors present at the meeting were President M. S. Browning, vice presidents, J. A. Hendrickson and A. T. Wright, J. S. Carver, A. P. Bigelow, J. S. Campbell and Lon J. Haddock.

In addition to being elected to the position of treasurer, Mr. Haddock was given charge of the offices of the company, which are to be moved to Ogden by November 1.

A discussion in connection with the Cereal food plant brought out the facts that matters are progressing in a manner favorable beyond the most sanguine expectations. The recent increase in the issue of stock, which was deemed advisable on account of the enlargement of prospective fields of operations, both with regard to the raw material and the finished product, was quoted in evidence of this.

The cereal mill is to be almost three times as large as was originally planned and sixteen elevators are to be installed, instead of nine, as at first planned. The plant when completed will have an expenditure of between $110,000 and $120,000. The excavating for the foundations is going ahead rapidly and two carloads of steel for the elevators are now on the ground.

CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL AN ELABORATE ONE

Last evening over 75 children participated in the festival given by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen in the W. O. W. hall in the Fraternity block. The event is given annually for the children and on this day the young folks revel supreme. Last evening a most excellent program was carried out, the numbers of which were as follows: Opening song by audience; opening address, by Leona Harrington; recitation, "When Dad Swore Off," by Raymond McKnight; music, by Clara Jensen; recitation, "Time Enough," by Annie Halley; music, by Ethel Alway; recitation, "Sheridan's Ride," by Alice Comber; recitation, "Sugar Toothpick," by Wynoah Gaston; song "Always Me," by Rhoda Junk; recitation, by Donald Thomsen; recitation, "Tommy's Prayer," by Bertha Fife; recitation, "When Mother Was a Girl," by Viola McKnight; music, by Frances Naylan; recitation, "My Lady Wind," by Wynoah Gaston; recitation, by Helen Alway; music, by Evelyn Jansen; recitation, "Boost for the Homestead," by Leona Harrington; dance, by Lucile Naylan and Melva Bitten.

The last number on the program was a reproduction of the minut as danced in colonial times. The two children were dressed in colonial costumes and presented an exceedingly pretty appearance. The dance was executed very skilfully and the little pair were judged as easily worthy of the prize offered by the homestead, and but for the fact that one did not belong to the Yeoman family, they would have been given this prize. The prizes which were given last night were won by Bertha Fife and Clara Jensen in the division over eight years of age and by Wynoah Gaston and Donald Thomsen in the division under eight.

The judges for the contest were W. S. O'Brien, I. T. Alvord and Earl Cobb. After the program was presented by the children they were entertained for a short while with a Punch and Judy show given by Gus Braun and by some excellent ventriloquism work by the same artist. Then the young people were escorted into the dining hall where a varied menu of appetizing entrees was served by the Mesdames Emma Flanner, Anna McKnight, Lizzie Haller, Nannie Hostettler and Helen Hostettler.

The executive committee for the occasion consisted of Nona Harrington, Lady Rowena of the order, Ella Mitchell and Flora Thomsen.

ASPHYXIATED MAN IS RESCUED FROM DEATH

The life of William Mecker, an employe of the Ogden Paint, Oil & Glass company, was saved by the merest chance at noon today, after he was virtually asphyxiated in an empty gasoline tank at the warehouse of the company on Wall avenue. His plight was discovered by a fellow employe who happened to go into the part of the building where the tank is located. The man was dragged from the tank unconscious and taken as quickly as possible to the Dee hospital, where he was resuscitated.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM DISCLOSES SINGER OF ABILITY

The student body and faculty of the Ogden high school were given an unusually fine treat this morning at an assembly of an hour's duration. The program was arranged by Mrs. R. S. Farnsworth and the readings were given by members of her "D" and "G" classes, which are composed of members of the sophomore and senior classes. In addition to the work of the students, Sidney Winters, president of the class of '14, contributed an oration and Mrs. Maude Dee Porter and H. S. Aldridge furnished several vocal solos each.

Mrs. Porter's ability as a vocalist is too well known to call for comment, except it were to say that she was in excellent voice and her numbers were well received. Her accompaniments were played with fine understanding by Miss Beatrice Brewer.

In Mr. Aldridge, the newest addition to Ogden's colony of singers was heard. He came to Ogden recently from Washington, D. C., with his wife and is employed in the local Forest Service offices. His voice is a dramatic tenor, equal if not superior to any in the city in quality, range and power. In the rendition of his song this morning, he displayed these qualities to fine advantage, also showing excellent control and a deep knowledge of song interpretation. His singing was received with enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Aldridge is also a gifted musician and this morning gave her husband much assistance by playing his accompaniments in a way that was more than pleasing.

CANNERY WANTED IN THE BITTER ROOT VALLEY

H. M. Sloan, manager of the Bitter Root Irrigation company, in the Bitter Root Valley, Mont., was in Ogden yesterday, in conference with William Craig as to the advisability of establishing a cannery at Florence, Mont., in the heart of the 50,000 acre covered by the first of the irrigation company.

This was Mr. Sloan's first visit to Ogden and he expressed surprise at the size and evident prosperity of the city.

His company is extensively planting fruit trees, and Mr. Sloane declares land within the tract is placed on the market at from $300 to $500 an acre. There are 72 miles of canals and $7,000,000 has been invested.
