BIDS ON COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE SOON TO BE CALLED FOR
The Ogden Golf and Country club grounds in the southeast part of the city is now assuming a busy aspect and, at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the club, a decision was reached to call for bids for the erection of the clubhouse.
The contract for the large reservoir in which the water to be used on the grounds is to be stored, has been let and this will be built entirely of concrete. It will have a capacity of 50,000 gallons and in connection with it, a complete system of water mains to cover the entire grounds.
Caretakers are now getting the sod for the golf links in good shape and the grass is growing nicely. It is thought that the grounds and clubhouse will be ready for use before midsummer.

SCHOOL ORATORICAL CONTEST IS ON FRIDAY

Interest at the Weber academy and Ogden high school is now being centered in the annual oratorical contest which is to be staged at the Tabernacle, Friday afternoon. These contests, since their inauguration three years ago by Percy L. Goddard, have proved the most interesting single event of school rivalry during the year. One contest has thus far been won by the representatives of each school and the one that is scheduled for Friday, promises to be as keen a competition as either of the others.
The prize this year is $50 in cash, given by Dr. E. I. Rich, and the contest will be held with Judge J. A. Howell as chairman. The judges will be Professor N. A. Pederson and Byron Cummings and Attorney Stephen L. Richards, all of Salt Lake City.

RALLY HELD AT THE M. E. CHURCH BY FAMOUS MEN

"The flying squadron," with a prohibition message to deliver arrived in Ogden early this afternoon and the first rally was held at the Methodist church at 3 o'clock with Daniel A. Poling and Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of national fame as speakers. The orators were not accompanied by their solists.
These meetings will continue tonight Wednesday and Thursday, the afternoon sessions at 3 o'clock and the evening addresses at 8 o'clock. There is no admission charge. Mr. Poling will not be heard this evening as he is called to Boise, Idaho.
Rev. F. G. Brainerd presided at the meeting this afternoon and Dr. E. P. Mills will be in charge this evening.
The address by Daniel A. Poling on "The Dawn of National Prohibition," was in part as follows:
Dawn of National Prohibition.
"Never again will a congressman be elected in the United States without declaring himself either for or against national prohibition. There will never be another general election without the recognition of prohibition as one of the great issues before the people."
"We stand in the morning of a great political judgment day—a day when men and organizations are being weighed and when some are being found wanting. But a day when fearless, patriotic statesmen are standing forth to lead the people into the promised land of national prohibition."
"Turning to the industrial phase of the liquor problem, the speaker said: "We can tinker with the tariff until doomsday and not begin to solve the problem of the high cost of living until we make two billion dollars out of the thieves' fists of John Baleyron."
The speaker referred to the fact that many national leaders of every political party have declared against the saloon and he said that the challenge of the temperance forces is the challenge of the highest patriotism.
"We are fighting for a saloonless nation, that we may have a country free from the partnership of the liquor traffic, and a flag that carries not a single liquor stain."
He gave the history of the flying squadron of America, telling how it was organized in Columbus, Ohio, immediately after the national convention of the Anti-Saloon league in November, 1913. He said that the flying squadron is not officially connected in any way, as a movement, with any other temperance organization, and that the funds raised by it are raised for the support of its nationwide propaganda of education, agitation and enlistment.
The enlistment pledge of the flying squadron is a definite promise to hold candidates, officers and parties responsible for their attitude on the liquor traffic. It is the purpose to secure several million signatures to this declaration in the interests of the national constitutional prohibition, and for the election to power of a government administration pledged to the enforcement of prohibition.
"The squadron fights to strengthen the hands of every group of temperance workers laboring for national, constitutional prohibition. The sentiment created by it will remain after the flying squadron campaign is completed. This sentiment will make for the success of the plans and programs of the United temperance forces of the nation, represented in the permanent temperance organizations."
At the close of the campaign of the squadron, the pledges taken and the money remaining in the treasury will be turned over to the national council of one hundred, which is composed of representative leaders from 97 of the national temperance organizations of the country.
Concluding, the speaker said: "We are anxious to assist every worthy effort being made locally to enforce the law and to destroy the saloon, but the chief object of our campaign is a 'saloonless nation.' We have a vision of the day when the river of rum will be dry at its source; when women will no longer weep when children will no longer be perverted; imbecile and blind, and when there shall be no unborn because of drink; the day when the mind of genius, unclouded by liquor, shall be strong to conceive and the hand of labor unimpaled by liquor shall be strong to execute; the day when the alcohol tamed traffic in women and girls shall be as Nero's human torches—a hideous memory; and the maudlin shout of the drunkards shall be heard forever nowhere from political bondage of the saloon; the day when this government shall go down of partnership with the liquor traffic; the day when states ballots shall have achieved a stainless flag. Then will be the consummation of a new freedom for all the sons of men."
Dr. Charles M. Sheldon.
Dr. Charles M. Sheldon answered the question, "Why National Prohibition?" offering the following five reasons for the existence of the liquor traffic:
"First, the drinking habit of humanity.
"Second, the abnormal profit from the manufacture and sale of liquor.
"Third, the falsehood, which has been accepted as a truth, that alcohol is good for a medicine, a beverage, and even a food.
"Fourth, the falsehood, also accepted as a truth, that the liquor traffic is a necessary evil, and therefore a revenue should be derived from it.
"Fifth, the connection of the liquor traffic with politics.
"A world-wide sentiment, amount-

BROOKS AND FRANKS ARE UNDER ARREST

The arrest of William Brooks and J. Franks yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Manzel and Chauffeur Guy Nelson, proved that it is a hard matter to "monkey" with the property of the police department and get away with it. Shortly before their arrest, the two men gave an exhibition of "nerve" by stealing the hood of "Sherlock," the new detective automobile of the police department.
This morning in the police court, Brooks pleaded guilty and Franks not guilty, to charges of petit larceny. Their hearings were set for tomorrow morning.
During the same session of court, Judge Reeder handed down a verdict of guilty in the case of the City vs. G. R. Watson and fined the defendant $15. Watson was charged with disturbing the peace on February 26, the complaining witness being Mrs. A. Scherer. Final testimony in the case was taken yesterday.

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, April 6.—Prices were again pushed upward at the outset of today's market operations, all the leaders as well as numerous specialties participating in greater or less measure. Bethlehem Steel repeated its familiar daily performance of a new high record, opening with a block of 1200 shares at $3 to $4, and then rising to $4 1/2, an overnight gain of two points. Union Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Atchafalaya were up a point or more, in most instances attaining their best prices this year. Some heaviness was evinced by Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Smelting. Selling for profit soon caused recessions from the top.

BOXING BOUT AT GARRICK A DRAW
Salt Lake, April 6.—The final boxing bout of the Monday night card at the Garrick theatre between Tommy Crawford of Salt Lake and Frankie Olmstead of San Francisco, more than evened up matters with the fans for the poor showing that was made by the men in the early bouts last evening. These boys stood toe to toe and battled away. The draw decision of Referee H. K. Downing was a popular one. Crawford was supposed to have fought Battling Johnson, but the latter did not appear and Olmstead was substituted in his place against Crawford. The contest but put up a game battle and fought Crawford all the way. He was careful in landing and had Crawford in check until the last round, when Tommy opened up and showed class for the last two minutes of mixing. In the first round Olmstead's eye was cut open and this hindered him in seeing Crawford, who showed his same quickness in sending home his blows and in defending himself.
