In the Argonne district in the vicinity of Bagatelle there has been bomb throwing from one line to the other, although no infantry attack has taken place.

After an energetic engagement, which lasted for several days, the French troops were successful in reaching the top of Hartmann-Weilerkopf, which they captured from the Germans. The French also made progress on the northeastern and southwestern flanks of the main army, taking more prisoners, including several officers.

The Germans have abandoned important war material and left numerous dead on these battlefields. The French losses were considerable. A German aviator dropped several bombs on the town of Willer to the northwest of Thann. Three little children were killed.

HOW DEATH CAME TO DARING AVIATOR POSING FOR THE MOVIES

Death's cue in the Frank Stites tragedy.

This remarkable photograph of the aviation tragedy in which Frank A. Stites lost his life a few days ago at Universal City, Cal., was caught by Photographer U. K. Whipple on the second of the explosion of the dummy below. The aviator's hand is shown free from his levers. A few seconds later he struck the earth. The dummy machine containing several bombs was sent up under Stites. In the war drama being enacted before the Universal film men, Stites was supposed to wreck his assailant's machine by firing at and exploding the bombs. This he did, but the concussion of the explosion proved too great and Stites' machine tilted, crashed to the ground, and Stites was instantly killed.

has manifested itself. In this connection the belief is growing that the government soon will take measures to restrict drinking.

In Holland there is a growing sense of injury over the unfortunate situation of Dutch shipping, which a leading Netherlands paper describes as suffering from "a competition of illegality in marine warfare."

STORY OF FALL OF PRZEMYSL

Night Preceding Surrender Made HIDEOUS With Roar of Guns and Shock of Shells.

AUSTRIANS LAST STAND

Unprecedented Fire Maintained Against Russian Positions—Great Army Closes in and White Flag Goes Up.

Przemysl, Galicia, Tuesday, March 23, via Petrograd, March 27, 11:40 a. m., and London, 2:35 p. m.—The night preceding the surrender to the Russians of the Austrian fortified position at Przemysl, was hideous in the Russian lines with the roar of guns and the shock of exploding shells.

Never on this frontier during the war has there been such a bombardment. Standing outside the walls of the fallen fortress today, a correspondent of The Associated Press heard the story of the besieged and the besiegers, while the smoke of battle was still hanging in heavy clouds overhead.

Austrians' Unprecedented Fire. The night of March 21, 22, the Austrians maintained an unprecedented fire upon the Russian positions. The hut in which the Russian staff officers had their quarters shook like a leaf, and the ground for miles around trembled as though rent by an unending series of earthquakes.

All night long the sky was red with the bursting of shells. During two hours 10,000 shells were fired. Before dawn a scouting division of Russians drove back the Austrians who were in occupation of the outlying positions, and a sharp engagement occupied the Austrian trenches. Backing up this movement, the entire Russian army facing the Austrians began to close in on them.

As this advance was made, the Austrians from all sides retired to the protection of the fortress. Suddenly telegrams began reaching Russian headquarters from various points, declaring that the Austrians were blowing up their forts. At the same time the Austrian fire slackened and above the roar of the artillery could be heard the deep roar of explosions from within the fortress.

Russians Continue Advance. The Russians continued advancing, the men running forward among exploding mines. Occasionally rifle firing was heard.

Towards 8 o'clock in the morning of March 2 white flags began appearing over the tops of the Austrian forts. The Russian fire thereupon ceased. Then a group of Austrian officers under a flag of truce appeared, making their way from one of the forts in the direction of the Russian headquarters.

Arms Are Surrendered. Soon from all directions Austrian divisions appeared, and walked quietly toward the Russian ranks. The officers bore their arms, but the soldiers were mostly unarmed. Others were observed throwing away their rifles as they came on. These Austrian troops spoke in friendly and kindly tones to the Russian soldiers and saluted the Russian officers.

The river Vichora, a tributary of the San, separated the Russians from the Austrian forts on one section of the front. At this point the railroad bridge had been blown up and the Russians had difficulty in crossing. The men made their way as best they could over the remains of the wrecked bridge, while the Cossacks swam their horses. The correspondent of The Associated Press crossed with the Cossacks.

Ammunition Is Destroyed. Loud detonations continued and it was evident that the Austrians were destroying the remainder of their ammunition.

Discussion of the terms of surrender occupied the entire day. All day long soldiers straggled from the fortress without arms. They were rounded up and taken to Russian headquarters.

No civilians were permitted to enter Przemysl on the 22nd.

CONSTRUCTION CAMP ESTABLISHED IN OGDEN CANYON

The first camp for the construction of the grade for the Idlewild-Huntsville extension of the interurban electric car line, has been established just above the power dam in Ogden canyon by the Utah Construction company and actual grading began today at noon.

Superintendent Warren Wattis states that his company will be concerned particularly in the completion of the grade between Idlewild and the intersection of the north, central and south forks of the Ogden river, near the municipal artesian wells, for the present, but that, in the near future, another camp for construction between the wells and Huntsville will be established.

The camp established today consists of seventy-five men and about twenty teams, some of the teams having been shipped here from Price yesterday.

NOTED PREACHER TO BE HEARD IN OGDEN NEXT WEEK

Last spring the ministerial union arranged for a union post-Easter series of meetings and secured the services of the Rev. Silcox of Kansas City, whose splendid ministry of a little over a week is remembered with quickening spiritual pulse by those who were fortunate enough to improve the opportunity which the occasion afforded. This year efforts were made to secure a visiting pastor for the two weeks after Easter but arrangements that were almost consummated were suddenly disarranged by unforeseen circumstances. However, arrangements have been made for a five-day Holy Week union service under the ministry of Bishop F. J. McConnell, D. D. of Denver, Colo., beginning Monday night and closing Friday night.

Ogden is to be congratulated upon securing the services of so noted a preacher and educator. It has been made possible by the fact that Salt Lake desired his services for Lenten noon lectures and thus Ogden secured him for evening services.

Bishop McConnell is one of the foremost preachers of the United States, having filled some of the most important pulpits in the east and also having served as president of DePaul university. He is a scholarly divine, and a noted expounder of the form of philosophical idealism known as personalism. His views have found expression in three well known volumes, "The Increase of Faith," "Religious Certainty," and "The Divine Presence."

The meetings will be held in the First Methodist church, 454 Twenty-fourth street every evening at 7:30 and on Good Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A union churchmen's banquet for the men of Ogden will be served in the First Methodist church basement Monday at 6 p. m., to be addressed by the bishop before the evening service.

APOSTLE TO ADDRESS CONFERENCE AT TABERNACLE

Apostle Anthony Ivins, former head of the Mormon colony in Mexico, and President Rulon S. Wells of the first council of seventy, will be the principal speakers at the quarterly conference of the North Weber stake, which will be held in the tabernacle tomorrow.

Sessions will be held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. and the musical program for both will be furnished by the Ogden Tabernacle choir and soloists. Among the numbers will be "The Angel Gabriel," with William S. Wright as soloist; "Come Ye Disconsolate," with Douglas Brian as soloist; "It Is Not Death to Die," Myrtle B. Higley and male chorus.

SUBMARINE F-4 BEING RAISED

Work of Bringing Lost Craft to Surface of Honolulu Harbor Progressing Slowly.

TASK IS DIFFICULT ONE

Fear Cables May Slip in Great Depth of Water—Divers to Go Down.

Honolulu, March 27.—One of the cables attached to the United States submarine F-4, disabled outside the harbor since early Thursday with its crew of twenty-one men aboard, is believed to have snapped.

The weather continues fine and it is believed that if no further accidents occur the vessel can be raised during today.

The raising of the United States submarine F-4, lost in the deep water outside Honolulu harbor since early Thursday, has been held up temporarily while the cables attached to the submerged craft are tested.

An electrical buzzer device is being used to determine the efficiency of the fastenings on the submarine. It is planned to raise the F-4 nearer the surface so that divers can be lowered to superintend the progress of the work.

The great depth of the water in which the submarine has been located makes the work of raising it extremely difficult.

There is fear that the cables attached to the craft may slip. The work, however, is progressing slowly. Unconfirmed Reports.

There is a report, not wholly confirmed, that battery explosion aboard the F-4 on March 6 caused serious damage.

Rear Admiral Charles B. Moore, commandant of the naval station, said the reported accident did not disable the F-4.

"I had heard something about a battery explosion aboard the F-4," he said, "but it was not serious. It was not considered of sufficient importance to be reported."

"The chances are that if it had been serious enough to disable the vessel it would have killed some of the men. One man was burned slightly, so far as we know. It had no connection with the present accident."

FORT DARDANUS IS DESTROYED

Allied Fleet's Operations in Dardanelles Established—Kilid Bahr Seriously Damaged.

Paris, March 27, 4:25 a. m.—It now has been established that the forts at Dardanus have been destroyed and those at Kilid Bahr seriously damaged by the operations of the allied fleet in the Dardanelles, says a Havas dispatch from Athens dated Friday.

Sailing ships engaged in mine sweeping were fired upon by Turkish field artillery posted at Erekuhi but the batteries are said to have been silenced by the fire from two battleships.

According to a dispatch from Mytilene, three British and two French warships have anchored in the Gulf of Smyrna with transports.

EITEL STILL TIED UP AT SHIPYARD

Newport News, Va., March 27.—With armed guards on her pier and aboard her ready to challenge any one approaching without a pass, the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich still was tied up at the local shipyard early today, despite last night's persistent reports that Commander Thierichens had been ordered to leave by midnight or be interned for the war.

MANY MEN ARE TO BE GIVEN WORK IN THE CANYON

Mayor A. G. Fell states that the inspection trip to the artesian wells yesterday was a pleasant outing and that it was discovered that water is flowing as freely from the artesian currents as it did last fall when measurements showed that the wells are producing more than 8,000,000 gallons of water a day. This is within 1,000,000 gallons a day of the quantity used in the city last summer at a season of year when water was used most.

With the city building five miles of pipe line and the Ogden-Logan & Idaho Railway company making an extension of five miles of its electric car line, there will be much activity in Ogden canyon the greater portion of the early part of the season. From 100 to 200 men will be given employment until about July 1.

TWO OKLAHOMA BANKS ROBBED

Band of Robbers Ride Into Stroud and Proceed With Looting Operations.

HENRY STAR CAPTURED

Fifteen-year-old Boy Shoots Robber Long Wanted by the State—Eleven Men Surrounded.

Oklahoma, Okla., March 27.—Two banks at Stroud, Okla., were robbed early today of $5000 and one of the robbers, said to be Henry Starr, for whose capture the state has offered $1000 reward, was shot and captured. Eleven men were in the band which this afternoon was surrounded by a posse of 300 in a gully two miles east of Stroud.

The men rode into Stroud at 10 o'clock, tied their horses at the stockyards and proceeded to loot the banks. As the news spread citizens were soon running into the streets, armed with such weapons as they could gather quickly. Many shots were fired.

As one of the robbers was mounting his horse, Paul Curry, 15-year-old, pointed his rifle at the robber nearest him.

"Drop your gun or I'll shoot!" Curry yelled.

As the man, now believed to be Starr, dropped the revolver the boy in the leg and he was unable to mount. The boy turned his captive over to the authorities.

The other robbers rode out of town under a shower of bullets. Less than thirty minutes later they were surrounded in a pasture two miles east of Stroud.

The man captured had diamonds known to have been in Starr's possession. He also was identified by pictures sent out and a description circulated by officers several weeks ago.

One of the robbers, who gave the name of Bill Estes, fell from his horse a mile out of Stroud and was captured. He had been shot.

At 1:30 this afternoon the robbers still were surrounded in the pasture and shots are being fired at them. They were hidden in a grove, evidently waiting for nightfall.

Jerry Turner, a farmer, was said to have been fatally wounded in the First National bank when he refused to comply with the robbers' orders to throw up his hands.

RUSSIANS LEAVE EAST PRUSSIA

Invaders Thrown Back Across Border After Hard Fight and Germans Advance to Front of Polangen.

Berlin, March 27, by wireless to Sayville.—The Russian offensive movement against the East Prussian territory to the north of Tilsit, came to its end last Friday night with the expulsion of the last Russian from the province.

The invaders were thrown back across the border after a brief, but hard fight and the Germans advanced to a point in front of Polangen. The Russians were at Krottingen and Jakubow. Steps have been taken to guard the inhabitants of this district against further invasion of this kind.

Cavalry played a great part in driving the Russians out of East Prussia. The reason was that a heavy fog made the use of artillery and infantry very difficult. The infantrymen were hindered also by the swampy nature of the land and the high water, which prevented rapid pursuit.

Although the damage done by the invaders in this district is considerable, it is not as great as had been feared and reported.

A large number of the fugitives already have returned to their homes, while others are returning, and the damages soon will be completely repaired.

GENERAL MOVE OF RUSSIANS

The conclusion appears to be justified today that the Russian advance on Memel, on the Baltic in East Prussia, had a certain connection with the general renewal of Russia offensive activity, the purpose of which, according to military opinion in Berlin, appears to have been another threat against East Prussia.

The offensive against Memel was closely followed by advances in the direction of Tilsit through Taurougen, through Mariampol and finally through Augustow.

This offensive activity is taken in Berlin to indicate that the Russians have been finishing off the gaps in their line caused by the latest victory over them of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, and that they are now ready for new operations.
